Electrol Plant Is Closed Today To 300 Employes

Union Spokesmen See Move as Outgrowth of Dispute to Resume Talks

A delegation of Ulster County Lodge 1562, International Association of Machinists (A.F. of L.), who are employed at the plant of Electrol Inc., said that the approximately 300 workers on the day shift were informed that the plant was to remain closed today.

"The entire day shift, when they arrived at work this morning found the gates locked," a spokesman for the group said. This action, he explained, is an apparent outgrowth of a "dispute over the right of the union to call a recessed meeting at 6:15 p. m. today," at which time a union committee was to present a new contract.

In compliance with provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act, the spokesman said, a 60-day notice must be given in presenting new contracts and the committee is scheduled to present the contract to the membership at a meeting in the YMCA, at 6:15 p. m. This meeting will be held, he said.

Employes of the plant were told, the spokesman said, that if the union insisted on holding the meeting the plant would be closed today. Some of the workers said they received word by telegram that the plant would be closed. Others said they were informed by telephone, and some said they were told of the closing when they arrived for work this morning.

None could say whether the place would remain closed when the night shift arrived at 7:30 p. m.

Efforts to obtain a statement from management today were without result.

Russians Show Off New Powerful Jets

Moscow, July 9 (AP)—The Soviet air force showed off its powerful new jet planes yesterday. Western observers at the air show said they appeared capable of supersonic speeds—at least 760 miles an hour at sea level and 660 miles per hour or more at high altitudes.

Prime Minister Stalin watched the planes streak by from a balcony of the Chkalov Air Club near Tushino Airport, where the display took place. The military section of the show was commanded by his son, Lieut. Gen. Vassili Stalin.

Col. Frank James, U. S. air attache, watched the show, which had been postponed from last Sunday because of bad weather. He called it "very interesting."

'Ike' Names Aide

Cannon Predicts Close Fight on Pay for Acheson

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Chairman Cannon (D.-Mo.) of the House Appropriations Committee today predicted a "close fight" on a Republican move to cut off the pay of Secretary of State Acheson.

The showdown on the "get-Acheson" drive in the House comes next week when the annual money bill for the State Department is considered. Tied in with the bill are funds for the Commerce and Justice Departments and the federal judiciary.

"It will be a close fight; I don't know if we can beat them," Cannon said in an interview.

He was referring to an amendment drafted by Rep. Phillips (R.-Calif.) to cut off Acheson's salary to try to force the secretary to quit. The amendment would withhold the pay of any department official who, at any time during the last five years, was connected with a law firm that had legal dealings with a foreign government. Acheson's former Washington law firm once represented Poland.

"It will get not only Acheson, but John Foster Dulles, the Republican spokesman in the State Department," Cannon said.

While some Republicans aren't favorably inclined toward the Phillips amendment, most of them are expected to support it and they are counting on enough support from southern Democrats to put it across.

Truck Driver Held in $5,000 Bail; Vehicle Hit 11 Cars

Four persons died and 16 were injured, two critically, in the flaming wreckage of a careening, brakeless, 30-ton trailer truck which crashed into 11 automobiles on the Shawangunk Mountain road about a quarter of a mile east of Wurtsboro early Sunday afternoon.

The truck, loaded with bottled gas, went out of control on the mountainous stretch of heavily traveled Route 17 about 12:15 p. m. Sunday.

According to reports, the dead and injured, mostly were from New York and were returning from vacations at Catskill Mountain resorts.

The dead were identified as Jack Adesman, 56, and his wife, Rosie, 52; Lena Sena, about 46, and Philip Levy, 54. All are from New York city.

Operator Escapes Injury

The Associated Press reported this morning that the driver of the truck, Marsdon H. Reese, Jr., 28, of Bayonne, N. J., miraculously escaped injury.

However, five hours after the accident he was charged with criminal negligence and held in $5,000 bail.

Some persons who saw the crash reported that they noticed smoke curling from beneath the wheels of the truck, which was eastbound.

The vehicle gained momentum as it rolled down the steep grade of the three-lane highway. Reese sounded his horn continuously as he saw a double line of cars ahead of him slowly making its way down the sharply winding hill.

He tried to turn to the westbound lane in the hope of ditching the truck on the side of the road, but his path was blocked by a stream of oncoming automobiles.

Three Burned to Death

The truck struck glancing blows on two of these autos and then crashed into the rear of a taxicab which shuttles passengers between New York and the resort area. Then the truck plowed into car after car, spilling its flaming gasoline. It finally was halted by the twisted metal of the wrecked vehicles.

Benjamin Levine, 46, of 796 Saratoga avenue, Brooklyn, the driver of the taxicab, managed to pull three of his passengers clear of the flaming vehicle. But three others were burned to death.

The other victim died of burns and other injuries in an ambulance on the way to Horton Hospital in Middletown.

Many of the cars the truck ripped into were halted at a traffic light at the bottom of the grade.

Reese was quoted by state police as saying he was going down the hill at about 20 miles an hour when his air brakes gave out. He tried applying his emergency brakes, police added, but these also failed.

Police said that the trailer rushed down the hill, Reese blowing his horn as a warning, at about 40 miles an hour.

A number of other cars were damaged, police said, by drivers who swerved out of the way of the truck.

State police said that the truck's cargo, highly inflammable propane gas, the same type of fuel that exploded Saturday in the Port Newark area, fortunately did not ignite. But it was the big vehicle's fuel supply, and not the propane, that caught fire as it

President Offers Help In Dispute

Would Send Harriman in Hope of Solving Iranian Crisis With British

Warning Given

Truman Says Collapse of Operations Means Disaster

Washington, July 9 (AP)—President Truman offered today to send Averell Harriman to Iran to help try for a settlement of that country's oil dispute with the British government.

Mr. Truman said the conflict threatens "a collapse of oil operations" which would be "a disaster." He declared that "the time available is running out."

Harriman is foreign affairs adviser to the President.

Mr. Truman made his offer in a message to Iranian Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh. The Iranian chief wrote him two weeks ago asking American support for Iran's nationalization of its oil resources.

The President said in his reply: "You know of our sympathetic interest in this country in Iran's desire to control its natural resources. From this point of view we were happy to see that the British government has on its part accepted the principle of nationalization."

Still Has Hopes

At the same time Mr. Truman said he still hopes that a way can be found for "British skill and operating knowledge" to continue to be used in running the strategically important oil industry.

Announcement of the offer of Harriman's services followed reports that the President was considering the transfer of Ambassador Loy W. Henderson to Iran from India.

Administration officials said the shift was under consideration but declined to say whether a firm decision had been made.

Henderson, a veteran career diplomat, is here for consultations with the state department and is due to return this week to New Delhi.

In troubled Iran Henderson would relieve 69-year-old Ambassador Henry F. Grady.

Officials said Grady had been pressing for retirement. He has been at Tehran for only a year but in recent weeks has been under heavy pressure as the U. S. representative on the scene in the Iranian oil crisis.

Henderson, ten years younger, succeeded Grady as ambassador to India in mid-1948. Former director of the state department's division of Near Eastern and African Affairs and wartime minister to Iraq, he is a specialist in affairs of that part of the world.

Dewey Tours Frontlines

Reports Quarters Seized

Manila, July 9 (AP)—The Philippines Defense Department said today an army combat team has captured the headquarters of Guillermo Capadocia, No. 3 Communist Hukbalahap leader, in the mountains of Panay Island. A report from Ilo Ilo said the team found supplies and Red literature. Capadocia fled Panay Island some time ago. He is presumed to have joined Huk leader Luis Taruc in the Sierra Madre east of Manila.

Probers Sift Newark Blast Area After $5,000,000 Fire

Newark, N. J., Juy 9 (AP) — Authorities sifted the twisted, scorched rubble of a sprawling propane gas storage plant today for a clue to the cause of a series of rocket-like explosions Saturday.

Six separate federal, state and local agencies sent investigators to the 82-acre tank farm, still too hot to explore thoroughly more than 24 hours after the initial blast.

Meanwhile fire officials estimated damage to the Warren Petroleum Sales Corp., and adjacent plants at $5,000,000 and said it may go even higher.

Of the 11 men injured in the holocaust, only one remained on the danger list today. He suffered first, second and third degree burns fleeing from the Warren plant.

One lone tank blazed stubbornly yesterday despite a constant stream of water played into a gaping hole in its side by one of 11 fire companies kept at the scene.

Around it, like broken toys, lay most of the blasted 70-foot long cylindrical tanks facing this way and that as if kicked off their foundations by an angry giant.

All told 75 of 135 tanks filled with highly-combustible cooking gas blew skyward in a series of awesome explosions that sent tongues of range flame 2,500 feet in the air and were heard 20 miles away. Each of the tanks held 500,000 cubic feet of propane gas.

Preliminary investigations were made yesterday by the FBI, Coast Guard and army representatives and members of the state police, Newark arson squad and New Jersey Department of Labor.

The discovery of three mortar shells near the Warren plant touched off a short-lived rumor that they might have caused the disaster—worst in the city's history.

This possibility was ruled out by Col. Lloyd M. Garner, commanding officer of the army's Raritan arsenal, after an on-the-spot examination. He said there was no powder in any of them.

Ridgway Says Faith Plays Vital Role in Truce Talks

UN Newsmen May Be Allowed to Go To Kaesong Talks

Claim Enemy Stole Propaganda March When They Were Banned Sunday

Seoul, Korea, July 9 (AP) — United Nations war correspondents, angered at being banned from yesterday's preliminary peace talks at Kaesong while Communist correspondents attended, declared today the enemy had stolen a propaganda march.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Allied supreme commander, indicated to newsmen tonight that they would not be represented at the opening session of the full-scale peace talks tomorrow. They might be at later sessions, however.

Earlier, public information officers recommended that 16 newsmen photographers and broadcasters be taken to Kaesong to cover the negotiations.

When asked if he could assure the correspondents that the western newsmen would not be kept out while Communist reporters were allowed at the session, Ridgway said:

"We'll see that we get everything we can."

In outlining his position to the angry correspondents, Ridgway said ". . . the issues are too great to prejudice failure and breakup."

The army's censorship of the status of Kaesong also aroused a storm among the correspondents. The military has referred to Kaesong as being in a no-man's land, leaving the impression it was an open city.

But Col. Andrew J. Kinney, chief of the UN liaison team which yesterday arranged preliminaries for the full-scale talks, told a news conference last night Kaeson "definitely is in enemy hands." Pilots who flew Kinney's group to Kaesong saw armed Reds on the ridgeline around the landing strip.

After Kinney's statement, the censor at first announced he would not pass the reference. Some correspondents promptly asserted they would ignore the censorship ban. Then the ruling was reversed and Kinney's remarks about Kaesong were passed.

Some newsmen said the army had deliberately misled the western world concerning the status of Kaesong.

Kinney said several Communist photographers were present at Kaesong, probably including newsreel men. He thought Communist newspapermen also were there, although he was not certain.

The only press representation the UN had at Kaesong was an

Taft Writes Book On Foreign Policy

May Become Reference Work for Friend and Foe in 1952

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) has finished writing a book on "Foreign Policy for Americans" which might come a reference work for friend and foe in the 1952 campaign.

Unless developments change his mind, Taft probably will formally pitch his hat into the ring this fall for the 1952 Republican presidential nomination.

His new book, due in December, will put the Ohioan down in black and white on almost every phase of foreign policy. It may become something of a best seller among Democratic critics as well as Republican friends.

Some of his supporters are known to feel the Ohioan should stick to his Senate knitting and leave the writing of books to others.

However, Taft says that anybody who wants to find out how he stands on any foreign policy issue can thumb through copies of his speeches and he's just saving them the trouble by compiling his views between two covers.

Those views have been uniformly critical of the Truman administration's handling of international issues which he blamed recently for creating "the disastrous crisis in which we now find ourselves."

He, says President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Marshall "have lost the confidence of the people on foreign policy."

Cheaper Dollar if Controls Are Scrapped, Says Johnson

Congress Asked to End State of War With Germany

Washington, July 9 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress today to end the state of war between the U. S. and Germany.

The action would not affect the allied occupation of Germany.

Its chief purpose would be psychological. Germans would no longer be considered enemy aliens and would regain such normal rights as the right to sue in American courts.

Mr. Truman's request was made in identical letters to Vice-President Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn.

Mr. Truman said that ending the state of war "will give the German people a new demonstration of our desire to help bring them back to membership among the nations of the free world."

"It will represent another and logical step on the road which leads towards the eventual restoration of German independence," the President added.

Mr. Truman handed the letters to the congressional leaders at their regular Monday morning conference with him at the White House.

Along with the letters he submitted a draft of a joint resolution declaring that the state of war which began December 11, 1941 shall be ended on "such date as the President shall by proclamation designate."

Mr. Truman said the resolution also should provide that this country may continue to seize German property, under the provisions of the Trading With the Enemy Act, in spite of the technical end of the state of war.

Estimates Cash Deficit in Budget Up to 20 or 25 Billions in Next Year

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

Washington, July 9 (AP) — Eric Johnston told the nation today to look for "a much cheaper dollar" —worth perhaps 30 to 40 cents in 1939 terms—if economic controls are scrapped.

Declaring that the dollar is now worth about 53 to 54 cents in 1939 value, Johnston said "My guess is that it might be worth between 30 and 40 cents in 1939 purchasing power, in ten years, if you don't do something about inflation."

Johnston, in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U. S. News and World Report, predicted a government deficit this year of from $5,000,000,000 to $7,000,000,000.

And under the present defense program, he estimated the cash deficit in the budget would be "up to 20 or 25 billion" for the next fiscal year beginning July 1, 1952.

Of the deficit he predicted for fiscal year 1951, Johnston added:

"Now that isn't too great. Probably we can live with it, provided Congress gives us adequate controls — stronger, not weaker controls."

Opposing Soldiers Keeping One Eye Toward Kaesong

Light Probing Attacks Thrown Against UN Troops on Korean Battlefront

By STAN CARTER

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, July 9 (AP)—Communist ground troops threw a series of light probing attacks against United Nations positions on the Korean battlefront today.

In the air, U. S. F-86 Sabre jets shot down a Russian-made MIG-15 jet. The Allied warplanes were protecting B-29 superforts raiding a Red airfield at Sinanju in western Korea.

Allied warplanes destroyed three enemy jets Sunday and damaged two others.

Opposing soldiers keep one eye cocked toward Kaesong, where Allied and Communist negotiators Tuesday begin trying to hammer an agreement to end the fighting.

Eighth Army reported light enemy contact along the western front. There was no report of action anywhere near Kaesong, the site of the peace negotiations.

UN patrols fought a short bitter battle with Reds west-northwest of Yonchon. Other Allied troops in the area directed artillery fire on an enemy platoon

Storms in Midwest Kill Six Cause Heavy Property Loss

By The Associated Press

Wind-whipped rain hit the midwest Sunday, causing six deaths and heavy property damage.

Severe storms hit parts of Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, Missouri and Kansas but in Wisconsin practically the whole state felt the blows of wild weather.

Five deaths occurred in Michigan, one in Wisconsin.

In Wisconsin, winds, lightning, rain and hail caused damage expected to exceed $1,000,000. Winds of hurricane intensity downed power lines, ripped roofs off of buildings and blocked roads with felled trees.

In Iowa, communities in the northern part of the state were hit by a series of hard rains and high windstorms. Many farm buildings were damaged and power and telephone lines were out.

Central Minnesota took a good dousing with St. Cloud reporting 2.14 inches of rain in less than an hour. A 55-mile-an-hour wind grounded wires and knocked down trees and signs in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

At Leavenworth, Kas., a heavy downpour sent Five-mile creek out of its banks and flooded many homes. A windstorm disrupted communications and four minor fires were started by short circuits at Emporia.

Heavy rain and hail covered an area northwest of Kansas City.

The Missouri river fell after cresting at Lexington, Mo., but it is expected to crest at various points farther south in the state later this week.

Illinois also had a taste of the wind and rain. Six inches of rain fall in Stering, in northwestern Illinois. Telephone service in several communities in Lake county was disrupted and power lines were down in some cities.

Heavy showers and thunderstorms stretched along a 150 mile wide band from northeastern Iowa to northern Ohio. There were showers in Montana and widely scattered sections of western Kansas.

Hot and humid weather prevailed from the Gulf States to New England and it was hot and dry in the southwest.

El Paso, Texas, had a record high temperature of 107 degrees Sunday. Early morning temperatures today included St. Louis 78, Chicago 65, New York 70, Los Angeles 63.

Parley Due On Tuesday In Kaesong

Supreme Commander Says Performance to Judge Communists' Sincerity

No Guarantee

General Sees No Real Proof That Peace Will Follow

Seoul, Korea, July 9 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway warned tonight there was no real guarantee that peace in Korea will come from the armistice negotiations opening tomorrow in Kaesong.

With the start of cease-fire talks only hours away, Ridgway said:

"Whether there is to be good faith or not is only to be judged by performance, and we haven't come to the performance stage . . . Agreement on an armistice must precede a cessation of hostilities."

The supreme commander was addressing correspondents on news coverage of the full scale negotiations. The correspondents have demanded western press representation at the historic event.

Ridgway indicated there would be no western newsmen at tomorrow's session—but that there might be at later sessions.

He disclosed that he personally selected the five United Nations peace envoys and that he reserved the right "to change the delegates at any time."

Earlier Monday Ridgway flew to Seoul from Tokyo with three of his envoys. Shortly thereafter they travelled by light planes to the advanced "peace camp" near Munsan, where the other two members of the delegation were waiting.

Ridgway gave his envoys their final instructions, then returned to Seoul.

The peace camp is only a few minutes by air from Kaesong, the ancient capital where an end may be found for the Korean war, now in its 55th week.

The talks probably will begin about 10 a. m. Tuesday (7 p. m., Monday, EST).

The supreme commander will keep himself available during the talks.

Magill Says New Tax Bill Will Promote Inflation

Washington, July 9 (AP)—A former undersecretary of the Treasury told senators today the House-passed $7,200,000,000 tax increase bill will promote inflation rather than retard it.

Roswell Magill, now a New York attorney, said this is true because of stiff boosts in corporation taxes and the levies on middle and upper bracket incomes.

These hikes "will discourage new investment and additional production; and at the same time will cause higher prices to the consumer, since a good part of the increased corporate taxes will have to be passed on," Magill told the Senate Finance Committee.

He wanted to know what incentive a high-income man would have to work harder and produce more if he "can keep only five cents or 10 cents out of any additional dollar earned."

The attorney is chairman of the committee on federal tax policy which has been critical of federal fiscal policies. He was undersecretary of the Treasury in 1937 and 1938.

Magill presented a tax program almost identical with that offered last week by the National Association of Manufacturers. It included:

1. A general manufacturers' excise tax at a sufficient rate to balance the budget. Food, clothing, medicine and shelter would be exempt.

2. No increases in corporate income or excess profits taxes. The House bill proposes to raise about $2,800,000,000 annually from this source.

3. No individual income tax hike unless absolutely necessary. If one is imposed, alter the House formula to make the burden somewhat heavier on the lower income groups.

Administration officials said the shift was under consideration but declined to say whether a firm decision had been made.

Henderson, a veteran career diplomat, is here for consultations with the state department and is due to return this week to New Delhi.

In troubled Iran Henderson would relieve 69-year-old Ambassador Henry F. Grady.

Officials said Grady had been pressing for retirement. He has been at Tehran for only a year but in recent weeks has been under heavy pressure as the U. S. representative on the scene in the Iranian oil crisis.

Henderson, ten years younger, succeeded Grady as ambassador to India in mid-1948. Former director of the state department's division of Near Eastern and African Affairs and wartime minister to Iraq, he is a specialist in affairs of that part of the world.

Dewey Tours Frontlines

Reports Quarters Seized

Manila, July 9 (AP)—The Philippines Defense Department said today an army combat team has captured the headquarters of Guillermo Capadocia, No. 3 Communist Hukbalahap leader, in the mountains of Panay Island. A report from Ilo Ilo said the team found supplies and Red literature. Capadocia fled Panay Island some time ago. He is presumed to have joined Huk leader Luis Taruc in the Sierra Madre east of Manila.

Ridgway Says Faith Plays Vital Role in Truce Talks

Claim Enemy Stole Propaganda March When They Were Banned Sunday

Seoul, Korea, July 9 (AP) — United Nations war correspondents, angered at being banned from yesterday's preliminary peace talks at Kaesong while Communist correspondents attended, declared today the enemy had stolen a propaganda march.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, Allied supreme commander, indicated to newsmen tonight that they would not be represented at the opening session of the full-scale peace talks tomorrow. They might be at later sessions, however.

Earlier, public information officers recommended that 16 newsmen photographers and broadcasters be taken to Kaesong to cover the negotiations.

When asked if he could assure the correspondents that the western newsmen would not be kept out while Communist reporters were allowed at the session, Ridgway said:

"We'll see that we get everything we can."

In outlining his position to the angry correspondents, Ridgway said "• • • the issues are too great to prejudice failure and breakup."

The army's censorship of the status of Kaesong also aroused a storm among the correspondents. The military has referred to Kaesong as being in a no-man's land, leaving the impression it was an open city.

But Col. Andrew J. Kinney, chief of the UN liaison team which yesterday arranged preliminaries for the full-scale talks, told a news conference last night Kaeson "definitely is in enemy hands." Pilots who flew Kinney's group to Kaesong saw armed Reds on the ridgeline around the landing strip.

After Kinney's statement, the censor at first announced he would not pass the reference. Some correspondents promptly asserted they would ignore the censorship ban. Then the ruling was reversed and Kinney's remarks about Kaesong were passed.

Some newsmen said the army had deliberately misled the western world concerning the status of Kaesong.

Kinney said several Communist photographers were present at Kaesong, probably including newsreel men. He thought Communist newspapermen also were there, although he was not certain.

The only press representation the UN had at Kaesong was an

Taft Writes Book On Foreign Policy

May Become Reference Work for Friend and Foe in 1952

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) has finished writing a book on "Foreign Policy for Americans" which might come a reference work for friend and foe in the 1952 campaign.

Unless developments change his mind, Taft probably will formally pitch his hat into the ring this fall for the 1952 Republican presidential nomination.

His new book, due in December, will put the Ohioan down in black and white on almost every phase of foreign policy. It may become something of a best seller among Democratic critics as well as Republican friends.

Some of his supporters are known to feel the Ohioan should stick to his Senate knitting and leave the writing of books to others.

However, Taft says that anybody who wants to find out how he stands on any foreign policy issue can thumb through copies of his speeches and he's just saving them the trouble by compiling his views between two covers.

Those views have been uniformly critical of the Truman administration's handling of international issues which he blamed recently for creating "the disastrous crisis in which we now find ourselves."

He, says President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson and Secretary of Defense Marshall "have lost the confidence of the people on foreign policy."

Cheaper Dollar if Controls Are Scrapped, Says Johnson

Congress Asked to End State of War With Germany

Washington, July 9 (AP)—President Truman asked Congress today to end the state of war between the U. S. and Germany.

The action would not affect the allied occupation of Germany.

Its chief purpose would be psychological. Germans would no longer be considered enemy aliens and would regain such normal rights as the right to sue in American courts.

Mr. Truman's request was made in identical letters to Vice-President Barkley and House Speaker Rayburn.

Mr. Truman said that ending the state of war "will give the German people a new demonstration of our desire to help bring them back to membership among the nations of the free world."

"It will represent another and logical step on the road which leads towards the eventual restoration of German independence," the President added.

Mr. Truman handed the letters to the congressional leaders at their regular Monday morning conference with him at the White House.

Along with the letters he submitted a draft of a joint resolution declaring that the state of war which began December 11, 1941 shall be ended on "such date as the President shall by proclamation designate."

Mr. Truman said the resolution also should provide that this country may continue to seize German property, under the provisions of the Trading With the Enemy Act, in spite of the technical end of the state of war.

Estimates Cash Deficit in Budget Up to 20 or 25 Billions in Next Year

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

Washington, July 9 (AP) — Eric Johnston told the nation today to look for "a much cheaper dollar" —worth perhaps 30 to 40 cents in 1939 terms—if economic controls are scrapped.

Declaring that the dollar is now worth about 53 to 54 cents in 1939 value, Johnston said "My guess is that it might be worth between 30 and 40 cents in 1939 purchasing power, in ten years, if you don't do something about inflation."

Johnston, in a copyrighted interview with the magazine U. S. News and World Report, predicted a government deficit this year of from $5,000,000,000 to $7,000,000,000.

And under the present defense program, he estimated the cash deficit in the budget would be "up to 20 or 25 billion" for the next fiscal year beginning July 1, 1952.

Of the deficit he predicted for fiscal year 1951, Johnston added:

"Now that isn't too great. Probably we can live with it, provided Congress gives us adequate controls — stronger, not weaker controls."

Opposing Soldiers Keeping One Eye Toward Kaesong

Light Probing Attacks Thrown Against UN Troops on Korean Battlefront

By STAN CARTER

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, July 9 (AP)—Communist ground troops threw a series of light probing attacks against United Nations positions on the Korean battlefront today.

In the air, U. S. F-86 Sabre jets shot down a Russian-made MIG-15 jet. The Allied warplanes were protecting B-29 superforts raiding a Red airfield at Sinanju in western Korea.

Allied warplanes destroyed three enemy jets Sunday and damaged two others.

Opposing soldiers keep one eye cocked toward Kaesong, where Allied and Communist negotiators Tuesday begin trying to hammer an agreement to end the fighting.

Eighth Army reported light enemy contact along the western front. There was no report of action anywhere near Kaesong, the site of the peace negotiations.

UN patrols fought a short bitter battle with Reds west-northwest of Yonchon. Other Allied troops in the area directed artillery fire on an enemy platoon

Supreme Commander Says Performance to Judge Communists' Sincerity

No Guarantee

General Sees No Real Proof That Peace Will Follow

Seoul, Korea, July 9 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway warned tonight there was no real guarantee that peace in Korea will come from the armistice negotiations opening tomorrow in Kaesong.

With the start of cease-fire talks only hours away, Ridgway said:

"Whether there is to be good faith or not is only to be judged by performance, and we haven't come to the performance stage • • •. Agreement on an armistice must precede a cessation of hostilities."

The supreme commander was addressing correspondents on news coverage of the full scale negotiations. The correspondents have demanded western press representation at the historic event.

Ridgway indicated there would be no western newsmen at tomorrow's session—but that there might be at later sessions.

He disclosed that he personally selected the five United Nations peace envoys and that he reserved the right "to change the delegates at any time."

Earlier Monday Ridgway flew to Seoul from Tokyo with three of his envoys. Shortly thereafter they travelled by light planes to the advanced "peace camp" near Munsan, where the other two members of the delegation were waiting.

Ridgway gave his envoys their final instructions, then returned to Seoul.

The peace camp is only a few minutes by air from Kaesong, the ancient capital where an end may be found for the Korean war, now in its 55th week.

The talks probably will begin about 10 a. m. Tuesday (7 p. m., Monday, EST).

The supreme commander will keep himself available during the talks.

Magill Says New Tax Bill Will Promote Inflation

Washington, July 9 (AP)—A former undersecretary of the Treasury told senators today the House-passed $7,200,000,000 tax increase bill will promote inflation rather than retard it.

Roswell Magill, now a New York attorney, said this is true because of stiff boosts in corporation taxes and the levies on middle and upper bracket incomes.

These hikes "will discourage new investment and additional production; and at the same time will cause higher prices to the consumer, since a good part of the increased corporate taxes will have to be passed on," Magill told the Senate Finance Committee.

He wanted to know what incentive a high-income man would have to work harder and produce more if he "can keep only five cents or 10 cents out of any additional dollar earned."

The attorney is chairman of the committee on federal tax policy which has been critical of federal fiscal policies. He was undersecretary of the Treasury in 1937 and 1938.

Magill presented a tax program almost identical with that offered last week by the National Association of Manufacturers. It included:

1. A general manufacturers' excise tax at a sufficient rate to balance the budget. Food, clothing, medicine and shelter would be exempt.

2. No increases in corporate income or excess profits taxes. The House bill proposes to raise about $2,800,000,000 annually from this source.

3. No individual income tax hike unless absolutely necessary. If one is imposed, alter the House formula to make the burden somewhat heavier on the lower income groups.

Probers Sift Newark Blast Area After $5,000,000 Fire

Newark, N. J., Juy 9 (AP) — Authorities sifted the twisted, scorched rubble of a sprawling propane gas storage plant today for a clue to the cause of a series of rocket-like explosions Saturday.

Six separate federal, state and local agencies sent investigators to the 82-acre tank farm, still too hot to explore thoroughly more than 24 hours after the initial blast.

Meanwhile fire officials estimated damage to the Warren Petroleum Sales Corp., and adjacent plants at $5,000,000 and said it may go even higher.

Of the 11 men injured in the holocaust, only one remained on the danger list today. He suffered first, second and third degree burns fleeing from the Warren plant.

One lone tank blazed stubbornly yesterday despite a constant stream of water played into a gaping hole in its side by one of 11 fire companies kept at the scene.

Around it, like broken toys, lay most of the blasted 70-foot long cylindrical tanks facing this way and that as if kicked off their foundations by an angry giant.

All told 75 of 135 tanks filled with highly-combustible cooking gas blew skyward in a series of awesome explosions that sent tongues of range flame 2,500 feet in the air and were heard 20 miles away. Each of the tanks held 500,000 cubic feet of propane gas.

Preliminary investigations were made yesterday by the FBI, Coast Guard and army representatives and members of the state police, Newark arson squad and New Jersey Department of Labor.

The discovery of three mortar shells near the Warren plant touched off a short-lived rumor that they might have caused the disaster—worst in the city's history.

This possibility was ruled out by Col. Lloyd M. Garner, commanding officer of the army's Raritan arsenal, after an on-the-spot examination. He said there was no powder in any of them.

Storms in Midwest Kill Six Cause Heavy Property Loss

By The Associated Press

Wind-whipped rain hit the midwest Sunday, causing six deaths and heavy property damage.

Severe storms hit parts of Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, Missouri and Kansas but in Wisconsin practically the whole state felt the blows of wild weather.

Five deaths occurred in Michigan, one in Wisconsin.

In Wisconsin, winds, lightning, rain and hail caused damage expected to exceed $1,000,000. Winds of hurricane intensity downed power lines, ripped roofs off of buildings and blocked roads with felled trees.

In Iowa, communities in the northern part of the state were hit by a series of hard rains and high windstorms. Many farm buildings were damaged and power and telephone lines were out.

Central Minnesota took a good dousing with St. Cloud reporting 2.14 inches of rain in less than an hour. A 55-mile-an-hour wind grounded wires and knocked down trees and signs in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

At Leavenworth, Kas., a heavy downpour sent Five-mile creek out of its banks and flooded many homes. A windstorm disrupted communications and four minor fires were started by short circuits at Emporia.

Heavy rain and hail covered an area northwest of Kansas City.

The Missouri river fell after cresting at Lexington, Mo., but it is expected to crest at various points farther south in the state later this week.

Illinois also had a taste of the wind and rain. Six inches of rain fall in Stering, in northwestern Illinois. Telephone service in several communities in Lake county was disrupted and power lines were down in some cities.

Heavy showers and thunderstorms stretched along a 150 mile wide band from northeastern Iowa to northern Ohio. There were showers in Montana and widely scattered sections of western Kansas.

Hot and humid weather prevailed from the Gulf States to New England and it was hot and dry in the southwest.

El Paso, Texas, had a record high temperature of 107 degrees Sunday. Early morning temperatures today included St. Louis 78, Chicago 65, New York 70, Los Angeles 63.

NEW FRIENDS

We often speak of friendships new
That offer life a brighter hue . . .
We often sense a keen delight
When first our eager hands unite.
The heart reserves a special place
For those whose friendships we embrace
But as the days and years unfold
Just where are these our "friends of old"?

A sudden smile when skies are gray . . .
A word of cheer along the way . . .
Perhaps a joy that two may share
Make friendships more than passing fair.
A grief that weighs upon the heart
Invites us all to play a part
And having dried another's tears
Our friendships new have bridged the years.

Sometimes a word . . . a smile . . . or tear
Will send the heart a message clear
'Tis then that friendships new unfold
And blossom forth to "friendships old."

Bail Supplied Today for Field

New York, July 9 (AP) — Cash bail of $10,000 was taken to the federal courthouse today for Frederick Vanderbilt Field, but federal prosecutors indicated there might be some delay in releasing the "angel" of numerous Red activities.

Field was sent to the Federal House of Detention Friday on a 90-day contempt of court sentence. He spent the week-end in prison because friends couldn't raise bail during the Saturday-Sunday bank holiday.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan sentenced the wealthy, 46-year-old great grandson of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt after he refused for a third time to tell the court who contributed to the $80,000 bail of four fugitive convicted Communist leaders. Later Judge Thomas W. Swan, of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, fixed bail at $10,000 for Field, pending appeal.

The $10,000 in cash was taken to the courthouse by Mrs. Mary Kaufman, attorney for the bail fund of the Civil Rights Congress, listed as subversive by the U. S. attorney general. Field is secretary of the fund. Judge Swan in fixing bail stipulated that it was not to be furnished by the Civil Rights Congress, and that it must be "in form acceptable to the U. S. attorney's office."

Assistant U. S. Attorney Roy M. Cohn said the government proposed to ask for a guarantor agreeable to the prosecution and that there might be some delay in accepting bail for Field.

Busy Week Slated For Park Programs

The Recreation Department will present a variety of events as entertainment for the people of Kingston this week in the city parks. Tonight at Forsyth Park the cycle will begin with a showing of the feature presentation Blood on the Moon starring Robert Mitchum, Robert Preston, Walter Brennan and Barbara Bel Geddes. The feature western is good entertainment for the whole family. It entails a range war between the homesteaders and the cattlemen with hired gunslingers being brought in by outside interests to further their desires. The feature will be preceeded by a short entitled Ghost House with Edgar Kennedy. The film will begin at dusk and will be shown adjacent to the tennis courts.

On Tuesday night a double activities night is planned. At Forsyth Park the first outside dance of the season will be presented. This is the first in a series of weekly dances which will be held in the various parks throughout the summer months. The dances are presented with the compliments of and cooperation of Local 215 of the American Federation of Musicians through a grant from the Music Performance Trust fund of the recording industry. The dance will begin at 8 p. m. and continue through 10 p. m. At the same time the first Community Night of the 1951 season will be held in Cornell Park also starting at 8 p. m. The Community Night will last approximately one hour in which time the children of the park will display their various talents. The Community Night will be followed immediately by a showing of the movie Blood on the Moon.

On Wednesday night the movie will be shown at Hutton Park where it will be preceeded by a Community night presentation.

Trautman Rejects Border Loop Request

Ogdensburg, N. Y., July 9 (AP) —George Trautman, the boss of baseball's minor leagues, today turned down a request that the four-team Border League be dissolved.

John Ward of Ogdensburg, president of the Class C circuit, said he received Trautman's decision by telephone.

Ward said that in view of Trautman's ruling he had drawn a new four-club schedule and would order Watertown and Auburn to resume playing. If they do not, he said, Ogdensburg and Kingston, Ont., would continue as a two-team league.

The Auburn club had asked Trautman to discontinue the league.

Rousset Resigns

Damascus, Syria, July 9 (AP)—French Major Jacques Rousset resigned today from the UN Palestine Truce Commission. He was reported in disagreement with his chiefs on the handling of Israel's dispute with Syria over the draining of the demilitarized zone between the two countries. Rousset's resignation followed that of French Col. George Bossavy, who headed the joint Syrian-Israeli Armistice Commission before it was taken over by U. S. Col. Samuel Taxis.

Fear Acute Shortage

New York, July 9 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri called a conference with mediators today in an effort to end a strike by 4,000 AFL truck drivers against 16 major bakeries. The walkout, which has been marked by flurries of violence, entered its second week today wth some city officials fearing an acute shortage of white bread.

WOODSTOCK

Big Crowd Sees Fireworks Display

Woodstock, July 9—The week's postponement of the American Legion's display of fireworks Saturday night was small deterrent to the calvacade of cars which assembled on Dixon's field for the show.

Late figures on the proceeds, which will go to the veterans hospital visitation and rehabilitation fund, were not available from Robert Nussbaum, chairman of the show committee, but the capacity audience indicated that a good sum has been added to the fund.

The fireworks themselves were sufficiently brilliant and noisy to satisfy the demands of the clamoring young audience who greeted each burst with shouts of approval, and in the excitement managed to loose a good number of the gas-filled balloons which sailed away out of sight in the space of a few moments.

Some authentic fireworks almost started when a small mound of hay on the field near the set-ups caught fire but was quickly extinguished by the attending Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 truck, under the guidance of Mervin Doremus.

To Elect Officers

Woodstock, July 9—The Woodstock Riding Club will hold a meeting in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church Saturday, July 14, at which time election of officers will take place for the coming year.

Leaves for Camp

Woodstock, July 9—John Wetterau has left to attend Camp Segowea, under the auspices of the Masonic Square Club for the full camp period of eight weeks.

Maurice Hindus spent the week-end at the Gardner cottage on the Mead Mountain road. He was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Dowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler Jellinghaus were at their Lake Hill home over the week-end.

Mrs. Floyd Parker returned to her home in Alexandria, Va., Sunday.

Ed Bauman has recently been appointed associate editor for a new aviation magazine being published on the West Coast, entitled Air Age. Bauman will be in charge of the eastern part of the United States, for the magazine.

Concerned Over Shift

Washington, July 9 (AP)—State Department officials reportedly are deeply concerned over the possibility a Korean armistice may be followed by a shift of Communist aggression southward to Indo-China. American government reports, qualified informants said today, bear out a Chinese Nationalist estimate that some 200,000 Red Chinese troops already are assembled near the Indo-China border. A signal from Peiping could send them across the line to reenforce Rebel Leader Ho Chi Minh's 150,000 or more Indo-Chinese guerillas either as "volunteers" or openly as invaders.

To Chart Strategy

Washington, July 9 (AP)—Leaders of most of organized labor scheduled a meeting today to chart the strategy of a last-stand fight for tough price control legislation. The United Labor Policy Committee, made up of leaders of AFL, CIO and independent unions, was expected to issue a statement denouncing the ban on price rollbacks in the present 31-day extension of the Defense Production Act. The committee was due to call for an "improved" version of the law to take effect August 1.

60 Are Injured

Utica, Ill., July 9 (AP)—The Santa Fe Railway streamliner El Capitan—speeding along at 70 miles an hour—was derailed near Utica Saturday night, injuring 60 of the 375 persons aboard. Two of the Chicago-to-Los Angeles streamliner's 13 cars left the rails, ripping up 2,000 feet of track. One rail pierced a passenger coach.

Switches Mowers

The lawn was mowed properly and a North Manor avenue woman paid the man who did the job. Then she looked and found in the place of her smooth operating mower an old one apparently left by the itinerant handy man. She reported the switch to the police Saturday afternoon.

Collapses at Work

An unidentified employe of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation collapsed about 1:10 p. m. today on Albany avenue extension while walking towards his work. According to the company, the man was not electrocuted. Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly of the Lake Katrine barracks investigated. After collapsing, the man was brought to the Kingston Hospital.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 9 (AP)—A brief flicker of buying interest today sent the stock market upward.

Leaders moved up a few cents to a bit more than a dollar a share. American Cyanamid was one of the few going higher. It shot up around $3 a share at times.

Best performers were in steels, oils, motors, and chemicals. The railroad division managed to keep slightly ahead as did utilities. Other major divisions were either mixed, or mostly unchanged. Scattered profit-taking was in evidence.

Warren Petroleum, whose Newark, N. J., terminal was destroyed by fire yesterday, fell as much as a dollar a share at times at $26.50.

Curb stocks were mostly higher including Molybdenum, Monogram Pictures, Pancoastal Oil, Stinnes, U. S. Foil "B", and Imperial Oil. Lower were New Jersey Zinc, American Republicas, Fansteel Metallurgical and Giant Yellowknife Mines.

No Verdict Rendered

The investigation into the death of Mrs. Alice Irene Christiana, who died at The Trappe Saturday morning, has not been completed and no verdict has been rendered by Coroner Arthur G. Chipp. Mrs. Christiana, formerly of New Paltz, died early Saturday morning after complaining of illness for several days.

Ridgway Says

Other allied representatives are Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie, U. S. air force; Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, deputy chief of staff, U. S. Eighth Army; Rear Adm. Arleigh A. (31 Knots) Burke, U. S. navy, and Maj. Gen. Paik Sun Yup, Republic of Korea Army.

Joy, Craigie and Burke accompanied Ridgway from Tokyo to Seoul in the supreme commander's C-54 transport plane.

Paik, commanding general of the ROK First Army Corps, arrived early Monday. He conferred with Hodes, then went on to Munsan.

The advance base is a comfortable tent city set up in an old apple orchard. Individual tents have been prepared for the allied negotiators and other ranking UN officials.

Discussion Declined

The envoys declined to discuss their historic mission with newsmen.

Joy and Craigie carried bulging briefcases to the peace camp.

Ridgway was accompanied to the camp by Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. Eighth Army commander. Van Fleet met the Ridgway party in Seoul. He said he only wanted to discuss "Eighth Army business" with the supreme commander. Ridgway said Van Fleet was being kept "fully informed" on the cease-fire situation.

Shortly after landing at the advance base, Ridgway and Van Fleet moved away from the negotiators and chatted together briefly while seated on a mound of dirt bordering the airstrip.

Of the envoys, only Burke wore any campaign ribbons.

A Peiping radio broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, said the Communist delegates had returned from the preliminary talks Sunday at Kaesong. It reported full scale negotiations would open Tuesday and named the allied and Red negotiators, but made no comment.

Communist representatives at Kaesong will be Gen. Hsieh Fang and Gen. Tung Hua of the Chinese army and Gen. Nam Il and Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho of the North Korean Red forces.

Groundwork Is Laid

Groundwork for the armistice talks was laid Sunday, also at Kaesong.

Liaison groups representing both sides held a stiffly formal meeting in a once palatial home in the Red-held city.

Col. Andrew J. Kinney, U. S. air force, who headed the UN delegation Sunday, said the preliminary meeting was a "100 per cent success."

Another envoy indicated, however, that there were a number of disagreements that had to be ironed out. He said there were several times when he thought the talks would fall through.

The UN delegation to the full scale talks probably will fly by helicopter from Munsan about 9 a. m. (6 p. m. Monday, E.S.T.).

There has been no announcement of when the Red delegation will arrive, or how it will travel.

The Red plans probably were worked out in the preliminary meeting Sunday. It was assumed the Reds will travel by road, and that UN planes will give them the same immunity granted the preliminary negotiators.

'Happy With Job'

Before he left Seoul, General Craigie said, "I don't believe any of us have any idea how long these talks will last. We have received our instructions and are all very happy with this job."

As ranking officers of the opposing sides prepared to talk peace, there was no large scale ground fighting on the Korean front. UN troops launched two limited objective attacks Sunday against Red resistance that varied from light to heavy.

In the air war, F-86 Sabre jets destroyed one Russian-made MIG-15 Monday. Three others were shot down and two damaged Sunday.

United Nations military leaders took no chances along the front. They reasoned that until a definite agreement is reached to stop the shooting, the best course is to keep hitting away at the enemy.

At Eighth Army headquarters, everyone went about business as usual, but there was a feeling of elation and hope.

Everyone realized that Tuesday's talks and succeeding conferences represented the first big chance for peace since the Chinese "volunteers" entered the war last winter.

Record Earthquake

New York, July 9 (AP)—Fordham University's seismograph last night recorded a fairly sharp earthquake about 2,100 miles southwest of here. The first tremor was felt at 7:10.45 p. m. (EST) and the second at 7:15.46 p. m. John Carroll University located the earthquake about 1,900 miles southwest of Cleveland, O. That would place the quake in West Guatemala, the school said. Most unusual feature of the quake was that it was "unusually deep" and could have caused considerable damage, Carroll added.

The early Greeks believed cabbage could keep a person sober.

Fire Under Control

Los Alamos, July 9 (AP)—A forest fire which endangered buildings housing top-secret atomic work and destroyed 75 acres on the fenced Los Alamos project is under control. The fire broke out Saturday and for a time was licking its way towards laboratories, cradle of the atom bomb. Thirty professional Atomic Energy Commission firefighters and three tank trucks soon had the flames under control. Six men stood watch over the smouldering embers last night.

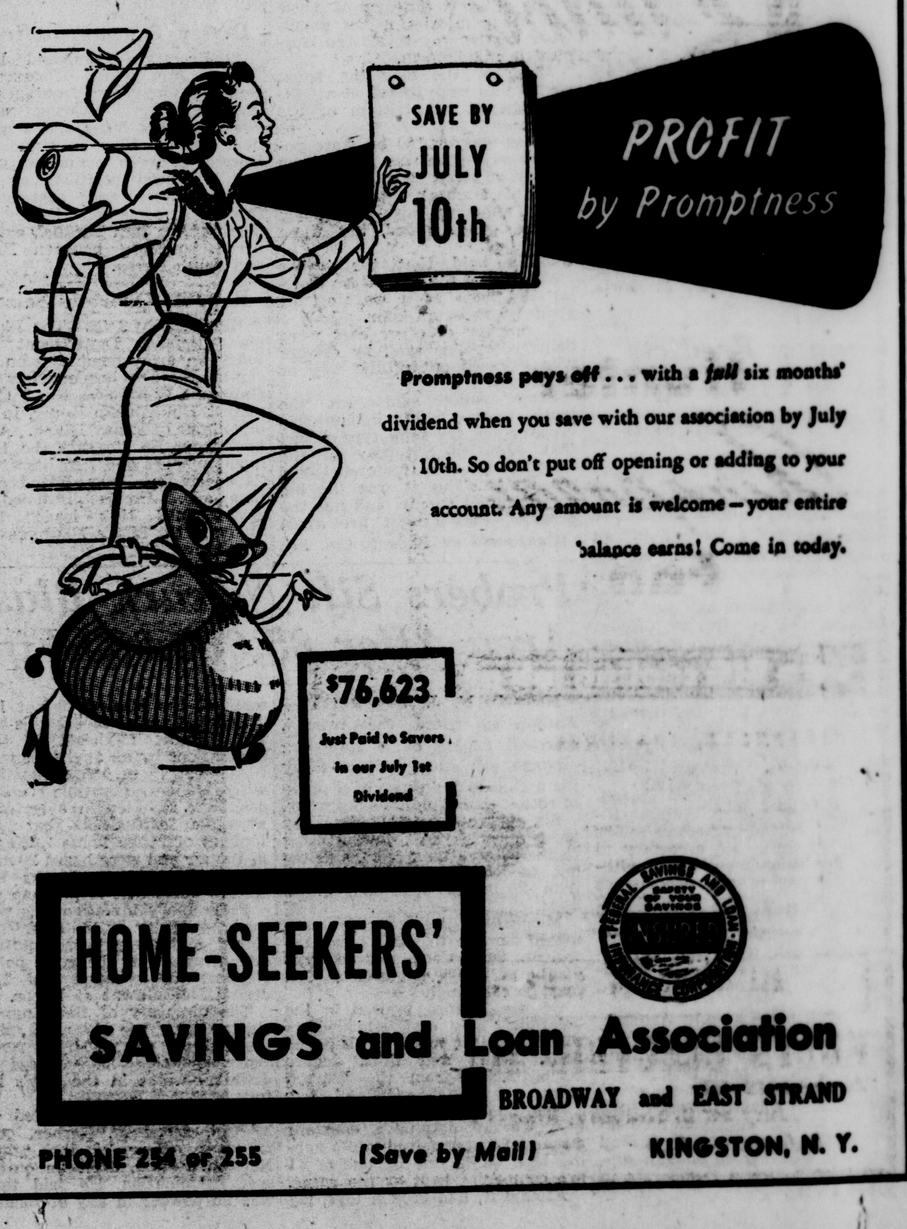

Probe Spinster's Death

Bridgeport, Conn., July 9 (AP)—A grand jury was summoned to meet Wednesday (9 a. m. EST), to investigate the death of Elizabeth M. Ayres, 74, wealthy Danbury spinster. Judge John M. Comley took the action in Superior Court today. Application for the jury was made by State Attorney Lorin W. Willis in a brief hearing at which he said "due administration of justice requires an investigation to determine whether the death of one, Elizabeth M. Ayres was the result of an unlawful act of any person."

NEW FRIENDS

We often speak of friendships new
That offer life a brighter hue . . .
We often sense a keen delight
When first our eager hands unite.
The heart reserves a special place
For those whose friendships we embrace
But as the days and years unfold
Just where are these our "friends of old"?

A sudden smile when skies are gray . . .
A word of cheer along the way . . .
Perhaps a joy that two may share
Make friendships more than passing fair.
A grief that weighs upon the heart
Invites us all to play a part
And having dried another's tears
Our friendships new have bridged the years.

Sometimes a word . . . a smile . . . or tear
Will send the heart a message clear
'Tis then that friendships new unfold
And blossom forth to "friendships old."

Bail Supplied Today for Field

New York, July 9 (AP) — Cash bail of $10,000 was taken to the federal courthouse today for Frederick Vanderbilt Field, but federal prosecutors indicated there might be some delay in releasing the "angel" of numerous Red activities.

Field was sent to the Federal House of Detention Friday on a 90-day contempt of court sentence. He spent the week-end in prison because friends couldn't raise bail during the Saturday-Sunday bank holiday.

Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan sentenced the wealthy, 46-year-old great grandson of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt after he refused for a third time to tell the court who contributed to the $80,000 bail of four fugitive convicted Communist leaders. Later Judge Thomas W. Swan, of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, fixed bail at $10,000 for Field, pending appeal.

The $10,000 in cash was taken to the courthouse by Mrs. Mary Kaufman, attorney for the bail fund of the Civil Rights Congress, listed as subversive by the U. S. attorney general. Field is secretary of the fund. Judge Swan in fixing bail stipulated that it was not to be furnished by the Civil Rights Congress, and that it must be "in form acceptable to the U. S. attorney's office."

Assistant U. S. Attorney Roy M. Cohn said the government proposed to ask for a guarantor agreeable to the prosecution and that there might be some delay in accepting bail for Field.

Busy Week Slated For Park Programs

The Recreation Department will present a variety of events as entertainment for the people of Kingston this week in the city parks. Tonight at Forsyth Park the cycle will begin with a showing of the feature presentation Blood on the Moon starring Robert Mitchum, Robert Preston, Walter Brennan and Barbara Bel Geddes. The feature western is good entertainment for the whole family. It entails a range war between the homesteaders and the cattlemen with hired gunslingers being brought in by outside interests to further their desires. The feature will be preceeded by a short entitled Ghost House with Edgar Kennedy. The film will begin at dusk and will be shown adjacent to the tennis courts.

On Tuesday night a double activities night is planned. At Forsyth Park the first outside dance of the season will be presented. This is the first in a series of weekly dances which will be held in the various parks throughout the summer months. The dances are presented with the compliments of and cooperation of Local 215 of the American Federation of Musicians through a grant from the Music Performance Trust fund of the recording industry. The dance will begin at 8 p. m. and continue through 10 p. m. At the same time the first Community Night of the 1951 season will be held in Cornell Park also starting at 8 p. m. The Community Night will last approximately one hour in which time the children of the park will display their various talents. The Community Night will be followed immediately by a showing of the movie Blood on the Moon.

On Wednesday night the movie will be shown at Hutton Park where it will be preceeded by a Community night presentation.

Trautman Rejects Border Loop Request

Ogdensburg, N. Y., July 9 (AP) —George Trautman, the boss of baseball's minor leagues, today turned down a request that the four-team Border League be dissolved.

John Ward of Ogdensburg, president of the Class C circuit, said he received Trautman's decision by telephone.

Ward said that in view of Trautman's ruling he had drawn a new four-club schedule and would order Watertown and Auburn to resume playing. If they do not, he said, Ogdensburg and Kingston, Ont., would continue as a two-team league.

The Auburn club had asked Trautman to discontinue the league.

Rousset Resigns

Damascus, Syria, July 9 (AP)—French Major Jacques Rousset resigned today from the UN Palestine Truce Commission. He was reported in disagreement with his chiefs on the handling of Israel's dispute with Syria over the draining of the demilitarized zone between the two countries. Rousset's resignation followed that of French Col. George Bossavy, who headed the joint Syrian-Israeli Armistice Commission before it was taken over by U. S. Col. Samuel Taxis.

Fear Acute Shortage

New York, July 9 (AP)—Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri called a conference with mediators today in an effort to end a strike by 4,000 AFL truck drivers against 16 major bakeries. The walkout, which has been marked by flurries of violence, entered its second week today wth some city officials fearing an acute shortage of white bread.

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

A regular meeting of Vanderlyn Council, 41, Daughters of America, will be held Tuesday at 8 p. m. at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street. Installation of officers will take place. Officers are requested to wear long white dresses. Each member is requested to bring a covered dish.

WOODSTOCK

Big Crowd Sees Fireworks Display

Woodstock, July 9—The week's postponement of the American Legion's display of fireworks Saturday night was small deterrent to the calvacade of cars which assembled on Dixon's field for the show.

Late figures on the proceeds, which will go to the veterans hospital visitation and rehabilitation fund, were not available from Robert Nussbaum, chairman of the show committee, but the capacity audience indicated that a good sum has been added to the fund.

The fireworks themselves were sufficiently brilliant and noisy to satisfy the demands of the clamoring young audience who greeted each burst with shouts of approval, and in the excitement managed to loose a good number of the gas-filled balloons which sailed away out of sight in the space of a few moments.

Some authentic fireworks almost started when a small mound of hay on the field near the set-ups caught fire but was quickly extinguished by the attending Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 truck, under the guidance of Mervin Doremus.

To Elect Officers

Woodstock, July 9—The Woodstock Riding Club will hold a meeting in the basement of the Dutch Reformed Church Saturday, July 14, at which time election of officers will take place for the coming year.

Leaves for Camp

Woodstock, July 9—John Wetterau has left to attend Camp Segowea, under the auspices of the Masonic Square Club for the full camp period of eight weeks.

Village Notes

Woodstock, July 9—Mr. and Mrs. Allan Mower are the parents of a daughter born July 5 at the Kingston Hospital.

Mrs. Ruth Wolfson is spending her vacation here.

Miss Alice Henderson has returned to her home where she is recuperating after a stay in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George Berk entertained at a dinner party Friday night. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Blanch and Mr. and Mrs. John Pike.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hutty will leave on a vacation trip to Maine Tuesday.

Rudolph Baumgarten is now participating in maneuvers in Greenland.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dosch, of New York, are vacationing for two weeks in Zena.

Maurice Hindus spent the week-end at the Gardner cottage on the Mead Mountain road. He was the dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Dowd.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler Jellinghaus were at their Lake Hill home over the week-end.

Mrs. Floyd Parker returned to her home in Alexandria, Va., Sunday.

Ed Bauman has recently been appointed associate editor for a new aviation magazine being published on the West Coast, entitled Air Age. Bauman will be in charge of the eastern part of the United States, for the magazine.

60 Are Injured

Utica, Ill., July 9 (AP)—The Santa Fe Railway streamliner El Capitan—speeding along at 70 miles an hour—was derailed near Utica Saturday night, injuring 60 of the 375 persons aboard. Two of the Chicago-to-Los Angeles streamliner's 13 cars left the rails, ripping up 2,000 feet of track. One rail pierced a passenger coach.

Switches Mowers

The lawn was mowed properly and a North Manor avenue woman paid the man who did the job. Then she looked and found in the place of her smooth operating mower an old one apparently left by the itinerant handy man. She reported the switch to the police Saturday afternoon.

Collapses at Work

An unidentified employe of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation collapsed about 1:10 p. m. today on Albany avenue extension while walking towards his work. According to the company, the man was not electrocuted. Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly of the Lake Katrine barracks investigated. After collapsing, the man was brought to the Kingston Hospital.

Financial and Commercial

New York, July 9 (AP)—A brief flicker of buying interest today sent the stock market upward.

Leaders moved up a few cents to a bit more than a dollar a share. American Cyanamid was one of the few going higher. It shot up around $3 a share at times.

Best performers were in steels, oils, motors, and chemicals. The railroad division managed to keep slightly ahead as did utilities. Other major divisions were either mixed, or mostly unchanged. Scattered profit-taking was in evidence.

Warren Petroleum, whose Newark, N. J., terminal was destroyed by fire yesterday, fell as much as a dollar a share at times at $26.50.

Curb stocks were mostly higher including Molybdenum, Monogram Pictures, Pancoastal Oil, Stinnes, U. S. Foil "B", and Imperial Oil. Lower were New Jersey Zinc, American Republicas, Fansteel Metallurgical and Giant Yellowknife Mines.

No Verdict Rendered

The investigation into the death of Mrs. Alice Irene Christiana, who died at The Trappe Saturday morning, has not been completed and no verdict has been rendered by Coroner Arthur C. Chipp. Mrs. Christiana, formerly of New Paltz, died early Saturday morning after complaining of illness for several days.

Ridgway Says

Other allied representatives are Maj. Gen. L. C. Craigie, U. S. air force; Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, deputy chief of staff, U. S. Eighth Army; Rear Adm. Arleigh A. (31 Knots) Burke, U. S. navy, and Maj. Gen. Paik Sun Yup, Republic of Korea Army.

Joy, Craigie and Burke accompanied Ridgway from Tokyo to Seoul in the supreme commander's C-54 transport plane.

Paik, commanding general of the ROK First Army Corps, arrived early Monday. He conferred with Hodes, then went on to Munsan.

The advance base is a comfortable tent city set up in an old apple orchard. Individual tents have been prepared for the allied negotiators and other ranking UN officials.

Discussion Declined

The envoys declined to discuss their historic mission with newsmen.

Joy and Craigie carried bulging briefcases to the peace camp.

Ridgway was accompanied to the camp by Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. Eighth Army commander. Van Fleet met the Ridgway party in Seoul. He said he only wanted to discuss "Eighth Army business" with the supreme commander. Ridgway said Van Fleet was being kept "fully informed" on the cease-fire situation.

Shortly after landing at the advance base, Ridgway and Van Fleet moved away from the negotiators and chatted together briefly while seated on a mound of dirt bordering the airstrip.

Of the envoys, only Burke wore any campaign ribbons.

A Peiping radio broadcast, monitored in Tokyo, said the Communist delegates had returned from the preliminary talks Sunday at Kaesong. It reported full scale negotiations would open Tuesday and named the allied and Red negotiators, but made no comment.

Communist representatives at Kaesong will be Gen. Hsieh Fang and Gen. Tung Hua of the Chinese army and Gen. Nam Il and Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho of the North Korean Red forces.

Groundwork Is Laid

Groundwork for the armistice talks was laid Sunday, also at Kaesong.

Liaison groups representing both sides held a stiffly formal meeting in a once palatial home in the Red-held city.

Col. Andrew J. Kinney, U. S. air force, who headed the UN delegation Sunday, said the preliminary meeting was a "100 per cent success."

Another envoy indicated, however, that there were a number of disagreements that had to be ironed out. He said there were several times when he thought the talks would fall through.

The UN delegation to the full scale talks probably will fly by helicopter from Munsan about 9 a. m. (6 p. m. Monday, E.S.T.).

There has been no announcement of when the Red delegation will arrive, or how it will travel.

The Red plans probably were worked out in the preliminary meeting Sunday. It was assumed the Reds will travel by road, and that UN planes will give them the same immunity granted the preiminary negotiators.

'Happy With Job'

Before he left Seoul, General Craigie said, "I don't believe any of us have any idea how long these talks will last. We have received our instructions and are all very happy with this job."

As ranking officers of the opposing sides prepared to talk peace, there was no large scale ground fighting on the Korean front. UN troops launched two limited objective attacks Sunday against Red resistance that varied from light to heavy.

In the air war, F-86 Sabre jets destroyed one Russian-made MIG-15 Monday. Three others were shot down and two damaged Sunday.

United Nations military leaders took no chances along the front. They reasoned that until a definite agreement is reached to stop the shooting, the best course is to keep hitting away at the enemy.

At Eighth Army headquarters, everyone went about business as usual, but there was a feeling of elation and hope.

Everyone realized that Tuesday's talks and succeeding conferences represented the first big chance for peace since the Chinese "volunteers" entered the war last winter.

Record Earthquake

New York, July 9 (AP)—Fordham University's seismograph last night recorded a fairly sharp earthquake about 2,100 miles southwest of here. The first tremor was felt at 7:10.45 p. m. (EST) and the second at 7:15.46 p. m. John Carroll University located the earthquake about 1,900 miles southwest of Cleveland, O. That would place the quake in West Guatemala, the school said. Most unusual feature of the quake was that it was "unusually deep" and could have caused considerable damage, Carroll added.

The early Greeks believed cabbage could keep a person sober.

Fire Under Control

Los Alamos, July 9 (AP)—A forest fire which endangered buildings housing top-secret atomic work and destroyed 75 acres on the fenced Los Alamos project is under control. The fire broke out Saturday and for a time was licking its way towards laboratories, cradle of the atom bomb. Thirty professional Atomic Energy Commission firefighters and three tank trucks soon had the flames under control. Six men stood watch over the smouldering embers last night.

Probe Spinster's Death

Bridgeport, Conn., July 9 (AP)—A grand jury was summoned to meet Wednesday (9 a. m. EST), to investigate the death of Elizabeth M. Ayres, 74, wealthy Danbury spinster. Judge John M. Comley took the action in Superior Court today. Application for the jury was made by State Attorney Lorin W. Willis in a brief hearing at which he said "due administration of justice requires an investigation to determine whether the death of one, Elizabeth M. Ayres was the result of an unlawful act of any person."

Jewels Are Looted

New York, July 9 (AP)—The fashionable penthouse apartment of American Tobacco Company President Paul M. Hahn has been looted of jewels valued at $8,000 and furs worth $2,000. The executive reported the disappearance of the valuables early yesterday. Police said the articles apparently were taken by thieves sometime Saturday night when Hahn and his wife were out to dinner. The thieves, police said, put the mink and Russian broadtail furs in a suitcase and carted them off along with the safe that contained the gems.

Railroad Study

New York, July 9 (AP)—The Regional Plan Association, Inc., yesterday called for the improvement of railroad commuter facilities in the New York-New Jersey-Connecticut metropolitan region. The association, a research and planning agency with voluntary membership, said improved railroad service would help relieve Manhattan's traffic congestion. The association proposed a study of railroad facilities by the Port of New York Authority or a special interstate commission.

Scott E. Vining To Enter Gospel Ministry Tuesday

Scott Ernest Vining, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Vining, of Port Ewen, will be ordanied into the gospel ministry during appropriate ceremonies Tuesday night at the First Baptist Church, Saugerties, the Rev. Montreville Seely, pastor, announced today..

Vining is a graduate of Wheaton College and the Fuller Theological Seminary. His sister, Ruth, is a student at Houghton College and his brother, Robert, a graduate of Houghton College, is now studying for the gospel ministry at the Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary.

The future pastor will be examined by the ordaining council during the afternoon session Tuesday which starts at 2:45. Ordination will follow during the evening service.

At least 13 Baptist churches from Connecticut, New Jersey and New York will have delegates present on the council.

Although only members of the council will be permitted a voice and vote during the meeting, the general public is invited to attend both the afternoon and evening services.

Hotel Theft

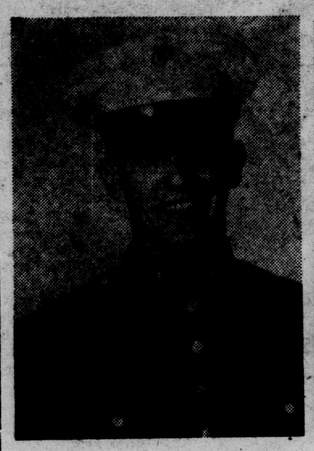

Lake Kiamesha, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—Gems valued at $75,000 were stolen from a jewelry counter in a hotel lobby here while the jeweler's attention was momentarily diverted from his "customers." The theft was reported by police yesterday. Jack Kornberg, a New York jeweler, who operates the jewelry concession in the Concord Hotel, told state police he discovered the theft Friday night after displaying jewelry to shoppers, supposedly guests at the Catskills resort hotel.

Injured in Dive

Norfolk, Va., July 9 (AP)—Edgard P. Mullon, 24, of Port Washington, New York, was critically injured Saturday night when he dived from a dock at the Cavalier Yacht and Country Club, Virginia Beach, into about two feet of water. Mullon was taken to the Virginia Beach Hospital where his condition is listed as critical. Mullon, a student, is the son of a Port Washington doctor, and was staying at the Breaker's Hotel, Virginia Beach.

Robert Merrill says:

"My throat gave me the answer to the mildness tests. My choice is Camels!"

AFTER ALL THE MILDNESS TESTS, CAMEL LEADS ALL OTHER BRANDS BY BILLIONS!

ACROSS the country, smokers have been eager to find out which cigarette best agrees with their throats. Like Robert Merrill, famed opera star, now making movies in Hollywood, they've made different mildness tests — quick tests, trick tests — and especially their own 30-day Camel tests.

After all the mildness tests, latest published figures show that Camel has its biggest lead in popularity in 25 years!

The reasons: mildness and flavor. No other cigarette has Camel's rich, full flavor, pack after pack.

And no other cigarette has this proof of mildness: In a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days, noted throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

FRAN WARREN, popular singing star, has chosen Camels because they taste so rich and they get along so well with her throat.

BUDDY ROGERS says, "My cigarette must agree with my throat — and Camels do just that. Camels are my steady smoke."

TEST CAMELS in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste). Smoke Camels for 30 days and see how mild and flavorful a cigarette can be!

According to a repeated nationwide survey of doctors in every branch of medicine—

More Doctors Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

Robert Merrill says:

"My throat gave me the answer to the mildness tests. My choice is Camels!"

AFTER ALL THE MILDNESS TESTS, CAMEL LEADS ALL OTHER BRANDS BY BILLIONS!

ACROSS the country, smokers have been eager to find out which cigarette best agrees with their throats. Like Robert Merrill, famed opera star, now making movies in Hollywood, they've made different mildness tests — quick tests, trick tests — and especially their own 30-day Camel tests.

After all the mildness tests, latest published figures show that Camel has its biggest lead in popularity in 25 years!

The reasons: mildness and flavor. No other cigarette has Camel's rich, full flavor, pack after pack.

And no other cigarette has this proof of mildness: In a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days, noted throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

FRAN WARREN, popular singing star, has chosen Camels because they taste so rich and they get along so well with her throat.

BUDDY ROGERS says, "My cigarette must agree with my throat — and Camels do just that. Camels are my steady smoke."

TEST CAMELS in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste). Smoke Camels for 30 days and see how mild and flavorful a cigarette can be!

According to a repeated nationwide survey of doctors in every branch of medicine—

THE TRIAL OF WILLIAM OATIS

Lecturer Frederic Snyder in a talk before the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs of this city urged the local service club to rally to the support of William N. Oatis, Associated Press correspondent in Prague, who has been sentenced to ten years imprisonment. He was "tried" on grounds of "espionage."

It was the re-enaction of a familiar drama in Czechoslovakia. The only difference this time is that the victim is an American newspaper reporter.

Failure of the religious forces of the world to act in unity in the recent imprisonment of Cardinal Mindszenty set the go ahead signals for the legalistic barbarisms visited upon Voegler and now Oatis, he asserted.

It is easy for the Communists in Czechoslovakia or any other Iron Curtain nation to allege espionage. The gathering of any information, however harmless, can be fitted for example into the broad Czech definition of spying. Reporters thus would be especially choice prey.

Having been a reporter and news analyst in foreign lands as well as in this country, Mr. Snyder knows how easy it is to become the victim of a newspaperman's duty to objective and truth in news reporting.

The officers and management of the Associated Press since his arrest have exerted every effort in his behalf and the association is receiving the wholehearted support of newspapers throughout the country.

These spy trials having gone on so long with such obviously false foundation, you may wonder why the Reds continue to stage them. They would have to be ridiculously naive at measuring world opinion to believe these affairs make any impression upon the West.

If they don't think the West takes the trials seriously, what purpose motivates them? Why single out a lad like Oatis and put a lot of gibberish in his mouth?

There is always the chance, naturally, that the Communists wish to irritate the western countries to the point where they will withdraw diplomatic and other observers who can tell the outside world about life behind the curtain. This move was often suspected in the Vogeler case in Hungary.

Yet the likelihood is that the fundamental objective does not concern us directly at all. The trials are probably meant largely for home consumption.

It is an axiom of dictatorship that the best way to retain stiff control over people at home is to arouse their fears of external aggression. Russia and her compulsory friends have always played it that way. Being caught in the Communist vise, lacking virtually all the ordinary comforts of 1951 industrial civilization, the hapless citizens of the Communist world have little to look forward to. But powerless as they are, they still are a source of worry to their leaders. No people will suffer indefinitely without reason.

Therefore the Kremlin finds it essential to fabricate the notion of a deep-eyed western "plot" against the defenseless Reds, who are so earnestly searching for "peace." Stalin's hope is that by convincing them they are ringed by active enemies, he can get his "subjects" to endure placidly their grinding poverty and lack of freedom.

The trials are an integral part of this strategy. They are the dramatic proof that the "plot" is real, that the danger from the West is immediate. What the West thinks about these little fantasies probably does not cause the Kremlin one moment's concern. They are a regular feature of the dictator's repertoire.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY

One good reason for remembering Judge Harold R. Medina of New York has not been generally disclosed. Though he tried the convicted Communists and has now been promoted to the Court of Appeals, his fame may well survive partly for an observation which he made before going on the bench.

This remark was to the effect that he did not give his wife a complete statement of his income. He said he wished to build up a fund for sending his children to college, and justified his secrecy with the remark, "Whatever your wife knows that you make, that is the amount you will spend." Will husband and wives generally confirm or deny the truth of this observation?

If those who try to keep up with the Joneses only knew it, the Joneses are merely trying to keep up with them.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

PEACE IS DIFFICULT

The problems of peace are always more complex than the problems of war. From the war between the states (1861-1865) until 1914, the United States was far from the problems of war. The slight Spanish-American War did not affect the economy of the nation or bring about social or political changes.

During the past 37 years, the problems of war have perturbed the American people and have, in reality, effected a severe economic, social and political revolution, the magnitude of which is not yet historically ascertainable. The fact remains that the fundamental economic measure of this revolution, the 16th Amendment to the Constitution, was adopted in 1913, almost as a prelude to events about to occur. This amendment gave Congress the power "to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census or enumeration."

In a word, it gave Congress the authority to levy an income tax on the individual citizen, which in turn came to be a tax to redistribute wealth, and is now a tax to siphon off the earnings of the people in pursuit of fiscal policies of the government.

Without the income tax, the corporation tax and similar measures, the government could not have financed three wars, World War I, World War II, and the continuing, unnamed war with Soviet Russia, of which the Korean war is a battle. It is this enormous revenue that permits close to a $100,000,000,000 budget, including vast and often profligate aid to other countries. But these taxes are also reducing the savings of the American people and are producing vast social changes, such as lowering the "white collar" class into a proletariat and the gradual elimination of the small businessman.

Thirty-seven years of war have also had the effect, to be redundant, of developing a needlessly vast federal bureaucracy, men and women often employed temporarily for war purposes, but whom the government will not dismiss either for political reasons or to avoid swelling the number of unemployed.

In line with these necessities, it has seemed to be advantageous to keep young men and women longer at school than they need to be and it has been necessary to subsidize, at times, idleness and unemployment. In a word, war has wrought many changes unimaginable to the citizen who looked upon the United States in any year from 1865 to 1913.

The most damaging result of war is the difficulty of achieving peace. In terms of history, World War I is still unsettled, for the central problem of Europe remains Germany, its political and economic structure and its place in the family of nations. As for World War II, there is not even a peace treaty to bespeak its terminus.

One major aim of World War I, as expressed by Woodrow Wilson, was the organization of a parliament of nations as an improvement upon the balance of power and the concert of Europe. The breakdown of the organization of the world even prior to 1914 was inevitable with the emergence of the United States, Germany and Japan as greater powers than Great Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and the Austro-Hungarian empire. In World War II, this was complicated by the emergence of Soviet Russia and her various satellite countries as the largest and strongest empire in the world.

The League of Nations could not have been anything but a transition from the tight concert of Europe to such a world as we see today. The United Nations has not yet proved itself in any respect, and only time or the next general war will determine its value. Meanwhile, a competent Federation of States exists and functions in the Soviet world, supported by Russian military force.

The effort to establish a peace as a result of the Korean truce is frightening to the countries outside the Russian orbit because the initiative is with Stalin and no one can even guess how he will use it. He can use it for war as well as peace. He can use it to prolong the "constant war," that is, the weakening of the economy of the United States so that the western powers will lack the strength, and even the will, to resist.

This is historically a time for caution and great wisdom. Russia plays not for permanent peace, but for a one world directed by the Kremlin.

That Body of Yours

CANCER OF THE BREAST

I have written before of the two women who postponed having lumps in the breast examined before taking a lengthy trip with their families, because they thought the lump might be cancer and the whole family disappointed about having to cancel their trip.

No one knows how much these women suffered in mind during the trip as they thought of the cancer and its terrible effects after they arrived home. When they were examined by a surgeon when they reached home he found that these lumps in the breast were simply enlarged milk glands, not cancer, and they had worried unnecessarily during all the months of their travel.

While they were fortunate in having an innocent lump in the breast, this is not the usual condition in a woman between forty and sixty. What we all should remember is that any lump in the breast may be cancer and it should not be a question of "wait and see" but "look and see."

In Modern Treatment Year Book, published by The Medical Press, London, England, Sir Stanford Cade, Surgeon to Westminster Hospital, London, states that the commonest site of cancer in women is the breast and accounts for 20 per cent of cancer deaths in women. And yet cancer of the breast is the most favorable of all sites for treatment with the exception of the skin. So favorable is it that the patient may live with it untreated for over three years. This is unfortunate in one sense, as the patient may get so used to the lump in her breast that she says nothing to her doctor about it until it spreads to glands in shoulder or neck. Dr. Cade says that these lives could be saved by early diagnosis and selection of the best method of treatment.

Some don'ts regarding breast cancer are:

1. Don't wait for nipple to be "drawn in," attached to tissues below, because this does not always occur.
2. Don't wait for skin changes about nipple.
3. Don't wait for adjoining glands to enlarge as this is often a sign that it is too late for any form of treatment.

Diagnosis, the right diagnosis, can be made in every case of breast cancer by biopsy—cutting out a small piece of the growth and examining it under the microscope.

God Is Not a Comrade

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Two groups of senators and congressmen lined up on opposite sides of the fence recently regarding one of the most vital issues in the nation—oil and education.

With the nation's schools in the most deplorable condition in our entire history, 18 members of the House of Representatives Judiciary Committee voted to turn the nation's tidelands oil over to three states and their oil companies, instead of using the proceeds for educational purposes.

On the other side of Congress, 11 senators introduced a resolution whereby the royalties from this oil, administered by the federal government, would go to aid the schools and colleges of the entire nation.

The first group—the 18 members of the judiciary committee—voted secretly, even behind the closed doors of their committee they tried to avoid a rollcall vote, and if it had not been for Congressman Michael Feighan of Ohio they would have sneaked their vote by without even a show of hands.

In the Senate, the 11 men who risked the wrath of the oil companies and the powerful Tidelands Oil lobby stood up and did so openly. They did not hide behind closed doors. Their names are: Lister Hill of Alabama, who initiated the idea; his Alabama colleague, John Sparkman; Wayne Morse of Oregon, Republican; Charles Tobey of New Hampshire, also Republican; and Democrats Benton of Connecticut, Douglas of Illinois, Humphrey of Minnesota, Chavez of New Mexico, Neely of West Virginia, Kefauver of Tennessee, and Hennings of Missouri.

Reversing the Supreme Court

What happened inside the House Judiciary Committee has not been published, but this column has obtained a list of the congressmen voting for the three states and the oil companies.

It should be noted that the Supreme Court twice has ruled that the submerged oil lands alongside the coast of the United States belong to the entire 48 states, not to California, Texas and Louisiana alone. This is on the theory that, under the Constitution, the navigable waters of the United States belong to the federal government, not the individual states.

However, the Tidelands Oil lobby, seeking to reverse the Supreme Court, has introduced legislation turning these submerged oil lands back to three states, and was so successful that President Truman used the veto.

The other day, in an attempt to reverse both the President and the court, Congressman Ed Gossett of Texas, who is about to retire from Congress, demanded that the judiciary committee vote again on the lobby's tidelands bill. No wildcat promoter ever worked faster to stake a drill site than did Gossett to get this special-interest bill through the committee. Gossett didn't even want to give other members time to read the committee hearings.

This brought stormy protests from Congressmen Celler of New York, Feighan of Ohio and Machrowicz of Michigan. But to no avail. Gossett had the votes and he was roaring for action.

"You can debate this on the House floor if you want to," insisted the Texas congressman. "Let's get to a vote."

"But how can we vote intelligently if we don't know what this is all about?" objected Michigan's Machrowicz. "There are eight new members on the committee and I'm one of them. You ought to give us a chance at least to read the hearings, which I understand are still at the printers."

"On a matter as vital as this, involving the release of public oil reserves to privte interests, we had better go slow," warned Ohio's Feighan. "This involves international as well as national security. With Russia threatening to grab control of the Iran oil fields, there is all the more reason why the federal government should keep control of these valuable deposits in our own country."

Gossett impatiently agreed to postpone a vote until the next morning. Meantime, the printed hearings were distributed a few hours before the showdown. Some members still insisted that they didn't have time to digest the 1,200 pages of testimony, but Gossett adamantly shouted "vote!"

Secret List of Voters

By this time, however, some of Gossett's supporters were beginning to get cold feet. They wanted to vote for the oil companies, but they didn't want to be so recorded, even in a secret meeting, because of possible leaks to the press. A motion was therefore made for a "voice" vote.

But Feighan jumped to his feet.

"We should at least have a show of hands, so we will know how many are voting for and against the bill," he demanded.

When this was done, Chairman Celler counted 18 members for handing tidelands oil back to three states, with 7 against it. Since a "hand," or division, vote is merely counted and not itemized member by member, there is no breakdown in the secret record of how each congressman votes. However, this column is able to report that the congressmen who voted to hand over the nation's tidelands oil to three states and the oil companies were:

Democrats: Walter of Pennsylvania, who has both Lafayette and Lehigh colleges in his district, but who placed the oil lobby ahead of his district; Jones of North Carolina, who has Davidson College, Queens College, Lenoir Rhyne College, Lees-McCrae College and Johnson C. Smith University, a Negro institution, all in his district; Chelf of Kentucky, who has Lindsey-Wilson and Campbellsville College in his district; Wilson of Texas; Willis of Louisiana; Bryson of South Carolina; Forrester of Georgia; and Gossett.

Republicans: Fellows of Maine, who has the University of Maine in his district; Reed of Illinois; Graham of Pennsylvania; Goodwin of Massachusetts, who has Tufts College in his district; Boggs of Delaware, who has the University of Delaware in his district; Crumpacker of Indiana, who has Notre Dame in his district; Thompson of Michigan; Hillings of California; McCullough of Ohio; and Bakewell of Missouri.

Those voting against the oil companies were: Cellar of New York; Lane of Massachusetts; Feighan of Ohio; Rodino of New Jersey (by proxy); Byrne of New York and Ramsay of West Virginia, all Democrats; and Case of New Jersey, Republican.

Two others present, Machrowicz of Michigan, Democrat, and Keating of New York, Republican, indicated opposition to the oil companies, but refused to vote because they weren't given time to study the hearings.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Loucks was appointed assessor for one year at a salary of $1,800 during the July meeting of the village board of trustees. This action brings to a conclusion a period of several months' discussion on the part of taxpayers and trustees as to the best and fairest methods of property assessment in the village. Various schemes were proposed and discarded; the hiring of a professional appraising firm was favored by some and the appointment of a three-man board, by others. In the meantime, the last board of assessors increased considerably the assessment valuations of most village properties.

At the recent organization meeting of the board of education Harold Butler was unanimously elected president after Ben Miller had withdrawn his name from the balloting. Butler, who has served two terms as president of the P-TA is employed at the Napanoch Institution. Ben Miller was re-elected vice president, defeating Henry L. Schipp. Mrs. Marian F. Hart was reappointed unanimously by the board as clerk at a salary of $3,000 a year, Harold Booth as treasurer at a salary of $750 a year, Mrs. Thelma Mason as attendance officer at a salary of $400 a year and Frederick R. Van Keuren to write the tax book for a fee of $100. Harry Rieger was appointed auditor for a fee of $100. Mrs. Marguerite Gonder was reappointed tax collector. The collector's fee is $400. The First National Bank was designated as its repository for the coming year.

The WCTU held its annual meeting Thursday night at Hunt Memorial Hall and reelected last year's officers to serve for another year. They include Mrs. Fred Craft, president; Miss Katharine Meier, vice-president; Mrs. John Unverzagt, recording secretary; Mrs. Ernest Sherman, treasurer; Mrs. James Lewis, assistant treasurer. Mrs. Carrie Lauber was appointed assistant corresponding secretary. Mrs. Unverzagt, Miss Newkirk and Mrs. Lewis were appointed to the auditing committee.

The senior and junior tennis tournaments which have been so successful will be held again this year as part of the summer recreation program. Registration for players will begin July 9. The junior contest will be for girls and boys up to and including 14 years of age. The senior group will be for those from 14 years up. Entries can be filed with Coach Roberts at the swimming pool.

Registration for both the Maple avenue and Pine Grove school playgrounds will take place from 9 to 11, Monday, July 9. Children will again have the opportunity to work with plastics, crayon, finger painting, weaving and sewing, in addition to games, music and drama. Miss Adele Eckstien will be in charge at the Maple avenue playground and Mrs. Regina Craft at the Pine Grove.

On Thursday night the Woodbourne Reformed Church, July 12, will sponsor an organ recital given by John B. Terwilliger of Ellenville. Mr. Terwilliger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Terwilliger of this village, is a senior at Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J. He held the position of organist and choirmaster at the Baptist Church in Pitman, N. J. last year. His program will include both religious and classical compositions.

Mrs. Dorothy Schoonmaker of Poughkeepsie, formerly of this village and employed with the Kolmar Laboratories, underwent an operation at the Veteran Memorial Hospital Monday.

Mrs. Leslie Lenfest and family of Washington, D. C., are guests of her mother, Mrs. Betrice Grant, at her home on Market street.

Miss Katharine Taylor returned Monday to her position with the Ulster Motors after several weeks of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Nial Moshier are visiting their son, Douglas Moshier, and family at Wilmington, Del. On their return they will be accompanied by their grandson, Scott, who will spend the summer here.

Three members of the Wayside winners were among the winners in the Womens Bowlers State tournament at Binghamton, recently.

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles W. Garrett and daughter left Friday for Washington, D. C., where they will spend a month's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rose are enjoying a visit at Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Elsie Prokoby, who is employed in New York, is spending her vacation at her home here, and with her daughter, Miss Wanda Prokoby, at Narrowsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Kilner of Daytona Beach, Fla., have arrived to spend the summer at their cottage at the Cape.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Canner of Upper Darby, Pa., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Benton and the Misses Jennie and Ada McKinley at their home on Warren street.

Sixty members and guests of the Ellenville Methodist Men's Club attended a dinner at the Trowbridge Farm in Kyserike, Thursday night.

Miss Jean Tice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tice, is a summer student at St. Lawrence University.

Hobert Goldsmith and daughter, Miss Lorraine Goldsmith, rode in the events of the G. and M. Riding Club, of which they are members, Saturday, at Goshen, taking part in the ceremony at the Hall of Fame of the Trotter.

William Coopinger of Philadelphia, Pa., former resident of Ellenville, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ludlow, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Rose and daughter, Margaret, and Mrs. William Densmore, left Saturday to visit Mr. Rose's relatives in Kentucky.

Miss Leonore Silverman spent Tuesday and Wednesday with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Miller. Miss Silverman expects to leave this week-end for a motor trip to California and while there will visit her brother, Myron, in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haswell and three children of Ligonier, Pa., are visiting Mrs. Haswell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Potter.

The directors of the Cragsmoor Community Properties held open house for all the Cragsmoor residents to meet the players of the Cragsmoor Theatre last Sunday afternoon at the Theatre Restaurant.

Guests at the Cragsmoor Inn includes Miss Fanny Gregory, Miss Bertha Gregory, Miss Lillian Fonda, Miss Emily Hill, Miss Charlotta Nicoll and Mr. and Mrs. Candler.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. de Langley of Cragsmoor for the last two week-ends included Mrs. Ira Barrows and daughter, Miss Florence Raymond of New York, Captain Alexander Tchimorine of Montreal, Canada, and Mr. and Mrs. Ruffin de Langley of New York.

The Cragsmoor Library is now open every morning from 9 to 1 o'clock. Mrs. Sarah Beckert of Wilmington, Del., is the librarian for the summer.

Although the streets of the village and the country roads seemed to be full of cars, it is reported that July 4 resort business was far below that of last year. Many bungalow colonies and hotels did not have their usual quota of guests, but it is expected that the coming week-end will see more satisfactory conditions in this area.

Q—Is there any metal lighter than aluminum?

A—Several, the lightest of which is lithium, about five times lighter than aluminum. However, like sodium, potassium and calcium, which are also lighter than aluminum, it is so active chemically that it cannot be left exposed to the air. Of metals that can be so exposed, beryllium and magnesium are both lighter than aluminum.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, JULY 9, 1951

THE TRIAL OF WILLIAM OATIS

Lecturer Frederic Snyder in a talk before the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs of this city urged the local service club to rally to the support of William N. Oatis, Associated Press correspondent in Prague, who has been sentenced to ten years imprisonment. He was "tried" on grounds of "espionage."

It was the re-enaction of a familiar drama in Czechoslovakia. The only difference this time is that the victim is an American newspaper reporter.

Failure of the religious forces of the world to act in unity in the recent imprisonment of Cardinal Mindszenty set the go ahead signals for the legalistic barbarisms visited upon Voegler and now Oatis, he asserted.

It is easy for the Communists in Czechoslovakia or any other Iron Curtain nation to allege espionage. The gathering of any information, however harmless, can be fitted for example into the broad Czech definition of spying. Reporters thus would be especially choice prey.

Having been a reporter and news analyst in foreign lands as well as in this country, Mr. Snyder knows how easy it is to become the victim of a newspaperman's duty to objective and truth in news reporting.

The officers and management of the Associated Press since his arrest have exerted every effort in his behalf and the association is receiving the wholehearted support of newspapers throughout the country.

These spy trials having gone on so long with such obviously false foundation, you may wonder why the Reds continue to stage them. They would have to be ridiculously naive at measuring world opinion to believe these affairs make any impression upon the West.

If they don't think the West takes the trials seriously, what purpose motivates them? Why single out a lad like Oatis and put a lot of gibberish in his mouth?

There is always the chance, naturally, that the Communists wish to irritate the western countries to the point where they will withdraw diplomatic and other observers who can tell the outside world about life behind the curtain. This move was often suspected in the Vogeler case in Hungary.

Yet the likelihood is that the fundamental objective does not concern us directly at all. The trials are probably meant largely for home consumption.

It is an axiom of dictatorship that the best way to retain stiff control over people at home is to arouse their fears of external aggression. Russia and her compulsory friends have always played it that way. Being caught in the Communist vise, lacking virtually all the ordinary comforts of 1951 industrial civilization, the hapless citizens of the Communist world have little to look forward to. But powerless as they are, they still are a source of worry to their leaders. No people will suffer indefinitely without reason.

Therefore the Kremlin finds it essential to fabricate the notion of a deep-eyed western "plot" against the defenseless Reds, who are so earnestly searching for "peace." Stalin's hope is that by convincing them they are ringed by active enemies, he can get his "subjects" to endure placidly their grinding poverty and lack of freedom.

The trials are an integral part of this strategy. They are the dramatic proof that the "plot" is real, that the danger from the West is immediate. What the West thinks about these little fantasies probably does not cause the Kremlin one moment's concern. They are a regular feature of the dictator's repertoire.

HOW TO SAVE MONEY

One good reason for remembering Judge Harold R. Medina of New York has not been generally disclosed. Though he tried the convicted Communists and has now been promoted to the Court of Appeals, his fame may well survive partly for an observation which he made before going on the bench.

This remark was to the effect that he did not give his wife a complete statement of his income. He said he wished to build up a fund for sending his children to college, and justified his secrecy with the remark, "Whatever your wife knows that you make, that is the amount you will spend." Will husband and wives generally confirm or deny the truth of this observation?

If those who try to keep up with the Joneses only knew it, the Joneses are merely trying to keep up with them.

'These Days'

PEACE IS DIFFICULT

The problems of peace are always more complex than the problems of war. From the war between the states (1861-1865) until 1914, the United States was far from the problems of war. The slight Spanish-American War did not affect the economy of the nation or bring about social or political changes.

During the past 37 years, the problems of war have perturbed the American people and have, in reality, effected a severe economic, social and political revolution, the magnitude of which is not yet historically ascertainable. The fact remains that the fundamental economic measure of this revolution, the 16th Amendment to the Constitution, was adopted in 1913, almost as a prelude to events about to occur. This amendment gave Congress the power "to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states, and without regard to any census or enumeration."

In a word, it gave Congress the authority to levy an income tax on the individual citizen, which in turn came to be a tax to redistribute wealth, and is now a tax to siphon off the earnings of the people in pursuit of fiscal policies of the government.

Without the income tax, the corporation tax and similar measures, the government could not have financed three wars, World War I, World War II, and the continuing, unnamed war with Soviet Russia, of which the Korean war is a battle. It is this enormous revenue that permits close to a $100,000,000,000 budget, including vast and often profligate aid to other countries. But these taxes are also reducing the savings of the American people and are producing vast social changes, such as lowering the "white collar" class into a proletariat and the gradual elimination of the small businessman.

Thirty-seven years of war have also had the effect, to be redundant, of developing a needlessly vast federal bureaucracy, men and women often employed temporarily for war purposes, but whom the government will not dismiss either for political reasons or to avoid swelling the number of unemployed.

In line with these necessities, it has seemed to be advantageous to keep young men and women longer at school than they need to be and it has been necessary to subsidize, at times, idleness and unemployment. In a word, war has wrought many changes unimaginable to the citizen who looked upon the United States in any year from 1865 to 1913.

The most damaging result of war is the difficulty of achieving peace. In terms of history, World War I is still unsettled, for the central problem of Europe remains Germany, its political and economic structure and its place in the family of nations. As for World War II, there is not even a peace treaty to bespeak its terminus.

One major aim of World War I, as expressed by Woodrow Wilson, was the organization of a parliament of nations as an improvement upon the balance of power and the concert of Europe. The breakdown of the organization of the world even prior to 1914 was inevitable with the emergence of the United States, Germany and Japan as greater powers than Great Britain, France, Holland, Belgium and the Austro-Hungarian empire. In World War II, this was complicated by the emergence of Soviet Russia and her various satellite countries as the largest and strongest empire in the world.

The League of Nations could not have been anything but a transition from the tight concert of Europe to such a world as we see today. The United Nations has not yet proved itself in any respect, and only time or the next general war will determine its value. Meanwhile, a competent Federation of States exists and functions in the Soviet world, supported by Russian military force.

The effort to establish a peace as a result of the Korean truce is frightening to the countries outside the Russian orbit because the initiative is with Stalin and no one can even guess how he will use it. He can use it for war as well as peace. He can use it to prolong the "constant war," that is, the weakening of the economy of the United States so that the western powers will lack the strength, and even the will, to resist.

This is historically a time for caution and great wisdom. Russia plays not for permanent peace, but for a one world directed by the Kremlin.

CANCER OF THE BREAST

I have written before of the two women who postponed having lumps in the breast examined before taking a lengthy trip with their families, because they thought the lump might be cancer and the whole family disappointed about having to cancel their trip.

No one knows how much these women suffered in mind during the trip as they thought of the cancer and its terrible effects after they arrived home. When they were examined by a surgeon when they reached home he found that these lumps in the breast were simply enlarged milk glands, not cancer, and they had worried unnecessarily during all the months of their travel.

While they were fortunate in having an innocent lump in the breast, this is not the usual condition in a woman between forty and sixty. What we all should remember is that any lump in the breast may be cancer and it should not be a question of "wait and see" but "look and see."

In Modern Treatment Year Book, published by The Medical Press, London, England, Sir Stanford Cade, Surgeon to Westminster Hospital, London, states that the commonest site of cancer in women is the breast and accounts for 20 per cent of cancer deaths in women. And yet cancer of the breast is the most favorable of all sites for treatment with the exception of the skin. So favorable is it that the patient may live with it untreated for over three years. This is unfortunate in one sense, as the patient may get so used to the lump in her breast that she says nothing to her doctor about it until it spreads to glands in shoulder or neck. Dr. Cade says that these lives could be saved by early diagnosis and selection of the best method of treatment.

Some don'ts regarding breast cancer are:

1. Don't wait for nipple to be "drawn in," attached to tissues below, because this does not always occur.
2. Don't wait for skin changes about nipple.
3. Don't wait for adjoining glands to enlarge as this is often a sign that it is too late for any form of treatment.

Diagnosis, the right diagnosis, can be made in every case of breast cancer by biopsy—cutting out a small piece of the growth and examining it under the microscope.

God Is Not a Comrade

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — Two groups of senators and congressmen lined up on opposite sides of the fence recently regarding one of the most vital issues in the nation—oil and education.

With the nation's schools in the most deplorable condition in our entire history, 18 members of the House of Representatives Judiciary Committee voted to turn the nation's tidelands oil over to three states and their oil companies, instead of using the proceeds for educational purposes.

On the other side of Congress, 11 senators introduced a resolution whereby the royalties from this oil, administered by the federal government, would go to aid the schools and colleges of the entire nation.

The first group—the 18 members of the judiciary committee—voted secretly, even behind the closed doors of their committee they tried to avoid a rollcall vote, and if it had not been for Congressman Michael Feighan of Ohio they would have sneaked their vote by without even a show of hands.

In the Senate, the 11 men who risked the wrath of the oil companies and the powerful Tidelands Oil lobby stood up and did so openly. They did not hide behind closed doors. Their names are: Lister Hill of Alabama, who initiated the idea; his Alabama colleague, John Sparkman; Wayne Morse of Oregon, Republican; Charles Tobey of New Hampshire, also Republican; and Democrats Benton of Connecticut, Douglas of Illinois, Humphrey of Minnesota, Chavez of New Mexico, Neely of West Virginia, Kefauver of Tennessee, and Hennings of Missouri.

Reversing the Supreme Court

What happened inside the House Judiciary Committee has not been published, but this column has obtained a list of the congressmen voting for the three states and the oil companies.

It should be noted that the Supreme Court twice has ruled that the submerged oil lands alongside the coast of the United States belong to the entire 48 states, not to California, Texas and Louisiana alone. This is on the theory that, under the Constitution, the navigable waters of the United States belong to the federal government, not the individual states.

However, the Tidelands Oil lobby, seeking to reverse the Supreme Court, has introduced legislation turning these submerged oil lands back to three states, and was so successful that President Truman used the veto.

The other day, in an attempt to reverse both the President and the court, Congressman Ed Gossett of Texas, who is about to retire from Congress, demanded that the judiciary committee vote again on the lobby's tidelands bill. No wildcat promoter ever worked faster to stake a drill site than did Gossett to get this special-interest bill through the committee. Gossett didn't even want to give other members time to read the committee hearings.

This brought stormy protests from Congressmen Celler of New York, Feighan of Ohio and Machrowicz of Michigan. But to no avail. Gossett had the votes and he was roaring for action.

"You can debate this on the House floor if you want to," insisted the Texas congressman. "Let's get to a vote."

"But how can we vote intelligently if we don't know what this is all about?" objected Michigan's Machrowicz. "There are eight new members on the committee and I'm one of them. You ought to give us a chance at least to read the hearings, which I understand are still at the printers."

"On a matter as vital as this, involving the release of public oil reserves to privte interests, we had better go slow," warned Ohio's Feighan. "This involves international as well as national security. With Russia threatening to grab control of the Iran oil fields, there is all the more reason why the federal government should keep control of these valuable deposits in our own country."

Gossett impatiently agreed to postpone a vote until the next morning. Meantime, the printed hearings were distributed a few hours before the showdown. Some members still insisted that they didn't have time to digest the 1,200 pages of testimony, but Gossett adamantly shouted "vote!"

Secret List of Voters

By this time, however, some of Gossett's supporters were beginning to get cold feet. They wanted to vote for the oil companies, but they didn't want to be so recorded, even in a secret meeting, because of possible leaks to the press. A motion was therefore made for a "voice" vote.

But Feighan jumped to his feet. "We should at least have a show of hands, so we will know how many are voting for and against the bill," he demanded.

When this was done, Chairman Celler counted 18 members for handing tidelands oil back to three states, with 7 against it. Since a "hand," or division, vote is merely counted and not itemized member by member, there is no breakdown in the secret record of how each congressman votes. However, this column is able to report that the congressmen who voted to hand over the nation's tidelands oil to three states and the oil companies were:

Democrats: Walter of Pennsylvania, who has both Lafayette and Lehigh colleges in his district, but who placed the oil lobby ahead of his district; Jones of North Carolina, who has Davidson College, Queens College, Lenoir Rhyne College, Lees-McCrae College and Johnson C. Smith University, a Negro institution, all in his district; Chelf of Kentucky, who has Lindsey-Wilson and Campbellsville College in his district; Wilson of Texas; Willis of Louisiana; Bryson of South Carolina; Forrester of Georgia; and Gossett.

Republicans: Fellows of Maine, who has the University of Maine in his district; Reed of Illinois; Graham of Pennsylvania; Goodwin of Massachusetts, who has Tufts College in his district; Boggs of Delaware, who has the University of Delaware in his district; Crumpacker of Indiana, who has Notre Dame in his district; Thompson of Michigan; Hillings of California; McCullough of Ohio; and Bakewell of Missouri.

Those voting against the oil companies were: Cellar of New York; Lane of Massachusetts; Feighan of Ohio; Rodino of New Jersey (by proxy); Byrne of New York and Ramsay of West Virginia, all Democrats; and Case of New Jersey, Republican.

Two others present, Machrowicz of Michigan, Democrat, and Keating of New York, Republican, indicated opposition to the oil companies, but refused to vote because they weren't given time to study the hearings.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Loucks was appointed assessor for one year at a salary of $1,800 during the July meeting of the village board of trustees. This action brings to a conclusion a period of several months' discussion on the part of taxpayers and trustees as to the best and fairest methods of property assessment in the village. Various schemes were proposed and discarded; the hiring of a professional appraising firm was favored by some and the appointment of a three-man board, by others. In the meantime, the last board of assessors increased considerably the assessment valuations of most village properties.

At the recent organization meeting of the board of education Harold Butler was unanimously elected president after Ben Miller had withdrawn his name from the balloting. Butler, who has served two terms as president of the P-TA is employed at the Napanoch Institution. Ben Miller was re-elected vice president, defeating Henry L. Schipp. Mrs. Marian F. Hart was reappointed unanimously by the board as clerk at a salary of $3,000 a year, Harold Booth as treasurer at a salary of $750 a year, Mrs. Thelma Mason as attendance officer at a salary of $400 a year and Frederick R. Van Keuren to write the tax book for a fee of $100. Harry Rieger was appointed auditor for a fee of $100. Mrs. Marguerite Gonder was reappointed tax collector. The collector's fee is $400. The First National Bank was designated as its repository for the coming year.

The WCTU held its annual meeting Thursday night at Hunt Memorial Hall and reelected last year's officers to serve for another year. They include Mrs. Fred Craft, president; Miss Katharine Meier, vice-president; Mrs. John Unverzagt, recording secretary; Mrs. Ernest Sherman, treasurer; Mrs. James Lewis, assistant treasurer. Mrs. Carrie Lauber was appointed assistant corresponding secretary. Mrs. Unverzagt, Miss Newkirk and Mrs. Lewis were appointed to the auditing committee.

The senior and junior tennis tournaments which have been so successful will be held again this year as part of the summer recreation program. Registration for players will begin July 9. The junior contest will be for girls and boys up to and including 14 years of age. The senior group will be for those from 14 years up. Entries can be filed with Coach Roberts at the swimming pool.

Registration for both the Maple avenue and Pine Grove school playgrounds will take place from 9 to 11, Monday, July 9. Children will again have the opportunity to work with plastics, crayon, finger painting, weaving and sewing, in addition to games, music and drama. Miss Adele Eckstien will be in charge at the Maple avenue playground and Mrs. Regina Craft at the Pine Grove.

On Thursday night the Woodbourne Reformed Church, July 12, will sponsor an organ recital given by John B. Terwilliger of Ellenville. Mr. Terwilliger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben H. Terwilliger of this village, is a senior at Westminster Choir College, Princeton, N. J. He held the position of organist and choirmaster at the Baptist Church in Pitman, N. J. last year. His program will include both religious and classical compositions.

Mrs. Dorothy Schoonmaker of Poughkeepsie, formerly of this village and employed with the Kolmar Laboratories, underwent an operation at the Veteran Memorial Hospital Monday.

Mrs. Leslie Lenfest and family of Washington, D. C., are guests of her mother, Mrs. Betrice Grant, at her home on Market street.

Miss Katharine Taylor returned Monday to her position with the Ulster Motors after several weeks of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Nial Moshier are visiting their son, Douglas Moshier, and family at Wilmington, Del. On their return they will be accompanied by their grandson, Scott, who will spend the summer here.

Three members of the Wayside winners were among the winners in the Womens Bowlers State tournament at Binghamton, recently.

The Rev. and Mrs. Charles W. Garrett and daughter left Friday for Washington, D. C., where they will spend a month's vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rose are enjoying a visit at Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Elsie Prokoby, who is employed in New York, is spending her vacation at her home here, and with her daughter, Miss Wanda Prokoby, at Narrowsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. William F. Kilner of Daytona Beach, Fla., have arrived to spend the summer at their cottage at the Cape.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Canner of Upper Darby, Pa., have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Benton and the Misses Jennie and Ada McKinley at their home on Warren street.

Sixty members and guests of the Ellenville Methodist Men's Club attended a dinner at the Trowbridge Farm in Kyserike, Thursday night.

Miss Jean Tice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Tice, is a summer student at St. Lawrence University.

Hobert Goldsmith and daughter, Miss Lorraine Goldsmith, rode in the events of the G. and M. Riding Club, of which they are members, Saturday, at Goshen, taking part in the ceremony at the Hall of Fame of the Trotter.

William Coopinger of Philadelphia, Pa., former resident of Ellenville, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ludlow, Sr.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Rose and daughter, Margaret, and Mrs. William Densmore, left Saturday to visit Mr. Rose's relatives in Kentucky.

Miss Leonore Silverman spent Tuesday and Wednesday with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Miller. Miss Silverman expects to leave this week-end for a motor trip to California and while there will visit her brother, Myron, in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Haswell and three children of Ligonier, Pa., are visiting Mrs. Haswell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Potter.

The directors of the Cragsmoor Community Properties held open house for all the Cragsmoor residents to meet the players of the Cragsmoor Theatre last Sunday afternoon at the Theatre Restaurant.

Guests at the Cragsmoor Inn includes Miss Fanny Gregory, Miss Bertha Gregory, Miss Lillian Fonda, Miss Emily Hill, Miss Charlotta Nicoll and Mr. and Mrs. Candler.

House guests of Mr. and Mrs. de Langley of Cragsmoor for the last two week-ends included Mrs. Ira Barrows and daughter, Miss Florence Raymond of New York, Captain Alexander Tchimorine of Montreal, Canada, and Mr. and Mrs. Ruffin de Langley of New York.

The Cragsmoor Library is now open every morning from 9 to 1 o'clock. Mrs. Sarah Beckert of Wilmington, Del., is the librarian for the summer.

Although the streets of the village and the country roads seemed to be full of cars, it is reported that July 4 resort business was far below that of last year. Many bungalow colonies and hotels did not have their usual quota of guests, but it is expected that the coming week-end will see more satisfactory conditions in this area.

Questions — Answers

Q—Is there any metal lighter than aluminum?

A—Several, the lightest of which is lithium, about five times lighter than aluminum. However, like sodium, potassium and calcium, which are also lighter than aluminum, it is so active chemically that it cannot be left exposed to the air. Of metals that can be so exposed, beryllium and magnesium are both lighter than aluminum.

An Ode to a Pole

By FRANK TRIPP

There is a pole outside our Summer place that we once felt very unkindly toward. If I had dared to do it there was a time when I would have cut it down. Then we discovered that it is possible to acquire a friendly feeling even for a pole.

Any direction one looks from Fanny's wonderful flower garden the view is something like Eden must have been, except that toward the quaint road that winds down the hill. That is where the pole stands.

It is just outside our wall and it rises into the aged elms and beautiful maples that were there long before it came. I don't know why it is, with so many other ways to look and such wondrous things to see, that I never fail to look toward the pole.

Since we've come to admit that it has to be somewhere, there is no better place than where it stands. The road is at the back of the house, which faces Seneca, and Fanny has bordered every side of lawn with flowers that I can't name and don't understand except to know that they're her heart's delight and are beautiful.

Along the roadside wall where the pole stands there are thickly woven trees and vines; forsythia, viburnum, euonymus, dogwood, weigela, syringa, lilac. They seem to resent the pole too, and strive to grow to hide it, but there's no chance, for the pole towers above them with a background of green hills and wild flowers that would delight an artist's eye.

THERE IT STANDS amid as glorious a scene as nature ever painted. In spite of the pole man's effort to keep it neat, in comparison to its surroundings, it is an ugly thing. There are six cross arms, some dozen electric and telephone wires and a sizeable transformer at its top.

How we came to feel more kindly toward the intruder came about through realization of what we'd do if it wasn't there. It was an interesting muse that brought us to our senses and conclusion that the pole is the reason that we live six months of the year in one of God's garden spots, away from city hum, bustle, heat and gas fumes.

Before the pole came, back in 1841 when our house was built, the sturdy pioneers who lived there had the same deep well of pure cold water that we have now. They had a pump in the kitchen sink, which was pretty modern, for most pumps then were out in the yard.

They heated their water over a wood fire in the kitchen range; after they had gone to the woods, brought in the logs and cut the firewood. They bathed Saturday nights in a washtub, moved into the kitchen: hustled upstairs to a frigid room, crawled into a deep feather bed under two feet of heavy crazy quilts and were warm by morning.

Our water, fuel, baths, refrigeration and telephone come off that ugly pole. It pumps our water and delivers it to a dozen spots all over the place. It heats it to any temperature we like and sends it to our lavatories, showers, electric diswasher and Bendix. It sends heat to electric blankets on our beds. It runs our oil burner, ironer, deep freeze, the tools in my shop, even our clocks.

WHERE THE old ice house stood is a pretty flower bed. The refrigeration that the pioneers cut from frozen ponds and stored in sawdust flows through those wires that we used to wish were not there. So do messages and doctor's calls.

We found the old kerosene drum in the cellar and some lamps and oil lanterns. The time once spent cleaning, trimming and filling them, we spend lamenting that the pole is there. All the light we want, anywhere we want it, comes off that pole. I'll bet we'd bellyache more about an unsightly woodpile than we do about the pole; for we not only have no woodpile, we haven't even a back yard.

It's all lawn and flower beds now. All on account of the pole. But for the pole there'd be an ice house, a woodpile, an ash heap. There'd be wash tubs hanging on the back porch. There'd be a Chic Sale and a path down which to wander with a lantern of a chilly night—and we'd have a houseful of rheumatics.

No we wouldn't, 'cause but for that pole we wouldn't be there. We couldn't take it like our fathers did.

So now we can go out and look at the pole and it doesn't seem ugly at all, when we think of all the comfort and convenience that comes off of it, contemplate the more unsightly things that it replaced, the ease and hours to complain that it brings us.

Just let somebody try to harm that pole.

Aircraft Engines To Be Displayed In Exhibit Here

Two modern aircraft engines will be included in the air force displays to be presented at the Academy Green Wednesday from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. Both power plants have been cut away to reveal their internal functioning parts, Kenneth Pratt, of the Civil Air Patrol Squadron said today. The Kingston Chamber of Commerce, co-sponsors of the exhibit, invites the public to attend.

Mounted in a special van for easy spectator access will be a J-35 Allison jet engine and an R-2800 Pratt and Whitney conventional type. One side of both has been cut away to show construction and operation principles. Trained technicians will be on hand to explain both of the power units.

The 2,425 pound J-35 jet is 145 inches long and has a diameter of 40 inches. Late models of this engine produce 5,000 pounds of thrust, one pound of thrust being equal to one horsepower at a speed of 375 miles per hour and over. The engine produces a tailpipe temperature of 1,250 degrees and normally operates for 200 to 250 hours between overhauls. It is used to power F-84 Thunderjet fighters, F-89 twin-jet, all-weather fighters, the RB-35 flying wing and several new experimental jet bombers.

The R-2800 is a 2,400 horsepower engine which used two banks of nine cylinders each. The aircooled power plant is used in the F-47 fighter, T-29 trainer, C-46 and C-82 transports and the B-26 light bomber. It weighs 2,350 pounds.

Today's hand was very hard to bid properly. Five diamonds would have been a somewhat easier contract to make, but four hearts wasn't bad even though the trump suit was fairly short. It's all right to get to game with only seven trumps in the combined hands provided that you know how to manage the trumps prudently.

When the hand was played, dummy won the first trick with the jack of spades. Declarer next laid down the ace and king of trumps, after which he led the nine of diamonds and let it ride to East's king.

East returned the queen of clubs, forcing out dummy's ace. Decarer then decided that he could afford to lead out another round of trumps as long as the diamonds had turned out so well. This was a fatal mistake.

After winning the third round of trumps with the queen, South went back to the diamonds, East ruffed the last diamond and led another club, thus forcing out declarer's last trump.

At this point South had lost a diamond and a trump, with the spades still to be developed. When declarer went after the spades West could take his king of spades and lead his last club to set the contract.

There were actually five or six perfectly sound ways to play the hand, but drawing a third round of trump was not part of any of them. South could have given up one spade trick as though West held the ace rather than the king. Or South could have led the queen of spades from dummy to win his ace and ruff a spade with dummy's third trump.

The right lines of play all had one feature in common; South had to draw only two rounds of trumps and then develop the other suits. He could afford to draw a third trump only after all his tricks had been set up.

Buddhist Arrives

New York, July 9 (AP)—The 29-year-old elder brother of the Dalai Lama of Tibet has arrived in the United States for a six-month visit to study English and receive medical treatment for rheumatism. The Buddhist monk, Lama Taktser Rimpoche, arrived here by plane from London yesterday. He will leave in several days for San Francisco and is expected to attend the University of California.

An Ode to a Pole

By FRANK TRIPP

There is a pole outside our Summer place that we once felt very unkindly toward. If I had dared to do it there was a time when I would have cut it down. Then we discovered that it is possible to acquire a friendly feeling even for a pole.

Any direction one looks from Fanny's wonderful flower garden the view is something like Eden must have been, except that toward the quaint road that winds down the hill. That is where the pole stands.

It is just outside our wall and it rises into the aged elms and beautiful maples that were there long before it came. I don't know why it is, with so many other ways to look and such wondrous things to see, that I never fail to look toward the pole.

Since we've come to admit that it has to be somewhere, there is no better place than where it stands. The road is at the back of the house, which faces Seneca, and Fanny has bordered every side of lawn with flowers that I can't name and don't understand except to know that they're her heart's delight and are beautiful.

Along the roadside wall where the pole stands there are thickly woven trees and vines; forsythia, viburnum, euonymus, dogwood, weigela, syringa, lilac. They seem to resent the pole too, and strive to grow to hide it, but there's no chance, for the pole towers above them with a background of green hills and wild flowers that would delight an artist's eye.

THERE IT STANDS amid as glorious a scene as nature ever painted. In spite of the pole man's effort to keep it neat, in comparison to its surroundings, it is an ugly thing. There are six cross arms, some dozen electric and telephone wires and a sizeable transformer at its top.

How we came to feel more kindly toward the intruder came about through realization of what we'd do if it wasn't there. It was an interesting muse that brought us to our senses and conclusion that the pole is the reason that we live six months of the year in one of God's garden spots, away from city hum, bustle, heat and gas fumes.

Before the pole came, back in 1841 when our house was built, the sturdy pioneers who lived there had the same deep well of pure cold water that we have now. They had a pump in the kitchen sink, which was pretty modern, for most pumps then were out in the yard.

They heated their water over a wood fire in the kitchen range; after they had gone to the woods, brought in the logs and cut the firewood. They bathed Saturday nights in a washtub, moved into the kitchen: hustled upstairs to a frigid room, crawled into a deep feather bed under two feet of heavy crazy quilts and were warm by morning.

Our water, fuel, baths, refrigeration and telephone come off that ugly pole. It pumps our water and delivers it to a dozen spots all over the place. It heats it to any temperature we like and sends it to our lavatories, showers, electric diswasher and Bendix. It sends heat to electric blankets on our beds. It runs our oil burner, ironer, deep freeze, the tools in my shop, even our clocks.

WHERE THE old ice house stood is a pretty flower bed. The refrigeration that the pioneers cut from frozen ponds and stored in sawdust flows through those wires that we used to wish were not there. So do messages and doctor's calls.

We found the old kerosene drum in the cellar and some lamps and oil lanterns. The time once spent cleaning, trimming and filling them, we spend lamenting that the pole is there. All the light we want, anywhere we want it, comes off that pole. I'll bet we'd bellyache more about an unsightly woodpile than we do about the pole; for we not only have no woodpile, we haven't even a back yard.

It's all lawn and flower beds now. All on account of the pole. But for the pole there'd be an ice house, a woodpile, an ash heap. There'd be wash tubs hanging on the back porch. There'd be a Chic Sale and a path down which to wander with a lantern of a chilly night—and we'd have a houseful of rheumatics.

No we wouldn't, 'cause but for that pole we wouldn't be there. We couldn't take it like our fathers did.

So now we can go out and look at the pole and it doesn't seem ugly at all, when we think of all the comfort and convenience that comes off of it, contemplate the more unsightly things that it replaced, the ease and hours to complain that it brings us.

Just let somebody try to harm that pole.

The Polonaise

The polonaise, a stately dance, probably was originated in 1573 to honor the election of Henry, duke of Anjour to the throne of Poland.

Aircraft Engines To Be Displayed In Exhibit Here

Two modern aircraft engines will be included in the air force displays to be presented at the Academy Green Wednesday from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. Both power plants have been cut away to reveal their internal functioning parts, Kenneth Pratt, of the Civil Air Patrol Squadron said today. The Kingston Chamber of Commerce, co-sponsors of the exhibit, invites the public to attend.

Mounted in a special van for easy spectator access will be a J-35 Allison jet engine and an R-2800 Pratt and Whitney conventional type. One side of both has been cut away to show construction and operation principles. Trained technicians will be on hand to explain both of the power units.

The 2,425 pound J-35 jet is 145 inches long and has a diameter of 40 inches. Late models of this engine produce 5,000 pounds of thrust, one pound of thrust being equal to one horsepower at a speed of 375 miles per hour and over. The engine produces a tailpipe temperature of 1,250 degrees and normally operates for 200 to 250 hours between overhauls. It is used to power F-84 Thunderjet fighters, F-89 twin-jet, all-weather fighters, the RB-35 flying wing and several new experimental jet bombers.

The R-2800 is a 2,400 horsepower engine which used two banks of nine cylinders each. The aircooled power plant is used in the F-47 fighter, T-29 trainer, C-46 and C-82 transports and the B-26 light bomber. It weighs 2,350 pounds.

Controls Removed

Washington, July 9 (AP)—The government today removed price controls from vegetable plants—tomato, pepper and cabbage plants and the like. Seeds already were exempt. OPS had also removed controls earlier from flowering plants, nursery stock and other floral products. Also removed from price controls today were a variety of services, mostly of a professional, fiscal or educational nature.

SHOKAN

Shokan, July 9—Harold Pearson of Ossining was a recent caller in the hub of the reservoir country.

The Rev. Richard Coons, pastor of the Shokan Reformed Church, delivered a patriotic sermon last Sunday morning at the morning preaching service.

Mrs. John Gikas and four children of New York have arrived at their summer home in the village.

Mrs. James Allen of New York is spending some time at her place on the old state road.

Summer resort operators in Olive and other towns of the Catskills are expecting a good season, what with Dr. W. E. Howell reportedly off the job of teasing old Jupiter Pluvius every little while. The heavy influx of city folk last week-end was encouraging along this line.

Mrs. Edmund Gearon, summer resident of long standing, is again at her place adjoining the Reformed Church grounds.

Readers having a birthday Sunday, July 8, include Mary Osborne, K.H.S. student and resident of Olive Bridge. She is the daughter of Hazel Osborne and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Dawes...A birthday falling on Monday is that of Spencer Jones of Ashokan, one of the real old timers on the reservoir force. Spencer, who has several grown children, is active in Methodist Church work.

Five busloads of young people came up Monday afternoon to High Point Camp near Brodhead. Operators of the buses were Deforset Shaver of Port Ewen and Harry Miller of Millerton.

Ray Sprague of Margaretville caught a two-pound native trout nearly 18 inches long while casting for pickerel near Austin's Bridge. Ray's lure, believe it or not, was a daredevil spoon.

The big Pitcairn swimming pool on Tonche Mountain will have a surrounding wall capped by massive stone blocks from the Kerhonkson quarry. Other stone used in the pool project was brought here from Pennsylvania.

Callers in the village center Monday included Roy Ransom, High Falls, and Alan Mower of Woodstock.

Mrs. James Morris celebrated her 82nd birthday June 29 at the Raichle's nursing home on Clinton avenue where she has been been residing for the past several weeks. Relatives of Mrs. Morris who made up the birthday gathering were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morris and son, Richard of Brown's; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morris, Ellenville; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Elmendorf, Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cook of Ashokan. Another son, Edward of Lodi, N. J., and his wife and doughter were unable to attend the celebration. The former Amelia Morris, who has made her home in the reservoir section since early waterworks days, was born at Lapala, daughter of John and Caroline (Crantze) Markle. Her husband died in 1918. A son, Joseph Morris, was one of the five soldiers from Olive who died in World War 1.

Mrs. John Grant and son, Greg, are at their summer bungalow for a few days. The Grants soon will have to vacate their New York home which has been taken by the city in connection with a project for increased LaGuardia Airport facilities.

George Jackson, former KHS student from Shokan, has vacation employment on the Neversink waterworks job. He drives to work with Wayne. Murdock who with his wife and son removed to Lomontville from Shokan some time ago. George is a sophomore at Union College, Schenectady, where he is taking the course in civil engineering.

Peter Bostock of Bryn Athyn, Pa., is again at the E. C. Bostock summer home on the mountain road. Young Peter drives his farm tractor to and from the village.

William Osterhoudt is employed as an ironworker on the waterworks project near Grahamsville and he and his bride of a few months ago are now making their home over that way.

Kendall Every and brother, Robert, have summer employment on Long Island and will not be up until later in the season. Young Kendall is learning the butcher business and Robert works at Rockaway Beach.

Shriners Prepare For Big Parade

New York, July 9 (AP)—Manhattan's Times Square area was a maze of polka dots today—spotted by the scarlet fezzes of thousands of Shriners here for their 77th annual convention.

Some 100,000 Shriners and their families—from 162 temples in every state of the Union—are expected to attend the six-day meeting that started yesterday.

About 20,000 arrived for the first day, which was devoted chiefly to registration.

The ancient, Arabic order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, starts business sessions today. These meetings will be concerned with raising money to maintain 17 hospitals for crippled children in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Hawaii.

Officers will be elected Thursday.

Two parades, one at night, and almost continuous entertainment in Madison Square Garden are the highlights of the convention. An all-day show at the Garden was set for today.

Hubert M. Poteat, of Wake Forest, N. C., Imperial potentate, said General Douglas MacArthur has been invited to review both parades.

MacArthur is a member of Nile Temple, Seattle, Wash.

The first parade is scheduled for tomorrow morning.

The big convention has brought out red-white-blue bunting on most of the city's buildings and filled some 23,000 rooms in 70 hotels. A special post office has been set up in Madison Square Garden.

Jacoby on Canasta

Answering a Family Dispute

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"My wife hasn't yet learned to play Canasta," writes a San Francisco fan, "so she sits behind me and tells me how to play. This is OK with me as I'm hard of hearing and I just disconnect my hearing aid.

"The other night she raised such a fuss about a play I made that I promised to write to you about it. If she turns out to be right I'll make her play, and I'll take over her kibitzer's seat.

"Both sides needed 120 for the first meld. I was the dealer and turned up a queen. Each player in turn drew from the stock and discarded without melding. The discards were: first player, a queen; my partner, a seven; next player a ten.

"I drew from the stock also, and then held:

Joker, A-A, K-K, Q-10-7-5, 4-4-2.

"What should I do at this point?"

I'm surprised that this hand stirred up a fuss. It seems to me that friend hubby must have done something more weird than wonderful to get such a strong reaction.

My own play is to meld nothing. I just discard the ten and wait for developments.

In my opinion it would be unwise to meld at this moment. I'd have to put down Joker-A-A and the deuce with either the kings or the fours. In either case, I would be left after my discard with a pair of three odd cards.

I would have to play for the pack with so few cards. I would have no play to go out with no base and so ill-matched a hand. I would have only a headache to look forward to.

I decide to discard the ten because it gives no information to my right-hand opponent. He has just thrown a ten and has seen that I didn't pick it up. He thus knows at once that I am not collecting tens; and my discard of a ten tells him nothing additional.

The queen is a slightly safer discard, but I am not out to play safe at the very first discard. I will probably discard the queen next time. I might next throw the seven if one of them is discarded in the meantime by my left-hand opponent.

In short I just don't commit myself at all with this hand. I hope that this is just what my correspondent did also, but I have the impression that he got himself into a jam by melding at once. Well, maybe his wife will enjoy taking a hand for herself.

Mr. Jacoby is unable to answer individual questions on Canasta from readers. However, he will include the most frequently asked questions in his column.

Controls Removed

Washington, July 9 (AP)—The government today removed price controls from vegetable plants—tomato, pepper and cabbage plants and the like. Seeds already were exempt. OPS had also removed controls earlier from flowering plants, nursery stock and other floral products. Also removed from price controls today were a variety of services, mostly of a professional, fiscal or educational nature.

SHOKAN

Shokan, July 9—Harold Pearson of Ossining was a recent caller in the hub of the reservoir country.

The Rev. Richard Coons, pastor of the Shokan Reformed Church, delivered a patriotic sermon last Sunday morning at the morning preaching service.

Mrs. John Gikas and four children of New York have arrived at their summer home in the village.

Mrs. James Allen of New York is spending some time at her place on the old state road.

Summer resort operators in Olive and other towns of the Catskills are expecting a good season, what with Dr. W. E. Howell reportedly off the job of teasing old Jupiter Pluvius every little while. The heavy influx of city folk last week-end was encouraging along this line.

Mrs. Edmund Gearon, summer resident of long standing, is again at her place adjoining the Reformed Church grounds.

Readers having a birthday Sunday, July 8, include Mary Osborne, K.H.S. student and resident of Olive Bridge. She is the daughter of Hazel Osborne and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Dawes...A birthday falling on Monday is that of Spencer Jones of Ashokan, one of the real old timers on the reservoir force. Spencer, who has several grown children, is active in Methodist Church work.

Five busloads of young people came up Monday afternoon to High Point Camp near Brodhead. Operators of the buses were Deforset Shaver of Port Ewen and Harry Miller of Millerton.

Ray Sprague of Margaretville caught a two-pound native trout nearly 18 inches long while casting for pickerel near Austin's Bridge. Ray's lure, believe it or not, was a daredevil spoon.

The big Pitcairn swimming pool on Tonche Mountain will have a surrounding wall capped by massive stone blocks from the Kerhonkson quarry. Other stone used in the pool project was brought here from Pennsylvania.

Callers in the village center Monday included Roy Ransom, High Falls, and Alan Mower of Woodstock.

Mrs. James Morris celebrated her 82nd birthday June 29 at the Raichle's nursing home on Clinton avenue where she has been been residing for the past several weeks. Relatives of Mrs. Morris who made up the birthday gathering were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Herman Morris and son, Richard of Brown's; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morris, Ellenville; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Elmendorf, Kingston, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cook of Ashokan. Another son, Edward of Lodi, N. J., and his wife and doughter were unable to attend the celebration. The former Amelia Morris, who has made her home in the reservoir section since early waterworks days, was born at Lapala, daughter of John and Caroline (Crantze) Markle. Her husband died in 1918. A son, Joseph Morris, was one of the five soldiers from Olive who died in World War 1.

Playhouse Leads for New Comedy

SALEM LUDWIG VAN WILLIAMS

Leads in the Woodstock Playhouse's second production of the '51 season, Sound of Hunting, will be Salem Ludwig and Van Williams. A comedy drama, the Harry Brown play deals with the lives of 12 men caught in the midst of World War 2. Comedy, tragedy, life, death, and, naturally enough, excitement follow. Mr. Ludwig of stage and TV fame, comes to Woodstock after Enemy of the People, which starred Frederick March and Florence Eldridge last season. Musician-writer-actor Williams has appeared with such notables as Brian Aherne, Uta Hagen, and Paulette Goddard. Sound of Hunting will continue through July 15.

Altamari Students Hold Piano Recital At Governor Clinton

Miss Amelia Altamari of the Altamari Studio of Music, 219 Washington avenue, presented a group of her students June 28 in a piano recital in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

During the recital Miss Altamari played two Debussy works, Fireworks, and Puerto del Vino. She also explained the style of impressionistic music, and the techniques required in its performance. Following the recital students presented their teacher with gifts, and a bouquet of roses.

At the recital intermission exhibits, submitted by students, of written projects on theory, history, and biographies of composers, were displayed.

Participating in the recital were Ann Miuccio, Helen Crispell, Bernard Ghezzi, Maureen Roach, Ralph Mazzucca, Kayla Abelove, Mary Ellen DeVeau, Lorraine Etienne, Lewis Levine, Anita Giannuzzi, Patricia Tongue, Julia Garraghan, Mary Jane Hasbrouck, Mary Vigna, Maria Myers, Carol Epstein, Maxine Adner, Ellen Marchetti, Susan Ashley, Joyce LaGuardia, Rubina Sklon, Elaine Schwartz, William Kelly, Paula Volstein, Sheila Blakely, Paula Abelove, Laurence Martin, Carol Strongin, Robert Post, and Natalie Alcon.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mayone of 23 Ulster street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Lucy, of 263 Hasbrouck avenue, to Dominick Parisi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Parisi of Newburgh, July 6. Attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Marino of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Parisi are making their home at 263 Hasbrouck avenue.

County Girl Scout Camp Activities Are Reported by Officials

The following report of activities for the first week at Ulster County Girl Scout Camp Wendy, Wallkill, has been submitted by camp officials:

On July 1, 91 Girl Scouts registered for two weeks of adventure at Camp Wendy.

The July 4 celebration showed talent and invention. Each unit, arrayed in a patriotic manner, fell in line, led by color bearers Beth Williams of Poughkeepsie, Ruth Streifer and Leanne Fister of Kingston, Joan Filkins of Highland and Bette Cotterill of Bogota, N. J. They marched to martial music, played by an improvised band. Gathering around the flag pole, the campers sung patriotic songs, listened to a reading by Gail Olsen of Bogota, and then the entire group filed into the dining hall for a picnic supper.

Friday evening the unit of oldest girls under the leadership of Miss Jean Comstock of Kingston made an overnight trip to Arvue Farms, owned by Clifford Hotaling, at Wallkill.

Recognition Day

Saturday was recognition day. The Bogota Girl Scout Council presented the camp with an aluminum portable ice chest and refrigerator. A collar was presented to the camp mascot, owned by Carolyn Talleur of Kingston, music consultant. Credit was given Mr. Bellis of Newburgh for the gift and installation of a sink. This has been placed outside the arts and crafts building. This is the second summer that Mr. Bellis' children have been campers at Wendy.

Everyone was glad to welcome back to the dining hall Helen Cline with her long white bracelet of plaster. Also welcomed back over the week-end was Genevieve Tinney, camp nurse. The two staff members were injured in the recent automobile accident.

Swimming Competitions

Swimming competitions were held Sunday afternoon. Sheila Epstein of Kingston was first place winner in the orange race, with Eileen Smith of Highland and Lynn Maser of Larchmont second and third in that order. Other races with first and second place winners listed in that order were: Newspaper race, Ruth Streifer, Kingston, and Gilda Levenson, Liberty; breast stroke, Bette Cotterill and Gail Olsen, both of Bogota, N. J.; crawl, Ruth Streifer, Kingston, and Susan Hook, Kingston; side stroke, Beth Williams, Poughkeepsie, and Libby Lee, Woodstock; kick board, Gilda Levenson, Liberty, and Gayle Keator, Kingston; red caps breathing exhibition, Gail Scholes, Kingston, and Sally Speirs, Milton.

First Period Campers

First period campers from Ulster county, who have not been previously mentioned, are:

Berenice McElrath Becomes the Bride Of Gerald A. Smith

Miss Berenice Ann McElrath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McElrath, 508 South Wilbur avenue, became the bride of Gerald A. Smith, son of Otto J. Smith, and the late Mrs. Smith, Sunday, July 1, during a double ring ceremony in St. Peter's Church. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Joseph Geis, pastor of that parish.

Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Nan Goldrick at the organ. Edward Cherny was soloist. Decorations at the church included white garden snowballs, and red roses.

Mr. McElrath gave his daughter in marriage. The bride's white organdy gown, velvarayed with lilies-of-the-valley, was cut with a fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves, a double Peter Pan collar, and tiny buttons. Her bouffant skirt terminated in a long train, edged with starched chiffon. She wore a fingertip silk illusion veil, attached to a transparent braid headpiece trimmed with net ruching and lilies-of-the-valley, and carried a prayer book covered with white roses and streamers knotted with rosebuds.

Miss Mary Melnik, 48 East Pierpont street, was maid of honor. Miss Melnik was dressed in a blue organdy gown, velvarayed in a scalloped design. Her gown was of the basque bodice type, with a tiny collar, puffed sleeves, and bouffant skirt. She wore a headband of pink roses and forget-me-nots, and carried a twig design bouquet of pink roses and ivy.

Thomas Fay of East Kingston was best man for the groom. Ushering were Joseph Esposito, this city, and Ferrell F. McElrath, brother of the bride.

Barmann Nuptials Are Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson of Jackson, Ky., announce the marriage of their daughter, Pfc. Betty Davidson, WAF, to Pfc. Henry P. Barmann, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Barmann of Stone Ridge, at Gulfport, Miss., on May 5.

She is a member of the WAF, and is now attending technical school at Keesler Air Force Base, Baloxi, Miss. Mr. Barmann is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1949, and entered service on July 26, 1950, taking his basic training at Lackland Air Force base and Sheppard Field in Texas. TELEVISION PROBLEM

A young girl writes me: "When a man calls for his date and gets talking with the family, or looking at television, is it my place to remind him that it is time to go or we'll miss the second showing at the movies? (He had originally asked me to go to the movies.) Would it seem impolite?"

I don't think that you can ask him when he seems to be interested in television. The next time I advise you to have your coat on and meet him in the hall.

Owner Plays Hostess

Dear Mrs. Post: When a club gives a tea in the house of one of its members, who happens not to be an officer of the club but is the generous owner of a very large house, what part does she play as hostess?

Answer: The owner of the house should receive at the door and an officer of the club stand beside her.

Call on Friend

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend has a house guest. Should I call on them without being invited?

Answer: Since you say you are a friend, certainly!

Walking With Usher

Dear Mrs. Post: When an usher meets me at a wedding, what should I say to him?

Answer: It is not necessary to say anything.

Charge Discrimination

New York, July 9 (AP)—The American Jewish Congress has charged 49 summer resort hotels in New York, New Jersey and New England with employing "disguised and indirect means of facilitating racial and religious discrimination." The Congress filed a complaint yesterday with the New York State Commission Against Discrimination, alleging violation with the New York State Civil Rights Law. Similar action was taken in New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Official anti-discrimination agencies in these states were urged to investigate and take action against hotels in their jurisdictions.

Playhouse Leads for New Comedy

SALEM LUDWIG VAN WILLIAMS

Leads in the Woodstock Playhouse's second production of the '51 season, Sound of Hunting, will be Salem Ludwig and Van Williams. A comedy drama, the Harry Brown play deals with the lives of 12 men caught in the midst of World War 2. Comedy, tragedy, life, death, and, naturally enough, excitement follow. Mr. Ludwig of stage and TV fame, comes to Woodstock after Enemy of the People, which starred Frederick March and Florence Eldridge last season. Musician-writer-actor Williams has appeared with such notables as Brian Aherne, Uta Hagen, and Paulette Goddard. Sound of Hunting will continue through July 15.

Altamari Students Hold Piano Recital At Governor Clinton

Miss Amelia Altamari of the Altamari Studio of Music, 219 Washington avenue, presented a group of her students June 28 in a piano recital in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel.

During the recital Miss Altamari played two Debussy works, Fireworks, and Puerto del Vino. She also explained the style of impressionistic music, and the techniques required in its performance. Following the recital students presented their teacher with gifts, and a bouquet of roses.

At the recital intermission exhibits, submitted by students, of written projects on theory, history, and biographies of composers, were displayed.

Participating in the recital were Ann Miuccio, Helen Crispell, Bernard Ghezzi, Maureen Roach, Ralph Mazzucca, Kayla Abelove, Mary Ellen DeVeau, Lorraine Etienne, Lewis Levine, Anita Giannuzzi, Patricia Tongue, Julia Garraghan, Mary Jane Hasbrouck, Mary Vigna, Maria Myers, Carol Epstein, Maxine Adner, Ellen Marchetti, Susan Ashley, Joyce LaGuardia, Rubina Sklon, Elaine Schwartz, William Kelly, Paula Volstein, Sheila Blakely, Paula Abelove, Laurence Martin, Carol Strongin, Robert Post, and Natalie Alcon.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Mayone of 23 Ulster street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Lucy, of 263 Hasbrouck avenue, to Dominick Parisi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Parisi of Newburgh, July 6. Attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Marino of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Parisi are making their home at 263 Hasbrouck avenue.

Henry VIII had two of his six queens beheaded. He died at 56 after a reign of 38 years.

County Girl Scout Camp Activities Are Reported by Officials

The following report of activities for the first week at Ulster County Girl Scout Camp Wendy, Wallkill, has been submitted by camp officials:

On July 1, 91 Girl Scouts registered for two weeks of adventure at Camp Wendy.

The July 4 celebration showed talent and invention. Each unit, arrayed in a patriotic manner, fell in line, led by color bearers Beth Williams of Poughkeepsie, Ruth Streifer and Leanne Fister of Kingston, Joan Filkins of Highland and Bette Cotterill of Bogota, N. J. They marched to martial music, played by an improvised band. Gathering around the flag pole, the campers sung patriotic songs, listened to a reading by Gail Olsen of Bogota, and then the entire group filed into the dining hall for a picnic supper.

Friday evening the unit of oldest girls under the leadership of Miss Jean Comstock of Kingston made an overnight trip to Arvue Farms, owned by Clifford Hotaling, at Wallkill.

Recognition Day

Saturday was recognition day. The Bogota Girl Scout Council presented the camp with an aluminum portable ice chest and refrigerator. A collar was presented to the camp mascot, owned by Carolyn Talleur of Kingston, music consultant. Credit was given Mr. Bellis of Newburgh for the gift and installation of a sink. This has been placed outside the arts and crafts building. This is the second summer that Mr. Bellis' children have been campers at Wendy.

Everyone was glad to welcome back to the dining hall Helen Cline with her long white bracelet of plaster. Also welcomed back over the week-end was Genevieve Tinney, camp nurse. The two staff members were injured in the recent automobile accident.

Swimming Competitions

Swimming competitions were held Sunday afternoon. Sheila Epstein of Kingston was first place winner in the orange race, with Eileen Smith of Highland and Lynn Maser of Larchmont second and third in that order. Other races with first and second place winners listed in that order were: Newspaper race, Ruth Streifer, Kingston, and Gilda Levenson, Liberty; breast stroke, Bette Cotterill and Gail Olsen, both of Bogota, N. J.; crawl, Ruth Streifer, Kingston, and Susan Hook, Kingston; side stroke, Beth Williams, Poughkeepsie, and Libby Lee, Woodstock; kick board, Gilda Levenson, Liberty, and Gayle Keator, Kingston; red caps breathing exhibition, Gail Scholes, Kingston, and Sally Speirs, Milton.

First Period Campers

First period campers from Ulster county, who have not been previously mentioned, are:

Highland—Ruth Ann Baker, Joanne Batten, Ann Benson, Patricia Ann Burdash, Diana Costantino, Margaret Gaffney, Priscilla Hogan, Deborah Howard, Carol Korman, Barbara Smith, Phyllis Turner, June Williams.

Woodstock — Hannah Barth, Mary E. Lapo, Pixie Mecklem, Judith Rapp, Lynn Wright.

Milton — Judy Clarke, Carol Ann Dayton, Danya Diorio, Ellen Donovan, Nancy Peters.

Berenice McElrath Becomes the Bride Of Gerald A. Smith

Miss Berenice Ann McElrath, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McElrath, 508 South Wilbur avenue, became the bride of Gerald A. Smith, son of Otto J. Smith, and the late Mrs. Smith, Sunday, July 1, during a double ring ceremony in St. Peter's Church. Officiating clergyman was the Rev. Joseph Geis, pastor of that parish.

Traditional wedding music was played by Miss Nan Goldrick at the organ. Edward Cherny was soloist. Decorations at the church included white garden snowballs, and red roses.

Mr. McElrath gave his daughter in marriage. The bride's white organdy gown, velvarayed with lilies-of-the-valley, was cut with a fitted bodice, long pointed sleeves, a double Peter Pan collar, and tiny buttons. Her bouffant skirt terminated in a long train, edged with starched chiffon. She wore a fingertip silk illusion veil, attached to a transparent braid headpiece trimmed with net ruching and lilies-of-the-valley, and carried a prayer book covered with white roses and streamers knotted with rosebuds.

Miss Mary Melnik, 48 East Pierpont street, was maid of honor. Miss Melnik was dressed in a blue organdy gown, velvarayed in a scalloped design. Her gown was of the basque bodice type, with a tiny collar, puffed sleeves, and bouffant skirt. She wore a headband of pink roses and forget-me-nots, and carried a twig design bouquet of pink roses and ivy.

Thomas Fay of East Kingston was best man for the groom. Ushering were Joseph Esposito, this city, and Ferrell F. McElrath, brother of the bride.

Barmann Nuptials Are Announced

Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson of Jackson, Ky., announce the marriage of their daughter, Pfc. Betty Davidson, WAF, to Pfc. Henry P. Barmann, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Barmann of Stone Ridge, at Gulfport, Miss., on May 5.

She is a member of the WAF, and is now attending technical school at Keesler Air Force Base, Baloxi, Miss. Mr. Barmann is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1949, and entered service on July 26, 1950, taking his basic training at Lackland Air Force base and Sheppard Field in Texas. He was transferred to Keesler Air Force Base at Baloxi, Miss., last August and was graduated from technical school on May 15, 1951, on completion of a course in electronics and radar. Woman Suffers Fractured Hip

A Poughkeepsie woman suffered a fractured hip when a parked car was struck by another car on Wiltwyck avenue Saturday night.

Police listed as injured Carrie Wright, 80, of Crannel street, Poughkeepsie, who was taken to Kingston Hospital in a Conner ambulance for treatment of the hip fracture and Fred and Ethel May Decker, of 16 Brown avenue, who suffered slight abrasions and were treated by a doctor. The condition of the Poughkeepsie woman was reported today as "fair."

The police report at 9:58 p. m., said a car owned by Ronald F. Decker, 16 Brown avenue, and driven by Ethel May Decker, who was accompanied by her husband Fred, was headed south on Wiltwyck avenue when its operator was "blinded by the lights of an oncoming vehicle and stepped on the accelerator in attempting to apply the brakes."

The car went across the street, over the curb, and struck a sedan owned by George D. Aird, of 78 Wiltwyck avenue, which was parked in the driveway there. It was unoccupied.

The report said the entire front and windshield of the Decker car were damaged, and both sides of the parked sedan along with hedges, a porch and drain pipe on the property were damaged. Officer Louis Sapp, Jr., who investigated, called for the ambulance and a wrecker.

Swiss Guards Want Raise

Vatican City, July 9 (AP)—The Pope's famed Swiss Guards want a raise. They say their $50 a month salaries are more in line with the unit's medieval traditions than with modern prices. In an open letter to Roman newspapers, the guards said 16 of their number have already quit and gone home to Switzerland because they could not support their families on wages paid. They said that after several requests for pay raises, the Vatican offered $1.50 a month more which they angrily rejected.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, July 9—Mrs. Ogden Harding and daughter, Miss Marion Harding, spent a day recently with their aunt, Mrs. D. M. Niffin in Hartford, Conn. They were accompanied by Miss Helena Olds. They also visited the rose garden in Elizabeth Park.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wynkoop are enjoying a vacation trip to Virginia stopping at Williamsburg, Virginia Beach, and Cape Charles. On their return they will stop at Washington, D. C., to visit relatives.

Mrs. Gilbert Marks of the Kingston road is spending a week with Miss Winnona Wynkoop.

Mrs. Abram E. Jansen of Stone Ridge, a former New Paltz resident, was a caller in town Tuesday.

Members of the Board of Education of New Paltz Central School District have voted to submit a total budget of $223,926 to the voters of the district at the annual school meeting July 10, Howard H. Grimm, board cleerk, has made known. Of this sum, $133,941.30 will be raised by taxes while $79,998.19 will come from the state aid. The tax rate will be about $30 per thousand on assessed valuation. Last year's budget was $194,523.30. Most of the increase of $29,403 can be accounted for by mandatory salary raises for teachers, and the greater cost for transportation because of the increased number of students. Bus transportation this year will be $26,800 against $23,050 last year. A breakdown of the budget follows: general control, $5,950; instructional services, $104,515; operation of school plant, $12,963; maintenance of the plant, $12,715; auxiliary agencies, $41,500; fixed charges, $11,963; debt service, $9,985; and capital outlay, $24,335.

Mrs. James Doyle and daughter, Mrs. Homer Wynkoop and her daughter, Miss Margaret Jane Wynkoop of Kerhonkson called on Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Van Vliet Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Anna May Doxey of Poughkeepsie has been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. William Wynkoop and daughter on Church street.

Mrs. Bruyn Deyo of the New Paltz and Kingston road called on Mrs. Elijah Van Vliet Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hygrade and family of New Jersey have taken possession of their new home on Huguenot street recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Miner.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blum and family are spending the month with Mrs. Blum's mother, Mrs. William Fowler on the New Paltz and Modena road.

Emory Chabot of Wappingers Falls will spend his vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wynkoop.

Wesley Van Vliet made a trip to New York Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Burke of Leonia, L. I., are spending the summer with Mrs. Burke's mother, Mrs. Daniel Gerow and her sister, Mrs. Frances Lathrope.

The Rev. Franklin J. Hinkamp of the Reformed Church of Poughkeepsie was the guest speaker at Lake Mohonk Tuesday night. He spoke on "Small Nations and World Peace." He illustrated his talk with slides which were taken on his trip abroad last summer.

Mrs. Robert Palmer has returned from spending a week with her son, Frank Palmer and family in Yonkers.

Mrs. Freda Crons of Plattekill avenue has been entertaining her parents from Patchogue, L. I.

Consider Calling Guard Divisions

Washington, July 9 (AP) — The calling up of two or three more National Guard divisions as part of a proposal to strengthen the Army by six divisions is reported to be under consideration.

This was learned over the weekend from the defense department officials who may not be named. They said no final decision has been made and that none of the 21 guard ground divisions not brought into Federal service has been tentatively tagged.

Six more units would give the Army 24 combat divisions and about ten training divisions.

Since the fighting started in Korea in June, 1950, the Army has called up six National Guard divisions, two regimental combat teams and a number of smaller units.

Virginia Heads for Seized Home

Wearing dark glasses, Virginia Hill hands her ticket to Audrey Haywood, airline hostess, as the fiery red head, one-time girl friend of slain gangster Bugsy Siegel and a star witness at the Kefauver crime hearings, boards plane at Seattle, Wash., for her home in Spokane, Wash. Virginia won't be able to live in her fashionable $35,000 home in Spokane since the government took it over claiming she owes $161,000 in back income taxes. (AP Wirephoto).

Young Girl Is Drowned in Pool

Milagro Molliere, age 8, of 977 Rogers Place, Bronx, a summer visitor at Pine Bush, was drowned in a swimming pool Sunday afternoon. The little girl, Coroner Arthur C. Chipp said, had been in swimming at the Indian Springs Pool, owned by Joseph Spadola, and was missed about 4 o'clock. A search was made and the body was later recovered from the pool. There were a number of people swimming in the pool at the time the girl was missed. Trooper Heyward Rasmussen of Wurtsboro was notified and Coroner Chipp was also summoned.

When the body was recovered efforts to revive the girl by artificial respiration failed and she was taken to Middletown Sanitarium where she was pronounced dead by Dr. Edward Calabrese.

4 Die, 16 Injured

sideswiped the first of a long line of passenger cars.

Traffic Is Halted

Three fire companies from nearby towns were called to the scene. The injured persons, at least one of whom is in critical condition, were taken to hospitals in Middletown and Monticello.

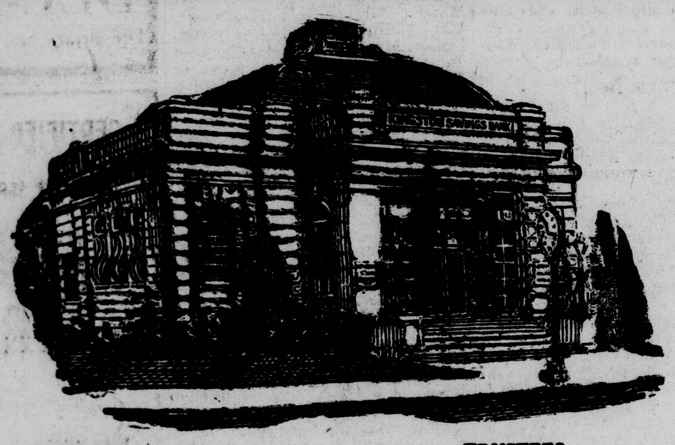

Route 17, the main artery connecting New York and resorts in Sullivan county, was blocked for two and one-half hours while the fire was being quenched and the wrecked and burned cars were cleared from the road.

State police tried to reroute the heavy traffic to back roads as best they could, but before Route 17 was cleared at 3:45 p. m. automobiles were backed up for miles.

Whitfield, Buckman Take Feature Races

Class asserted itself in the 10th annual Kingston Power Boat Association's Regatta on the Rondout, before an estimated 4,000 persons in traditionally perfect weather on Sunday.

Although the attendance did not come up to that of recent regattas, the show itself was perhaps the finest ever staged by the KPBA, with big names dominating the races.

Clean sweeps were the order of the day as the winners in every race won both heats.

The principal casualty was Vic Scott, of Forest Hills, N. Y., a two-time winner of the Albany-to-New York Driftwood Derby, who failed to win in three heats and was beaten in his Class B specialty.

Whitfield in Sweep

Former world champion, Don Whitfield, of Montclair, N. J., got the regatta off and winging by sweeping both heats of the Class M race in times of 4:55 and 4:46. Two members of the distaff department, Midge Clark of New Haven, Conn.; and Dot Mayer, of College Point, took seconds. Whitfield enjoyed a wide margin of victory in both heats.

Most thrilling race of the day was the second heat of the Class A feature in which Gil Peterman, veteran Malverne, L. I., star, nipped Les Buckman of Baldwin, L. I., by less than a half-boat's length.

Peterman won the first heat handily but the second was undoubtedly one of the best ever run on the Rondout, with both drivers showing superb driving skill and daring. Joe Wotowicz of Hartford and George Middleton of Malden, Mass., trailed in that order in both heats.

Buckman came back to sweep both sections of the Class B race, edging Joe Frins, the Brooklyn favorite, in the first heat and then leading Scott across the finish line by six lengths in the nightcap. Scott was a bad fourth in the first heat.

The Free-for-All hydroplane event went to Emil Mayer of the famous College Point, L. I., outboard racing family, who breezed home ahead of Vic Scott. George Andrews of Jackson Heights and Joe Wotowicz of Hartford rounded out the top four.

Fred Matthews, of Albany, the New York state champion in his division, ran away from the field in both heats of the Class C Service Runabouts. Whit Hunt, of Rexfort, N. Y., gave futile chase in both sections.

White Wins

John White, a Poughkeepsie veteran of several years standing, had too much savvy for Kingston's "Chic" Miller, in the Class D Utilities.

Miller made a commendable showing considering his limited experience and romped home in second place two times running. White knocked off the course in four minutes flat.

A few boats were swamped but there were no outstanding casualties and most of the races were run off without incident. The clear, perfect weather insured perfect water conditions and excellent winning times were recorded in every event.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and County Judge John M. Cashin awarded the trophies to the various winners in a ceremony following the races. Both commended the K.P.B.A. for staging another splendid regatta and bringing to Kingston some of the best known names in the outboard racing field.

City Leaguers Resume Schedule

The City Baseball League resumes its schedule this evening at the Athletic Field after having overcome financial problems that threatened cancellation of the remainder of the 1951 program.

The resurgent Jones Dairy squad is scheduled to meet Ferraro's Bowlodrome in the first game of the week.

A special meeting held Friday night at the Y.M.C.A. aroused sufficient financial backing to insure continuation of the league schedule. League officials are confident that the cash pledges now on hand will enable the twilight circuit to complete its season.

Gets Frosh Letter

Princeton, N. J., July 9 (AP)—Pitcher Ken Strong, Jr., of Bayside, L. I., N. Y., son of football's famous Ken Strong, was one of 21 Princeton freshman letter-winners of the post season it was announced today.

'Can-Am Roundup

By the Associated Press

The Oneonta Red Sox have moved to within a half game of their favorite spot in the Canadian-American League — leading the loop.

The Sox, who won the first half of the Can-Am's split schedule, knocked a full game from Gloversville's first-place lead yesterday by edging the Glovers, 2-1.

The third-spot Pittsfield Electrics beat the Amsterdam Rugmakers, 8-2, and the Rome Colonels smashed the Kingston Colonials, 5-1.

In Saturday tilts, Oneonta topped Pittsfield, 8-5; Gloversville trounced Rome, 16-6, and Amsterdam defeated Kingston, 8-7.

At Gloversville yesterday, right-hander Bob McNabb tossed an eight-hitter for the win. Walt James, the loser, also gave up eight bingles.

The Sox scored what proved to be the winning tally in the sixth on three singles. First baseman Lawson Williams scored the Glovers' only run with a homer in the fourth.

The Electrics scored all of their runs in their home park in the eighth inning by combining five singles, six walks, a stolen base and a fly to center. Bob Jeffries, a righthander, was the winner, and John Rozyla, also a right-hander, took the loss.

Rome banged four singles in the second inning at Kingston to rack up three of its five runs. Right hander Benny Kiburis, the winner, helped himself in the fourth with a homer with none on.

Yacht Disabled

South Kingstown, R. I., July 9 (AP)—A yacht owned by Mitchell Maroldy of Larchmont, N. Y., was disabled off the Rhode Island shore yesterday when it struck floating debris in the water and its rudder was put out of commission. Coast guardsmen from the Block Island and Point Judith stations answered a call for assistance and towed the vessel to safety. It will be repaired in a boatyard.

Named After American

Famed Downing street in London, on which is located the home and office of the Prime Minister, was named after an American, George Downing, the son of a sister of Gov. Winthrop, of Massachusetts.

Ford, Phillips Blank P'keepsie

Southpaw Whitey Ford, New York Yankee hurler who is serving an Army hitch at Fort Monmouth, pitched the Creedmore Hospital nine of Long Island to a 4-0 victory over the Poughkeepsie Elks, last night before 1,612 fans at Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie.

Ford worked seven innings, struck out eight and walked one. Gene Phillips, former Bushwick flinger, who pitched the last two innings, was credited with the victory when George Kaiser hit a grand-slam homer off Emil "Big Moe" Moskowitz in the ninth. Moskowitz had a no-hitter for the first six innings.

Sees Big Grid Year for Weaver

Robins Air Force Base, Ga., July 4—J. Edward Weaver, rangy Army end, was among a group of West Point Cadets who visited Robins Air Force Base, near Macon, Ga., recently as the "Point" class of 1953 neared the end of its summer tour of air force installations.

Cadet Weaver is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Weaver of 112 Foxhall avenue, Kingston.

While at the big Georgia base Weaver observed air force supply and maintenance operations in action—contributing to logistical support of air operations.

During his visit to Robins Air Force Base, Weaver, with a group of his Army teammates was guest at a sports luncheon at the Base Officer's Club. Next day in his Macon Telegraph column, "It Seems To Me," Sam Glassman, sports editor, said of Weaver—

"Red Weaver somehow reminds me of George Poschner, the All-America end at Georgia."

He predicted that Weaver's name would be in football headlines next year and observed of his visit with the Army athletes, "It was sure fine to see that besides good football players, West Point is turning out some fine fellows to take their places in our armed forces," Glassman added.

Colonials Will Return Kern to Third Against Rome

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. FIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

New York—(NEA)—When Sports Editor Arch Ward of Chicago suggested the All-Star Game in 1933, the idea was to let the customers elect the sides in their entirety.

Bob Feller

Vic Raschi

In other words, give Old Gus Fan a day and a time for himself.

The right to name his dream teams soon was taken away from the paying guests, and only partially restored when the totally unappreciative heads of baseball and the owners realized what they were missing in such tremendous grass-root participation.

The result is great dissatisfaction in connection with the American League pitching in the 18th annual edition at Detroit's Briggs Stadium, July 10.

What kind of an all-star game have we when the American Leaguers are without pitchers like Bob Feller, Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds, for example?

The game should be run one way or the other—either by the fans or by baseball. Surely, one league, the American in this case, should not be permitted to put hobbles on its representatives, such as it did when it passed a rule restricting its manager to one pitcher from each club in the circuit.

The National League has no such restriction, thus vastly superior pitching. This makes the game a travesty.

Baseball Didn't Realize What It Had:

Originally a nation-wide ballot decided the clubs. But baseball underestimated the weeks of ballyhoo. The game gets such a vast amount of free publicity that its moguls are spoiled.

Then the late Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis did not approve of the way the poll was conducted. Who's going to painstakingly count 4,724,798 votes, which happened to be this summer's announced total?

So the fans were totally ignored, as per usual, and the choosing was left to the managers.

The baseball bigwigs didn't realize what they had until they found their All-Star game's advance notices buried beneath the results of the balloting for places on the College All Stars, who annually tackle the professional champions at Chicago's Soldier Field in August.

When they awakened, baseball's All-Star game was returned to the trade, but only to the extent of the starting eight positions. The managers were to designate 17 of the 25.

Casey Stengel was asked to submit his list by June 30, or the day before Bob Feller pitched his third no-hit game. Regardless of Feller, who even without the third no-hitter, is so richly entitled to a place, Manager Stengel did a shoddy and slipshod job in connection with the American League pitching. It couldn't have been any worse had he been forced to sit down and do it in five minutes.

National Has Vastly Superior Pitching:

Stengel named Ed Lopat to give Easy Ed his first crack at the honor. That ditched the extraordinary Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds. So the American League wound up with Lopat, Lemon, Garver, Hutchinson, Parnell, Gumpert, Marrero and Schantz.

These against the National's Maglie, Jansen, Newcombe, Roe, Spahn, Blackwell and Leonard with his tricky knuckler. Why it isn't a contest! The American starts with two strikes on it.

If Stengel was held to one pitcher from each outfit, how about Newhouser over Hutchinson and Pierce ahead of Gumpert? And any American Leaguer will tell you Consuegra would be more valuable for three innings than Marrero and that Hooper has it on little Schantz for the same length of time.

Oh, well, the National League requires a lift in these things, and maybe the American set out to give the elder wheel one.

Tournament Star

Hard ground is a hazard every bit as troublesome as sand, although most golfers don't realize it.

Ellsworth Vines

The best way to handle a ball on hard ground is to concentrate more on hitting it before hitting the ground.

Any club may be used on a hard surface, but don't be afraid to lay into it.

Actually, an iron is easier to use than a wood, but in all instances strive to hit the ball first.

The procedure of hitting off rocky ground is the same.

If the ball is lying in a position to allow no room for a full backswings, so why not try the same shot when you encounter obstacles on the swing?

Again, in the rough, such as high grass, the main objective is to get out in one stroke.

Open the face slightly as well as the stance and loft the ball out.

In high grass, try to hit the ball first, as the interference of grass will obviously deflect the club from its desired course.

SAME DEAL—In the rough, Sam Snead uses same club as on sand and water shots. (NEA)

Series Concludes With Game Tonight At the Stadium

Club Drops Pair Over the Week-end

Joel Kern returns to his starting post at third base tonight as the Colonials launch a three-day home stand designed to lift them out of the cellar in the torrid second half race in the Cam-Am League.

Kern, who was player-manager until a seige of virus flattened him a few weeks ago, got into last night's game with the Rome Colonels and delivered a single in two trips.

Buck Etchison's Bombers won the contest, 5 to 1, behind the superlative six-hit pitching of Benny Kiburis, who aided his own cause with a homer.

The Colonials dropped a heartbreaker, 8 to 7, in 10 innings Saturday night in Amsterdam, when Tony Piacente developed a streak of wildness and failed to hold a 5-1 lead.

Kern's return to third solves one of Manager Sam Piacentino's most pressing problems. He was the club's second best hitter and standout defensive player when flattened by illness. With Kern as a steady performer, the Colonels will have one of the best infields in the circuit with Kern, Nick Marino, Dennis Healey and Jack Bickett.

Rome Tonight

The Rome series ends tonight, with the red hot Gloversville Glovers scheduled for single engagements on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Vince Canepa, sturdy right hander who has been pitching in tough luck, or Jack Ormiston, rangy right hander, will get the call tonight.

Kiburis was too tough in the Sunday encounter, yielding only four hits over the first eight innings, never more than one in a single inning. He lost his shutout in the ninth when pinch hitter Jack Allen, who delivered in the clutch Saturday night in Amsterdam, walked with one out. Singles by Joe Kern and Joe Niro sandwiched with an infield out accounted for the tally.

Ayers Loses

The Colonels raked starter Charlie Ayers for 13 hits in 7 1/3 innings, before Manager Piacentino came on for his second (and scoreless) relief stint of the season. Piacentino's appearance on the mound points up the acute pitching situation in the Colonial camp and General Manager Addison Jones was on the phone over the week-end trying to land a new hurler.

Jim Pancoe and Tom Bransfield did the heaviest damage for the Colonels with three hits apiece. Dennis Healey collected a third of the Kingston total with two singles. Kiburis stroked his homer with none on in the fourth.

The Colonials were sharp on defense, racking up three double plays to throttle potential big innings for the Colonels in the early stages of the game.

Wednesday night has been set aside as Downtown Merchants Night, with merchants and fans of the downtown section of the city honoring the Colonials.

Saratoga Raceway Resumes Tonight

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—A $140,000 grand circuit meeting that includes two important tests for Hambletonian candidates gets underway tonight at Saratoga Raceway.

Opening-night feature of the two-week grand circuit session is the $3,000 Poughkeepsie Pace. Congress Lad, owned by Dr. L. A. Parmenter of Corinth, is favored to cop his seventh straight victory in the first division.

Tassel Hanover, world champion three-year-old pacing filly on a half-mile track, will be making her first start as a four-year-old in the second division. Tassel is owned by the Arden Homestead Stable at Goshen.

The Hambletonian previews are the $5,000 Adirondack Wednesday and the $10,000 Runnymede a week later.

PRIZE WINNERS AND REGATTA OFFICIALS

Whitfield, Buckman Take Feature Races

Class asserted itself in the 10th annual Kingston Power Boat Association's Regatta on the Rondout, before an estimated 4,000 persons in traditionally perfect weather on Sunday.

Although the attendance did not come up to that of recent regattas, the show itself was perhaps the finest ever staged by the KPBA, with big names dominating the races.

Clean sweeps were the order of the day as the winners in every race won both heats.

The principal casualty was Vic Scott, of Forest Hills, N. Y., a two-time winner of the Albany-to-New York Driftwood Derby, who failed to win in three heats and was beaten in his Class B specialty.

Whitfield in Sweep

Former world champion, Don Whitfield, of Montclair, N. J., got the regatta off and winging by sweeping both heats of the Class M race in times of 4:55 and 4:46. Two members of the distaff department, Midge Clark of New Haven, Conn.; and Dot Mayer, of College Point, took seconds. Whitfield enjoyed a wide margin of victory in both heats.

Most thrilling race of the day was the second heat of the Class A feature in which Gil Peterman, veteran Malverne, L. I., star, nipped Les Buckman of Baldwin, L. I., by less than a half-boat's length.

Peterman won the first heat handily but the second was undoubtedly one of the best ever run on the Rondout, with both drivers showing superb driving skill and daring. Joe Wotowicz of Hartford and George Middleton of Malden, Mass., trailed in that order in both heats.

Buckman came back to sweep both sections of the Class B race, edging Joe Frins, the Brooklyn favorite, in the first heat and then leading Scott across the finish line by six lengths in the nightcap. Scott was a bad fourth in the first heat.

The Free-for-All hydroplane event went to Emil Mayer of the famous College Point, L. I., outboard racing family, who breezed home ahead of Vic Scott. George Andrews of Jackson Heights and Joe Wotowicz of Hartford rounded out the top four.

Fred Matthews, of Albany, the New York state champion in his division, ran away from the field in both heats of the Class C Service Runabouts. Whit Hunt, of Rexfort, N. Y., gave futile chase in both sections.

White Wins

John White, a Poughkeepsie veteran of several years standing, had too much savvy for Kingston's "Chic" Miller, in the Class D Utilities.

Miller made a commendable showing considering his limited experience and romped home in second place two times running. White knocked off the course in four minutes flat.

A few boats were swamped but there were no outstanding casualties and most of the races were run off without incident. The clear, perfect weather insured perfect water conditions and excellent winning times were recorded in every event.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and County Judge John M. Cashin awarded the trophies to the various winners in a ceremony following the races. Both commended the K.P.B.A. for staging another splendid regatta and bringing to Kingston some of the best known names in the outboard racing field.

The Summaries

Class M (first heat)—Won by Don Whitfield, Montclair, N. J., 4:55; second, Midge Clark, New Haven; third, Dot Mayer, College Point, L. I.; fourth, Bruno Pierguidi, North Bergen, N. J.

City Leaguers Resume Schedule

The City Baseball League resumes its schedule this evening at the Athletic Field after having overcome financial problems that threatened cancellation of the remainder of the 1951 program.

The resurgent Jones Dairy squad is scheduled to meet Ferraro's Bowlodrome in the first game of the week.

A special meeting held Friday night at the Y.M.C.A. aroused sufficient financial backing to insure continuation of the league schedule. League officials are confident that the cash pledges now on hand will enable the twilight circuit to complete its season.

Colonials Will Return Kern to Third Against Rome

'Can-Am Roundup

By the Associated Press

The Oneonta Red Sox have moved to within a half game of their favorite spot in the Canadian-American League — leading the loop.

The Sox, who won the first half of the Can-Am's split schedule, knocked a full game from Gloversville's first-place lead yesterday by edging the Glovers, 2-1.

The third-spot Pittsfield Electrics beat the Amsterdam Rugmakers, 8-2, and the Rome Colonels smashed the Kingston Colonials, 5-1.

In Saturday tilts, Oneonta topped Pittsfield, 8-5; Gloversville trounced Rome, 16-6, and Amsterdam defeated Kingston, 8-7.

At Gloversville yesterday, righthander Bob McNabb tossed an eight-hitter for the win. Walt James, the loser, also gave up eight bingles.

The Sox scored what proved to be the winning tally in the sixth on three singles. First baseman Lawson Williams scored the Glovers' only run with a homer in the fourth.

The Electrics scored all of their runs in their home park in the eighth inning by combining five singles, six walks, a stolen base and a fly to center. Bob Jeffries, a righthander, was the winner, and John Rozyla, also a righthander, took the loss.

Rome banged four singles in the second inning at Kingston to rack up three of its five runs. Right hander Benny Kiburis, the winner, helped himself in the fourth with a homer with none on.

Yacht Disabled

South Kingstown, R. I., July 9 (AP)—A yacht owned by Mitchell Maroldy of Larchmont, N. Y., was disabled off the Rhode Island shore yesterday when it struck floating debris in the water and its rudder was put out of commission. Coast guardsmen from the Block Island and Point Judith stations answered a call for assistance and towed the vessel to safety. It will be repaired in a boatyard.

Named After American

Famed Downing street in London, on which is located the home and office of the Prime Minister, was named after an American, George Downing, the son of a sister of Gov. Winthrop, of Massachusetts.

Ford, Phillips Blank P'keepsie

Southpaw Whitey Ford, New York Yankee hurler who is serving an Army hitch at Fort Monmouth, pitched the Creedmore Hospital nine of Long Island to a 4-0 victory over the Poughkeepsie Elks, last night before 1,612 fans at Riverview Field in Poughkeepsie.

Ford worked seven innings, struck out eight and walked one. Gene Phillips, former Bushwick flinger, who pitched the last two innings, was credited with the victory when George Kaiser hit a grand-slam homer off Emil "Big Moe" Moskowitz in the ninth. Moskowitz had a no-hitter for the first six innings.

Sees Big Grid Year for Weaver

Robins Air Force Base, Ga., July 4—J. Edward Weaver, rangy Army end, was among a group of West Point Cadets who visited Robins Air Force Base, near Macon, Ga., recently as the "Point" class of 1953 neared the end of its summer tour of air force installations.

Cadet Weaver is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Weaver of 112 Foxhall avenue, Kingston.

While at the big Georgia base Weaver observed air force supply and maintenance operations in action—contributing to logistical support of air operations.

During his visit to Robins Air Force Base, Weaver, with a group of his Army teammates was guest at a sports luncheon at the Base Officer's Club. Next day in his Macon Telegraph column, "It Seems To Me," Sam Glassman, sports editor, said of Weaver—

"Red Weaver somehow reminds me of George Poschner, the All-America end at Georgia."

He predicted that Weaver's name would be in football headlines next year and observed of his visit with the Army athletes, "It was sure fine to see that besides good football players, West Point is turning out some fine fellows to take their places in our armed forces," Glassman added.

Hard ground is a hazard every bit as troublesome as sand, although most golfers don't realize it.

Ellsworth Vines

The best way to handle a ball on hard ground is to concentrate more on hitting it before hitting the ground.

Any club may be used on a hard surface, but don't be afraid to lay into it.

Actually, an iron is easier to use than a wood, but in all instances strive to hit the ball first.

The procedure of hitting off rocky ground is the same.

Many of your chip and approach shots are without full backswings, so why not try the same shot when you encounter obstacles on the swing?

Again, in the rough, such as high grass, the main objective is to get out in one stroke.

Open the face slightly as well as the stance and loft the ball out.

In high grass, try to hit the ball first, as the interference of grass will obviously deflect the club from its desired course.

SAME DEAL—In the rough, Sam Snead uses same club as on sand and water shots. (NEA)

SPORTS

New York—(NEA)—When Sports Editor Arch Ward of Chicago suggested the All-Star Game in 1933, the idea was to let the customers elect the sides in their entirety.

Bob Feller

Vic Raschi

In other words, give Old Gus Fan a day and a time for himself.

The right to name his dream teams soon was taken away from the paying guests, and only partially restored when the totally unappreciative heads of baseball and the owners realized what they were missing in such tremendous grass-root participation.

The result is great dissatisfaction in connection with the American League pitching in the 18th annual edition at Detroit's Briggs Stadium, July 10.

What kind of an all-star game have we when the American Leaguers are without pitchers like Bob Feller, Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds, for example?

The game should be run one way or the other—either by the fans or by baseball. Surely, one league, the American in this case, should not be permitted to put hobbles on its representatives, such as it did when it passed a rule restricting its manager to one pitcher from each club in the circuit.

The National League has no such restriction, thus vastly superior pitching. This makes the game a travesty.

Baseball Didn't Realize What It Had:

Originally a nation-wide ballot decided the clubs. But baseball underestimated the weeks of ballyhoo. The game gets such a vast amount of free publicity that its moguls are spoiled.

Then the late Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis did not approve of the way the poll was conducted. Who's going to painstakingly count 4,724,798 votes, which happened to be this summer's announced total?

So the fans were totally ignored, as per usual, and the choosing was left to the managers.

The baseball bigwigs didn't realize what they had until they found their All-Star game's advance notices buried beneath the results of the balloting for places on the College All Stars, who annually tackle the professional champions at Chicago's Soldier Field in August.

When they awakened, baseball's All-Star game was returned to the trade, but only to the extent of the starting eight positions. The managers were to designate 17 of the 25.

Casey Stengel was asked to submit his list by June 30, or the day before Bob Feller pitched his third no-hit game. Regardless of Feller, who even without the third no-hitter, is so richly entitled to a place, Manager Stengel did a shoddy and slipshod job in connection with the American League pitching. It couldn't have been any worse had he been forced to sit down and do it in five minutes.

National Has Vastly Superior Pitching:

Stengel named Ed Lopat to give Easy Ed his first crack at the honor. That ditched the extraordinary Vic Raschi and Allie Reynolds. So the American League wound up with Lopat, Lemon, Garver, Hutchinson, Parnell, Gumpert, Marrero and Schantz.

These against the National's Maglie, Jansen, Newcombe, Roe, Spahn, Blackwell and Leonard with his tricky knuckler. Why it isn't a contest! The American starts with two strikes on it.

If Stengel was held to one pitcher from each outfit, how about Newhouser over Hutchinson and Pierce ahead of Gumpert? And any American Leaguer will tell you Consuegra would be more valuable for three innings than Marrero and that Hooper has it on little Schantz for the same length of time.

Oh, well, the National League requires a lift in these things, and maybe the American set out to give the elder wheel one.

Series Concludes With Game Tonight At the Stadium

Club Drops Pair Over the Week-end

Joel Kern returns to his starting post at third base tonight as the Colonials launch a three-day home stand designed to lift them out of the cellar in the torrid second half race in the Cam-Am League.

Kern, who was player-manager until a seige of virus flattened him a few weeks ago, got into last night's game with the Rome Colonels and delivered a single in two trips.

Buck Etchison's Bombers won the contest, 5 to 1, behind the superlative six-hit pitching of Benny Kiburis, who aided his own cause with a homer.

The Colonials dropped a heartbreaker, 8 to 7, in 10 innings Saturday night in Amsterdam, when Tony Piacente developed a streak of wildness and failed to hold a 5-1 lead.

Kern's return to third solves one of Manager Sam Piacentino's most pressing problems. He was the club's second best hitter and standout defensive player when flattened by illness. With Kern as a steady performer, the Colonels will have one of the best infields in the circuit with Kern, Nick Marino, Dennis Healey and Jack Bickett.

Rome Tonight

The Rome series ends tonight, with the red hot Gloversville Glovers scheduled for single engagements on Tuesday and Wednesday.

Vince Canepa, sturdy right hander who has been pitching in tough luck, or Jack Ormiston, rangy right hander, will get the call tonight.

Kiburis was too tough in the Sunday encounter, yielding only four hits over the first eight innings, never more than one in a single inning. He lost his shutout in the ninth when pinch hitter Jack Allen, who delivered in the clutch Saturday night in Amsterdam, walked with one out. Singles by Joe Kern and Joe Niro sandwiched with an infield out accounted for the tally.

Ayers Loses

The Colonels raked starter Charlie Ayers for 13 hits in 7 1/3 innings, before Manager Piacentino came on for his second (and scoreless) relief stint of the season. Piacentino's appearance on the mound points up the acute pitching situation in the Colonial camp and General Manager Addison Jones was on the phone over the week-end trying to land a new hurler.

Jim Pancoe and Tom Bransfield did the heaviest damage for the Colonels with three hits apiece. Dennis Healey collected a third of the Kingston total with two singles. Kiburis stroked his homer with none on in the fourth.

The Colonials were sharp on defense, racking up three double plays to throttle potential big innings for the Colonels in the early stages of the game.

Wednesday night has been set aside as Downtown Merchants Night, with merchants and fans of the downtown section of the city honoring the Colonials.

Saratoga Raceway Resumes Tonight

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—A $140,000 grand circuit meeting that includes two important tests for Hambletonian candidates gets underway tonight at Saratoga Raceway.

Opening-night feature of the two-week grand circuit session is the $3,000 Poughkeepsie Pace. Congress Lad, owned by Dr. L. A. Parmenter of Corinth, is favored to cop his seventh straight victory in the first division.

Tassel Hanover, world champion three-year-old pacing filly on a half-mile track, will be making her first start as a four-year-old in the second division. Tassel is owned by the Arden Homestead Stable at Goshen.

The Hambletonian previews are the $5,000 Adirondack Wednesday and the $10,000 Runnymede a week later.

Newk and Garver All-Star Starters

By JOE REICHLER

Detroit, July 9 (AP)—Baseball's top players, assembling for tomorrow's All-Star game between the National and American Leagues, will combine business with pleasure.

Even while Managers Eddie Sawyer of the National and Casey Stengel of the American are announcing their starting pitchers and batting orders, player representatives of all 16 clubs, for the first time, will sit down with the owners to discuss common problems. Many of the delegates are members of the All-Star cast.

Detroit's Freddie Hutchinson, American League player representative, is a candidate for starting honors. Stengel, however, is expected to name either Ned Garver, St. Louis righthander, or southpaw Ed Lopat of his own New York Yankees. Don Newcombe, big Brooklyn righthander, is expected to be Sawyer's selection. The rest of the lineup is already set by a vote of over 4,000,000 fans.

The game is assured of a sell-out of some 52,000. The receipts are expected to approach $150,000 already pledged for the player pension fund. The same fund also gets the $6,000,000 television fee for next six World Series and all-star games.

The players do not wish to change that but want a bigger slice of the World Series receipts. Under the present division of Series receipts, the commissioner's office gets the first 15 per cent. Sixty per cent of the balance from the first four games only goes to the players.

Red Sox-Dodgers In Little League

The Red Sox and Dodgers get a chance to improve their position in the Little League standings, when they meet in the kickoff game of the week at 6 p. m. at St. Mary's Field.

The pace setting Yankees who have won three straight, face the Giants on Tuesday and the Red Sox on Thursday. Friday's contest features the Giants against the Dodgers.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting — Jackie Robinson, Dodgers, clouted two-run homer in tenth inning to give Brooklyn 6-4 victory over Philadelphia.

Pitching — Luis Aloma, White Sox, entered ninth inning with two on and none out and retired side without damage to save Chicago's 5-4 victory over St. Louis.

A BOSOXER NOT ON THE BALL

Joe DiMaggio (5), New York Yankees outfielder, slides safely into second as Boston Red Sox Shortstop Johnny Pesky (center) drops ball (left) on throw from Second Baseman Bobby Doerr (next to umpire) in second inning of game at Boston's Fenway Park. Play started when Yankee Catcher Yogi Berra grounded to Doerr. Umpire Bill Grieve is giving the out signal but changed it to safe. DiMaggio, bothered by a pulled leg muscle, left the game after this play. The Red Sox won, 6-3, going into second place in the pennant race and dropping the Yanks to third. (AP Wirephoto)

Week-End Sports

Wimbledon—Doris Hart, Miami, Fla., won the All-England women's championship with a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Shirley Fry, Akron, Ohio. She also paired with Miss Fry to take the women's doubles and with Frank Sedgman, Australia, to capture the mixed doubles crown.

Forest Hills, N. Y.—Jack Tuero, New Orleans, defeated Irvin Dorfman, New York, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4 in the finals of the New York clay court championships.

Toronto — Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, posted a 72-hole score of 273 to win the Canadian Open title.

Henley-on-Thames, Eng.—Pennsylvania's 150-pound crew defeated a German boat in the finals for the Thames challenge cup at the Royal Henley Regatta.

New York — Battlefield ($5.20) won $50,000 Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct.

Twilight Short at Equator

At the equator, twilight is very short because the sun goes down more quickly in those latitudes than farther north or south.

The Scoreboard

Can the Boston Red Sox do it this time?

That's the question fans are asking today as the thrilling American League pennant race takes time out for the All-Star game.

Once again the Red Sox are riding high, threatening to take command. But in the background is an old Red Sox jinx—an extended road trip, graveyard of Red Sox' pennant hopes since 1946.

The Red Sox fanned anew their pennant dreams yesterday by beating the New York Yankees, 6-2. The victory was their eighth straight at home over the Yanks and the 13th in their last 17 starts.

By winning, the Red Sox took over second place from the slumping Yanks and remained a game behind the front-running Chicago White Sox who posted a tough, 5-4 decision over the last-place St. Louis Browns.

Boston, in dumping the Yankees, boosted its Fenway Park record to 30-10, a .750 record. Away from their friendly confines, the Red Sox have won only 17 and lost 19 for a second division, .472 gait.

While the American League race tightened up yesterday, the Brooklyn Dodgers pulled 8½ games away from the runnerup New York Giants in the national.

The Dodgers downed the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-4, in ten innings as the Giants dropped a 6-5 decision to the Boston Braves, also in 10 innings.

Cards Split

The St. Louis Cardinals split a pair with the Pittsburgh Pirates, losing the opener, 6-2, but winning the nightcap, 9-8. A doubleheader between Chicago and Cincinnati was rained out. In remaining American League action, the Washington Senators humbled the Philadelphia Athletics twice, 3-1 and 8-2.

Chicago also overcame a deficit to beat the Browns. The Sox trailed, 4-3, entering the seventh when they tied the score. They won out in the eighth on two singles and former Brownie Bob Dillinger's run-scoring fly.

Early Wynn and Mike Garcia turned back the Tigers before 41,154 in Detroit. The Indians scored five runs in the seventh inning on five hits and a walk to snap a 3-3 tie and win the opener.

Mike Garcia breezed to his tenth victory in the nightcap, called after eight innings because of darkness. Larry Doby supplied the punch with a pair of home runs. The Indians now have won 13 of 14 from the Tigers.

Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers belted a home run with Duke Snider on base in the tenth to beat the Phils. Jim Konstanty served up Robinson's payoff sock.

A tenth-inning home run also beat the Giants. Sid Gordon, a former Giant, delivered the winning wallop for the Braves off Dave Koslo.

Ralph Kiner celebrated his return to action by socking his 20th homer and two doubles to lead the Pirates to victory over the Cards in the opener at Pittsburgh. Kiner had been suspended for three days because of a run-in with Umpire Jocko Conlan last Tuesday. Switch-hitter Red Schoendienst cracked two homer runs and batted in four runs to spark the Cards to victory in the nightcap.

Publinks Golfers In Annual Tourney

Milwaukee, Wis., July 9 (AP)—One of golfdom's most colorful classics—the 26th National Public Links championship—stepped into sports spotlight today.

The Brown Deer Park layout—6513 yards of tree-dotted terrain with a stream meandering across eight fairways — provides a real title test for the pay-as-you-go contingent from 30 states.

Stan Bielat, the Yonkers, N. Y., truck driver who captured the crown at Louisville last year, had William Fenwick of Detroit as opening foe today.

Rhinebeck Fair Plans Stock Races

Rhinebeck—Stock car racing, harness racing and horse and pony shows are among the sporting events scheduled for the annual Dutchess county fair here, Aug. 28-Sept. 1.

Harness racing, featuring some of the best trotters and pacers from Saratoga and Roosevelt raceway is scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of fair week. All races will consist of two heats each over the fast Fairgrounds half-mile track. Purses will run high assuring a full entry in each event.

The fair management has scheduled stock car races for both afternoon and evening on the final day of the fair, Saturday, Sept. 1. All of the drivers who usually compete at the Rhinebeck Speedway will be on hand plus some real hot rods from other areas so Saturday at the fair is a must for all stock car racing fans.

This year the usual big pony show and the light horseshow have been combined into one big event which is scheduled for Thursday and Friday (Aug. 30-31). The two day schedule will include classes for hunters, jumpers and saddle horses, plus horsemanship classes, harness horses and numerous special classes for children.

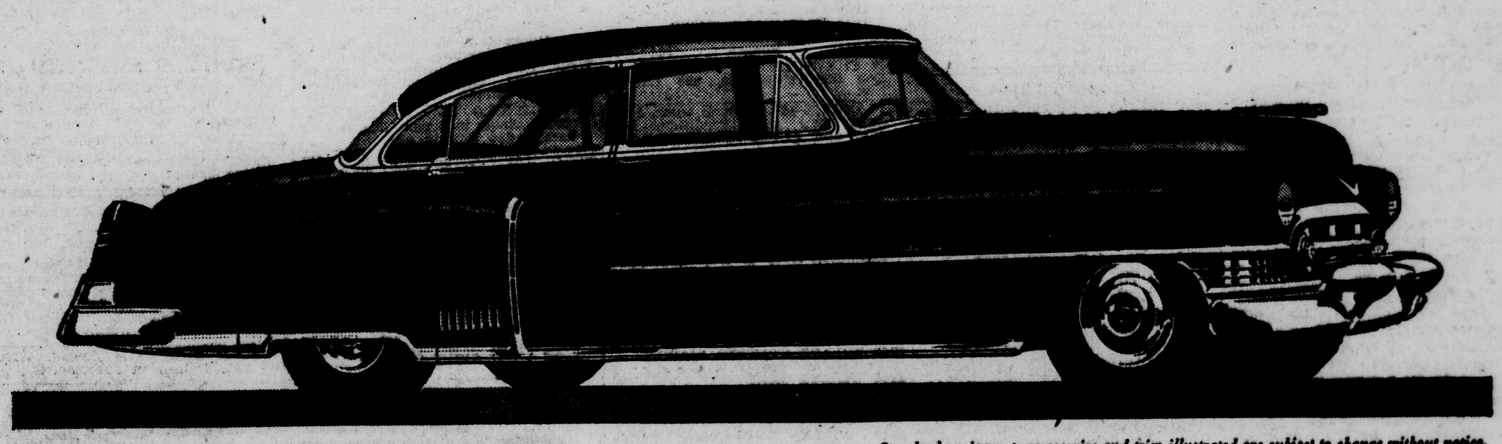

State Qualifying

White Plains, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—The 18-hole qualifying round of the New York State Amateur golf championship gets under way at the Knollwood Country Club today with some 250 hopefuls shooting for places in the match play phase of the tournament. Match play begins tomorrow with defending champion Mike Dudik of Binghamton, Willie Turnesa of Elmsford and Sam Urzetta of East Rochester automatically qualifying.

It's Good for You!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

These are days to try the mettle of a man. There's his world to worry about—his country—his business—his family. And there are his own hopes and aspirations.

And, yet, a man must go on. Everything he has, and plans for, demands a tilt to his head and a lilt to his spirits.

Just to look at it, in the driveway, is an inspiration—proud, beautiful, eager and substantial.

And, oh, how you rest when it takes to the highway! There's the deep-throated lullaby of its powerful engine; there's the soothing, restful, relaxing ride; and there's the soft swish of the wind as it flows past the streamlined body.

Men look forward to it throughout the day.

We have it on the word of a great statesman, and a great surgeon, and a great general, and a great business man—and simply thousands of others who are weary with the heavy burden of things as they are—that the hour at the wheel of a Cadillac is the relaxing one of the twenty-four.

So there you have the prescription. Better come in and see us today—and make arrangements to have it filled.

Newk and Garver All-Star Starters

By JOE REICHLER

Detroit, July 9 (AP)—Baseball's top players, assembling for tomorrow's All-Star game between the National and American Leagues, will combine business with pleasure.

Even while Managers Eddie Sawyer of the National and Casey Stengel of the American are announcing their starting pitchers and batting orders, player representatives of all 16 clubs, for the first time, will sit down with the owners to discuss common problems. Many of the delegates are members of the All-Star cast.

Detroit's Freddie Hutchinson, American League player representative, is a candidate for starting honors. Stengel, however, is expected to name either Ned Garver, St. Louis righthander, or southpaw Ed Lopat of his own New York Yankees. Don Newcombe, big Brooklyn righthander, is expected to be Sawyer's selection. The rest of the lineup is already set by a vote of over 4,000,000 fans.

The game is assured of a sell-out of some 52,000. The receipts are expected to approach $150,000 already pigeonholed for the player pension fund. The same fund also gets the $6,000,000 television fee for next six World Series and all-star games.

The players do not wish to change that but want a bigger slice of the World Series receipts. Under the present division of Series receipts, the commissioner's office gets the first 15 per cent. Sixty per cent of the balance from the first four games only goes to the players.

Red Sox-Dodgers In Little League

The Red Sox and Dodgers get a chance to improve their position in the Little League standings, when they meet in the kickoff game of the week at 6 p. m. at St. Mary's Field.

The pace setting Yankees who have won three straight, face the Giants on Tuesday and the Red Sox on Thursday. Friday's contest features the Giants against the Dodgers.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting — Jackie Robinson, Dodgers, clouted two-run homer in tenth inning to give Brooklyn 6-4 victory over Philadelphia.

Pitching — Luis Aloma, White Sox, entered ninth inning with two on and none out and retired side without damage to save Chicago's 5-4 victory over St. Louis.

A BOSOXER NOT ON THE BALL

Joe DiMaggio (5), New York Yankees outfielder, slides safely into second as Boston Red Sox Shortstop Johnny Pesky (center) drops ball (left) on throw from Second Baseman Bobby Doerr (next to umpire) in second inning of game at Boston's Fenway Park. Play started when Yankee Catcher Yogi Berra grounded to Doerr. Umpire Bill Grieve is giving the out signal but changed it to safe. DiMaggio, bothered by a pulled leg muscle, left the game after this play. The Red Sox won, 6-3, going into second place in the pennant race and dropping the Yanks to third. (AP Wirephoto)

Week-End Sports

Wimbledon—Doris Hart, Miami, Fla., won the All-England women's championship with a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Shirley Fry, Akron, Ohio. Shé also paired with Miss Fry to take the women's doubles and with Frank Sedgman, Australia, to capture the mixed doubles crown.

Forest Hills, N. Y.—Jack Tuero, New Orleans, defeated Irvin Dorfman, New York, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4 in the finals of the New York clay court championships.

Toronto — Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, posted a 72-hole score of 273 to win the Canadian Open title.

Henley-on-Thames, Eng.—Pennsylvania's 150-pound crew defeated a German boat in the finals for the Thames challenge cup at the Royal Henley Regatta.

New York — Battlefield ($5.20) won $50,000 Dwyer Stakes at Aqueduct.

Can the Boston Red Sox do it this time?

Once again the Red Sox are riding high, threatening to take command. But in the background is an old Red Sox jinx—an extended road trip, graveyard of Red Sox' pennant hopes since 1946.

The Red Sox fanned anew their pennant dreams yesterday by beating the New York Yankees, 6-2. The victory was their eighth straight at home over the Yanks and the 13th in their last 17 starts.

By winning, the Red Sox took over second place from the slumping Yanks and remained a game behind the front-running Chicago White Sox who posted a tough, 5-4 decision over the last-place St. Louis Browns.

Boston, in dumping the Yankees, boosted its Fenway Park record to 30-10, a .750 record. Away from their friendly confines, the Red Sox have won only 17 and lost 19 for a second division, .472 gait.

While the American League race tightened up yesterday, the Brooklyn Dodgers pulled 8½ games away from the runnerup New York Giants in the national.

The Dodgers downed the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-4, in ten innings as the Giants dropped a 6-5 decision to the Boston Braves, also in 10 innings.

Cards Split

The St. Louis Cardinals split a pair with the Pittsburgh Pirates, losing the opener, 6-2, but winning the nightcap, 9-8. A doubleheader between Chicago and Cincinnati was rained out. In remaining American League action, the Washington Senators humbled the Philadelphia Athletics twice, 3-1 and 8-2.

Chicago also overcame a deficit to beat the Browns. The Sox trailed, 4-3, entering the seventh when they tied the score. They won out in the eighth on two singles and former Brownie Bob Dillinger's run-scoring fly.

Early Wynn and Mike Garcia turned back the Tigers before 41,154 in Detroit. The Indians scored five runs in the seventh inning on five hits and a walk to snap a 3-3 tie and win the opener.

Mike Garcia breezed to his tenth victory in the nightcap, called after eight innings because of darkness. Larry Doby supplied the punch with a pair of home runs. The Indians now have won 13 of 14 from the Tigers.

Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers belted a home run with Duke Snider on base in the tenth to beat the Phils. Jim Konstanty served up Robinson's payoff sock.

A tenth-inning home run also beat the Giants. Sid Gordon, a former Giant, delivered the winning wallop for the Braves off Dave Koslo.

Ralph Kiner celebrated his return to action by socking his 20th homer and two doubles to lead the Pirates to victory over the Cards in the opener at Pittsburgh. Kiner had been suspended for three days because of a run-in with Umpire Jocko Conlan last Tuesday. Switch-hitter Red Schoendienst cracked two homer runs and batted in four runs to spark the Cards to victory in the nightcap.

Publinks Golfers In Annual Tourney

Milwaukee, Wis., July 9 (AP)—One of golfdom's most colorful classics—the 26th National Public Links championship—stepped into sports spotlight today.

The Brown Deer Park layout—6513 yards of tree-dotted terrain with a stream meandering across eight fairways — provides a real title test for the pay-as-you-go contingent from 30 states.

It's all man-to-man match play for 210 qualifiers, with 164 clashing today and another 46 going into action Tuesday after drawing first round byes.

Stan Bielat, the Yonkers, N. Y., truck driver who captured the crown at Louisville last year, had William Fenwick of Detroit as opening foe today.

Rhinebeck Fair Plans Stock Races

Rhinebeck—Stock car racing, harness racing and horse and pony shows are among the sporting events scheduled for the annual Dutchess county fair here, Aug. 28-Sept. 1.

Harness racing, featuring some of the best trotters and pacers from Saratoga and Roosevelt raceway is scheduled for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of fair week. All races will consist of two heats each over the fast Fairgrounds half-mile track. Purses will run high assuring a full entry in each event.

The fair management has scheduled stock car races for both afternoon and evening on the final day of the fair, Saturday, Sept. 1. All of the drivers who usually compete at the Rhinebeck Speedway will be on hand plus some real hot rods from other areas so Saturday at the fair is a must for all stock car racing fans.

This year the usual big pony show and the light horseshow have been combined into one big event which is scheduled for Thursday and Friday (Aug. 30-31). The two day schedule will include classes for hunters, jumpers and saddle horses, plus horsemanship classes, harness horses and numerous special classes for children.

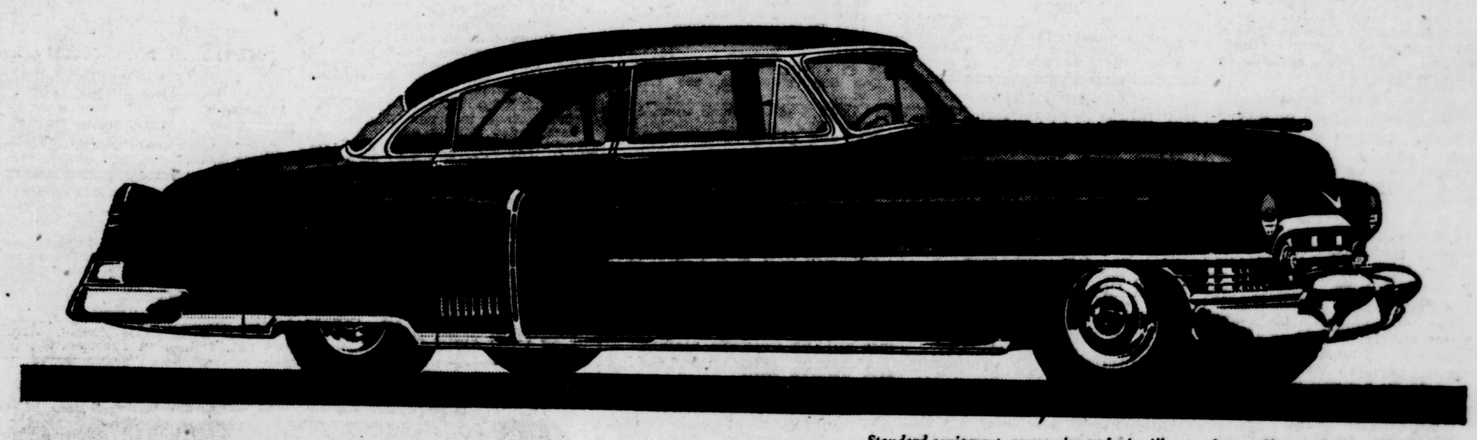

State Qualifying

White Plains, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—The 18-hole qualifying round of the New York State Amateur golf championship gets under way at the Knollwood Country Club today with some 250 hopefuls shooting for places in the match play phase of the tournament. Match play begins tomorrow with defending champion Mike Dudik of Binghamton, Willie Turnesa of Elmsford and Sam Urzetta of East Rochester automatically qualifying.

It's Good for You!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

These are days to try the mettle of a man. There's his world to worry about—his country—his business—his family. And there are his own hopes and aspirations.

And, yet, a man must go on. Everything he has, and plans for, demands a tilt to his head and a lilt to his spirits.

And that's where his Cadillac comes into the picture—for here, beyond all question, is one of the world's great therapeutics for a world-weary man.

And, oh, how you rest when it takes to the highway!

There's the deep-throated lullaby of its powerful engine; there's the soothing, restful, relaxing ride; and there's the soft swish of the wind as it flows past the streamlined body.

Men look forward to it throughout the day.

We have it on the word of a great statesman, and a great surgeon, and a great general, and a great business man—and simply thousands of others who are weary with the heavy burden of things as they are—that the hour at the wheel of a Cadillac is the relaxing one of the twenty-four.

So there you have the prescription. Better come in and see us today—and make arrangements to have it filled.

Barrow's Daughter Plunges to Death

New York, July 9 (AP)—The 45-year-old daughter of Edward Grant Barrow, former president of the New York Yankees baseball team, plunged 11 stories to her death early today, police said.

Authorities said Mrs. Audrey Barrow Shafer fell or jumped from her apartment in Manhattan's new Sutton Terrace apartments.

Both her legs were sheared off near the hips when she hurtled past a railing of a stair well in the building's rear courtyard, police said.

Detectives said they found in her apartment a copy of Barrow's book, "My Fifty Years in Baseball." Inscribed on the flyleaf were the words: "To my daughter, Audrey Barrow Shafer, May 25, 1951."

Police said they attempted to reach Barrow at his Rye, N. Y., home.

Hurlers Are Named

Detroit, July 9 (AP)—Ned Garver of the St. Louis Browns and Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies, both right-handers, were named today as the starting pitchers for the All-Star game tomorrow.

Australia, New Zealand End War With Germany

Sydney, Australia, July 9 (AP)—Australia and New Zealand formally ended their state of war with Germany today. New Zealand also announced the end of a state of war with Austria.

The United States, Britain and France are expected to take similar action shortly.

New Zealand External Affairs Minister Frederick W. Doidge said in Wellington, the significance of the action would become most immediately apparent in the fields of local trade and law.

"It will not diminish the rights of the occupying powers in Germany nor affect several important questions which must be settled at an appropriate time in a formal peace treaty," he said.

Police Probing Downtown Fire

A police investigation was in progress today to determine the origin of a fire of apparent incendiary origin on the loading platform of the Cordts building, Hasbrouck avenue and East Strand Sunday.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said the fire had been started with papers and a wooden crate and was similar to others in the same area which were traced to young boys earlier this year. Detective Clarence Brophy, who is investigating, also said the fire is the apparent work of youngsters.

The blaze was discovered by Arthur Boughton, 9 Hasbrouck avenue, who notified Jacob Senor of the S. & C. Restaurant, who quenched it with a fire extinguisher. Firemen were called at 12:35 p. m., by still alarm.

The fire had been "built up against an overhead door" on the platform, Chief Murphy said, "and if it had not been discovered, in a couple of more minutes," it would have made its way inside the building. It charred the door and had just started to go inside when it was checked, he said.

INSPIRED PROSPERITY

As a boy on a Schoharie county, New York dairy farm, I learned first-hand how low basic agricultural prices kill any ideas of prosperity. In those early days milk, as we sold it by the 40 quart can into the Albany and New York city markets, averaged around a cent a quart wholesale.

And even at this low price, my father's losses were considerable every year through shipping. Refrigeration was then in its infancy and the milk dealers in the cities would often report that the milk was sour on arrival.

When milk was a cent a quart, eggs and cream and potatoes—products we sold off our farm—were also bringing low prices. Seeing my father and his neighbors slave for a pittance caused me to decide before I was 15 years old never to become a farmer.

There was a mortgage on our farm and year after year when the interest on it was due and payable April first, my father would often sell a cow or two to pay the obligation. That was disposing of a capital asset and it was a sad day when this happened.

These boyhood memories I shall carry to my grave. They account for my keen interest in agricultural prosperity. Without it, economic America is sunk. The industrial machinery of our great country moves when the wheat, cotton, corn, milk, potato farmers enjoy sound buying power.

In recent years I have followed closely all governmental activity that inspires farm prosperity. The monthly reports that come to me from Washington I study assiduously. I have a hunch that if such an enterprise as the Commodity Credit Corporation had been functioning when I was a boy, I would now be supervising farms up in the Catskill Mountains.

This corporation, through its price supports and lending activities, throws a prosperity around more than 25 different farm products. I shall mention a few of them:

Wheat—Corn,
Tobacco—Butter.
Peanuts—Grain Sorghum.
Potatoes—Dried Milk.
Cotton—Wool.
Soy Beans—Dried Eggs.

The operations of the Commodity Credit Corporation run into the billions of dollars. The assets of this giant enterprise on April 30, 1951, were more than $2,642,000,000.

Where, one may ask, does this money come from? Why, from the United States Treasury Department. And where does the Treasury get the money? From (1) taxation and (2) borrowing, whichever is necessary.

The present program of the Commodity Credit Corporation would have been inconceivable in my boyhood. It is taken for granted today. It is an agency of the government that inspires agricultural prosperity. And, as I have said previously, if farmers lose their buying power, economic America will collapse.

In the light of what has happened in recent years along farm lines, it is fairly safe to project other economic programs into the future.

If the United States of America should enter a period faintly resembling the depression thirties (when wheat was 40 cents a bushel, cotton 5 cents a pound and total national income 40 billions of dollars a year) a lot of organizations patterned after the Commodity Credit Corporation doubtless would be set up.

And the greater the number of such governmental agencies commissioned, the surer would be the eclipsing of our free enterprise system. In other words, the signs of the economic times point to greater and greater government participation in the inspired prosperity.

Getting acclimated to these programs should be the job of all investors. Those faithful souls holding idle dollars waiting for an economic 'bust' should occasionally be reminded of the vast powers in Washington to support prices, issue and sell bonds to finance deficits and to create new money by billions at a time.

There were no official reports of Allied losses in the air battles Sunday and Monday. The Red radio in Pyongyang said three Allied planes were downed Sunday.

UN Newsmen May

army photographer, taken along at the last minute.

UN correspondents argued that the allies, in leaving newsmen behind yesterday, had been outsmarted by the Communists.

They felt the Communists, with their press on hand, would take advantage of the tremendous propaganda possibilities in such an occasion. Allied reporters were forced to depend on official releases and hasty interviews at Seoul and at Munsan, site of the allied advance "peace camp."

156th Artillery Back From Camp

Kingston and Poughkeepsie units of the 156th Field Artillery, National Guard, arrived back home Saturday after two weeks of training at Pine Camp.

The men travelled in a convoy of about 400 officers and men and 75 trucks. The Kingston unit reached the state armory off Manor avenue at about 3 p. m.

A spokesman for the 156th said today that they had been outstanding in all activities at the camp in a program that was generally "rugged" and with lots of rain in the camp area throughout their stay. They left here shortly after midnight on June 23.

Shortly after the arrival of the 156th, a convoy of the 991st Field Artillery, which is part of the 107th Regimental Combat team, pulled in at the local armory for an overnight stay before returning to their army base in Brooklyn. The convoy was not as large as that of the Kingston and Poughkeepsie guard units.

power, Taft opposed taking the initiative in building up a European defense army but agreed to go along on furnishing a few divisions. He can be expected to lay the blame for present Asiatic differences on international agreements reached at Yalta and Potsdam.

Taft's literary effort probably will hit the bookstores after Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York has fired off a series of articles for Collier's Magazine on his current trip to Korea and Asia. Collier's officials said they were helping finance the trip.

Jersey Man Charged As Drunken Driver

Thomas Harris, 49, of 15 Carpenter street, Belleville, N. J., who was arrested early Sunday on a charge of driving while intoxicated, was sentenced to pay a fine of $75 or spend 75 days in jail when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

The police report at 2:30 a. m., said Harris was arrested by Special Officer James Harbeck on Railroad avenue near Thomas street. His car struck a taxicab near there, but caused no damage, the report said.

Harris' Boston Terrier dog, which was in the car when the arrest was made, was left in the care of a friend at the Governor Clinton Hotel, police said. Harris was still being detained by police this morning, but expected to have the money to pay the fine later today.

Controversy over the controls program has flared into a nation-wide political fight. The administration is bringing its heaviest artillery to bear on an opposition drive to cut controls sharply or do away with them altogether.

Some lawmakers are looking to the cease-fire talks in Korea for possible ammunition for their claims that controls are not needed, or that the mobilization program could be slowed down.

The administration insists that no matter what happens in Korea, the nation must go ahead with its plans to prepare for possible communist aggression.

President Truman's lieutenants said they believed the House would pass some sort of an extension bill this week. But they admitted it is likely to fall far short of what the administration wants.

Wilson broadcast over the ABC and NBC networks at 8:30 (EST) and the NBC television chain at 10 (EST).

It was learned, he will stress that the nation cannot afford to let its mobilization effort lag no matter what happens in Korea, because of the continuing worldwide threat of communism.

An all-out opposition group, evidently still in a minority, wants to abolish all controls at once, and might pick up considerable strength in the event of an armistice agreement in Korea.

The House bill calls for a one-year extension of the controls, with numerous restrictions and conditions. It consists of 57 separate committee amendments to the 1950 defense production act. Another 20 or 30 are likely to be offered from the floor by individual members. Each amendment is subject to a tentative vote when the House works as a big committee, plus a final rollcall later if the members desire.

The control extender already passed by the Senate would drastically curtail any future price rollbacks. The House measure would prohibit them altogether.

O'Brien Much Improved

York, July 9 (AP)—Lenox Hill Hospital says former Mayor John P. O'Brien, 78, is expected to leave the hospital today in a "much improved" condition. He entered the hospital in mid-May for treatment of an undisclosed disease. O'Brien was elected mayor in 1932 to fill the unexpired term of the late James J. Walker, who had resigned. The late Fiorello H. LaGuardia defeated O'Brien, a regular Democrat, the following year.

Barrow's Daughter Plunges to Death

New York, July 9 (AP)—The 45-year-old daughter of Edward Grant Barrow, former president of the New York Yankees baseball team, plunged 11 stories to her death early today, police said.

Authorities said Mrs. Audrey Barrow Shafer fell or jumped from her apartment in Manhattan's new Sutton Terrace apartments.

Both her legs were sheared off near the hips when she hurtled past a railing of a stair well in the building's rear courtyard, police said.

Detectives said they found in her apartment a copy of Barrow's book, "My Fifty Years in Baseball." Inscribed on the flyleaf were the words: "To my daughter, Audrey Barrow Shafer, May 25, 1951."

Police said they attempted to reach Barrow at his Rye, N. Y., home.

Australia, New Zealand End War With Germany

Sydney, Australia, July 9 (AP)—Australia and New Zealand formally ended their state of war with Germany today. New Zealand also announced the end of a state of war with Austria.

The United States, Britain and France are expected to take similar action shortly.

New Zealand External Affairs Minister Frederick W. Doidge said in Wellington, the significance of the action would become most immediately apparent in the fields of local trade and law.

"It will not diminish the rights of the occupying powers in Germany nor affect several important questions which must be settled at an appropriate time in a formal peace treaty," he said.

Police Probing Downtown Fire

A police investigation was in progress today to determine the origin of a fire of apparent incendiary origin on the loading platform of the Cordts building, Hasbrouck avenue and East Strand Sunday.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said the fire had been started with papers and a wooden crate and was similar to others in the same area which were traced to young boys earlier this year. Detective Clarence Brophy, who is investigating, also said the fire is the apparent work of youngsters.

The blaze was discovered by Arthur Boughton, 9 Hasbrouck avenue, who notified Jacob Senor of the S. & C. Restaurant, who quenched it with a fire extinguisher. Firemen were called at 12:35 p. m., by still alarm.

The fire had been "built up against an overhead door" on the platform, Chief Murphy said, "and if it had not been discovered, in a couple of more minutes," it would have made its way inside the building. It charred the door and had just started to go inside when it was checked, he said.

Miron Building Products Co., Inc., of 60 Ferry street, is using the building for the storage of paints and building supplies, the chief said.

INSPIRED PROSPERITY

As a boy on a Schoharie county, New York dairy farm, I learned first-hand how low basic agricultural prices kill any ideas of prosperity. In those early days milk, as we sold it by the 40 quart can into the Albany and New York city markets, averaged around a cent a quart wholesale.

And even at this low price, my father's losses were considerable every year through shipping. Refrigeration was then in its infancy and the milk dealers in the cities would often report that the milk was sour on arrival.

When milk was a cent a quart, eggs and cream and potatoes—products we sold off our farm—were also bringing low prices. Seeing my father and his neighbors slave for a pittance caused me to decide before I was 15 years old never to become a farmer.

There was a mortgage on our farm and year after year when the interest on it was due and payable April first, my father would often sell a cow or two to pay the obligation. That was disposing of a capital asset and it was a sad day when this happened.

These boyhood memories I shall carry to my grave. They account for my keen interest in agricultural prosperity. Without it, economic America is sunk. The industrial machinery of our great country moves when the wheat, cotton, corn, milk, potato farmers enjoy sound buying power.

In recent years I have followed closely all governmental activity that inspires farm prosperity. The monthly reports that come to me from Washington I study assiduously. I have a hunch that if such an enterprise as the Commodity Credit Corporation had been functioning when I was a boy, I would now be supervising farms up in the Catskill Mountains.

This corporation, through its price supports and lending activities, throws a prosperity around more than 25 different farm products. I shall mention a few of them:

Wheat—Corn.
Tobacco—Butter.
Peanuts—Grain Sorghum.
Potatoes—Dried Milk.
Cotton—Wool.
Soy Beans—Dried Eggs.

The operations of the Commodity Credit Corporation run into the billions of dollars. The assets of this giant enterprise on April 30, 1951, were more than $2,642,000,000.

Where, one may ask, does this money come from? Why, from the United States Treasury Department. And where does the Treasury get the money? From (1) taxation and (2) borrowing, whichever is necessary.

The present program of the Commodity Credit Corporation would have been inconceivable in my boyhood. It is taken for granted today. It is an agency of the government that inspires agricultural prosperity. And, as I have said previously, if farmers lose their buying power, economic America will collapse.

In the light of what has happened in recent years along farm lines, it is fairly safe to project other economic programs into the future.

If the United States of America should enter a period faintly resembling the depression thirties (when wheat was 40 cents a bushel, cotton 5 cents a pound and total national income 40 billions of dollars a year) a lot of organizations patterned after the Commodity Credit Corporation doubtless would be set up.

And the greater the number of such governmental agencies commissioned, the surer would be the eclipsing of our free enterprise system. In other words, the signs of the economic times point to greater and greater government participation in the inspired prosperity.

Getting acclimated to these programs should be the job of all investors. Those faithful souls holding idle dollars waiting for an economic 'bust' should occasionally be reminded of the vast powers in Washington to support prices, issue and sell bonds to finance deficits and to create new money by billions at a time.

Earlier reports said thousands of Communist vehicles jammed North Korean roads Sunday night. They were moving in all directions on all main roads.

In Washington, Air Secretary Finletter said the Reds have massed more than 1,000 planes in North Korea and Manchuria.

There were no official reports of Allied losses in the air battles Sunday and Monday. The Red radio in Pyongyang said three Allied planes were downed Sunday.

UN Newsmen May

army photographer, taken along at the last minute.

UN correspondents argued that the allies, in leaving newsmen behind yesterday, had been outsmarted by the Communists.

They felt the Communists, with their press on hand, would take advantage of the tremendous propaganda possibilities in such an occasion. Allied reporters were forced to depend on official releases and hasty interviews at Seoul and at Munsan, site of the allied advance "peace camp."

156th Artillery Back From Camp

Kingston and Poughkeepsie units of the 156th Field Artillery, National Guard, arrived back home Saturday after two weeks of training at Pine Camp.

The men travelled in a convoy of about 400 officers and men and 75 trucks. The Kingston unit reached the state armory off Manor avenue at about 3 p. m.

A spokesman for the 156th said today that they had been outstanding in all activities at the camp in a program that was generally "rugged" and with lots of rain in the camp area throughout their stay. They left here shortly after midnight on June 23.

Shortly after the arrival of the 156th, a convoy of the 991st Field Artillery, which is part of the 107th Regimental Combat team, pulled in at the local armory for an overnight stay before returning to their army base in Brooklyn. The convoy was not as large as that of the Kingston and Poughkeepsie guard units.

power, Taft opposed taking the initiative in building up a European defense army but agreed to go along on furnishing a few divisions. He can be expected to lay the blame for present Asiatic differences on international agreements reached at Yalta and Potsdam.

Taft's literary effort probably will hit the bookstores after Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York has fired off a series of articles for Collier's Magazine on his current trip to Korea and Asia. Collier's officials said they were helping finance the trip.

Jersey Man Charged As Drunken Driver

Thomas Harris, 49, of 15 Carpenter street, Belleville, N. J., who was arrested early Sunday on a charge of driving while intoxicated, was sentenced to pay a fine of $75 or spend 75 days in jail when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

The police report at 2:30 a. m., said Harris was arrested by Special Officer James Harbeck on Railroad avenue near Thomas street. His car struck a taxicab near there, but caused no damage, the report said.

Harris' Boston Terrier dog, which was in the car when the arrest was made, was left in the care of a friend at the Governor Clinton Hotel, police said. Harris was still being detained by police this morning, but expected to have the money to pay the fine later today.

amendments to a bill which would extend the present wage, price and other economic controls.

Controversy over the controls program has flared into a nationwide political fight. The administration is bringing its heaviest artillery to bear on an opposition drive to cut controls sharply or do away with them altogether.

President Truman has asked for increased powers over the nation's economy to speed the defense effort and check inflation.

His top mobilization officer, Charles E. Wilson, is scheduled to make a "major policy speech" by radio and television tonight.

Some lawmakers are looking to the cease-fire talks in Korea for possible ammunition for their claims that controls are not needed, or that the mobilization program could be slowed down.

The administration insists that no matter what happens in Korea, the nation must go ahead with its plans to prepare for possible communist aggression.

President Truman's lieutenants said they believed the House would pass some sort of an extension bill this week. But they admitted it is likely to fall far short of what the administration wants.

Wilson broadcast over the ABC and NBC networks at 8:30 (EST) and the NBC television chain at 10 (EST).

It was learned, he will stress that the nation cannot afford to let its mobilization effort lag no matter what happens in Korea, because of the continuing worldwide threat of communism.

An all-out opposition group, evidently still in a minority, wants to abolish all controls at once, and might pick up considerable strength in the event of an armistice agreement in Korea.

The House bill calls for a one-year extension of the controls, with numerous restrictions and conditions. It consists of 57 separate committee amendments to the 1950 defense production act. Another 20 or 30 are likely to be offered from the floor by individual members. Each amendment is subject to a tentative vote when the House works as a big committee, plus a final rollcall later if the members desire.

The control extender already passed by the Senate would drastically curtail any future price rollbacks. The House measure would prohibit them altogether.

O'Brien Much Improved

New York, July 9 (AP)—Lenox Hill Hospital says former Mayor John P. O'Brien, 78, is expected to leave the hospital today in a "much improved" condition. He entered the hospital in mid-May for treatment of an undisclosed disease. O'Brien was elected mayor in 1932 to fill the unexpired term of the late James J. Walker, who had resigned. The late Fiorello H. LaGuardia defeated O'Brien, a regular Democrat, the following year.

Day Camp Begins Third Week Period With Top Turnout

The YMCA Day Camp at DeWitt Lake started its third week of the 1951 season today with another record registration of more than 125 which makes all of the first three weeks over that mark. This is a YMCA Day Camp record.

The third week of Day Camp has always been large. Many boys and girls have started the two weeks previous and then the large influx after the July 4 vacation. The mid-day camp season's track and field is run off as well as the swimming and diving events. Blue, red and white ribbons with first, second and third place inscribed on it along with the camp insignia are sought by all. These events will take place Tuesday and Wednesday mornings, depending on the weather. If Tuesday morning is warm the swimming events will be held. If the weather is cold the athletic events will take over and swimming will be held Wednesday.

During the first two weeks with the cold and rainy weather, all camp activities were going strong. Many youngsters are starting to swim and all are participating in games. This season Lou Schafer, camp director, has a new idea and is presenting diplomas for various Day Camp achievements. Only eight have been presented to campers, but more will be given as the many camp achievements are accomplished. These achievements awards are selected through the camp councellors and presented each week-end. During the first week of camp, the awards were given for camp participation in the junior division to Peggy Doyle and Charles O'Reilly. The second week's awards went to Blair Craig of New Paltz and Mary Lou Holbrook. In the senior division the first week's awards went to Raymond Cord and Patricia Van Deusen and the second week's prizes went to John Secreto and Betsy Bechtold. Swimming, athletics, craft work and various camp game achievements will be added to this list for the third week.

New boys and girls replacing those who dropped out include in the lower or junior camp: Wayne Bock, Henry Field, David and Jeffery Rusk, Freeman Wood, Katherine Brinnier, JoAnn Hopper, Mary Jane and Severyn Hasbrouck, Joan Markle, Susanne and Jo Ann Styles, Raymond Conklin, Gail Haynes, Sue McElveen, Rebecca Krum, David Holly, Jean Hessdorfer, Richard, Douglas and Lynda Noble, Pamela Shiels, Treey Mellert, John Quest, Mary O'Connor, Michael Koenig, Geo. Arold, Dale Stafford and Louise Stock.

In the upper or senior camp are: Alfred and Ann Freidel, Mark Reiker, Richard and Robert Styles, Marvin Engle, Dorothea Van Kleeck, Willard Thomas, Marilyn Thomas, Mary and Helen McDermott, William Biddington, Peter Keizer, Margaret Sill, Jethro Gibbs, David Rylance, David Dempsey, Robert Schoen, Bonny Sprague.

Sweeping Powers for Civil Defense Directors

Albany, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—Each of the 103 city and county civil defense directors in New York will acquire tomorrow sweeping powers to obtain materials, equipment and facilities needed after an atomic attack.

The powers are contained in a directive issued yesterday by Col. Lawrence Wilkinson, chairman and director of the state Civil Defense Commission.

Each local director will be empowered to buy, rent or requisition, in the name of the state, materials, equipment and facilities for temporary or permanent use.

Wilkinson said the powers would be used to provide for injured, homeless or distressed persons found in or brought into a local civil defense director's territory because of an attack.

The state will reimburse owners of requisitioned equipment or property at prices in effect just prior to an atomic attack, Wilkinson said.

Esopus Legion Meeting Tuesday

Port Ewen, July 9—The monthly meeting of the Town of Esopus Post No. 1298, American Legion, will be held Tuesday evening at the Post home on Legion Court in Port Ewen.

Highlight of the meeting will be a report on Boys' State, the annual conclave of young men from all over New York state held at Colgate University in June and sponsored by the American Legion. The report will be made by William Gaudette of Ulster Park, the young man who represented the Esopus Legion at Boys' State this year.

In addition to Mr. Gaudette's remarks, other features of business to come before the meeting will be the report on the fireworks sponsored by the Esopus Legion during the Fourth of July week at Aero Airport, and the announcing of the program for the year ahead.

An executive meeting is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Legion Home in Port Ewen. All executive members are requested to attend.

Interviews For Government Work

Representatives of the United States Department of State from Washington, D. C., are in Kingston at the Governor Clinton Hotel, room 120, where they will interview typists, stenographers, radio, press and motion picture specialists for employment in government work. Mrs. Rosemary Davenport and Miss Ann Jablonski will interview applicants from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. and from 7 p. m. until 9 p. m. today and Tuesday.

Many of the positions are in the department's "Voice of America" program whose influence has been felt around the world wherever distorted Red propaganda rears its head.

Typists who can type 40 words a minute or stenographers who can take 80 words a minute dictation are eligible for positions starting at a salary of $2,874. A month of paid annual leave and 15 days of paid sick leave is allowed each year. Positions may be assigned in Washington or in one of the overseas posts.

Banking Case Before Appellate Division

Albany, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—New York State's fight to prevent national banks from using the word "savings" in their advertising is now before the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court.

Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein said yesterday he had filed an appeal from a lower court decision that held unconstitutional the state law banning the use of the word "savings" by such banks.

Under the law, a bank with checking accounts and other commercial business, in addition to savings accounts, is prohibited from describing itself in any way as a savings bank.

Justice Thomas J. Cuff of State Supreme Court ruled against the state May 31 at Mineola.

He denied Goldstein's request for a permanent injunction to restrain the Franklin National Bank of Franklin Square, L. I., from using the word "savings" in its advertising.

Franklin National Bank contends it is entitled to use the word in soliciting savings bank business.

Sweeping Powers for Civil Defense Directors

Albany, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—Each of the 103 city and county civil defense directors in New York will acquire tomorrow sweeping powers to obtain materials, equipment and facilities needed after an atomic attack.

The powers are contained in a directive issued yesterday by Col. Lawrence Wilkinson, chairman and director of the state Civil Defense Commission.

Each local director will be empowered to buy, rent or requisition, in the name of the state, materials, equipment and facilities for temporary or permanent use.

Wilkinson said the powers would be used to provide for injured, homeless or distressed persons found in or brought into a local civil defense director's territory because of an attack.

The state will reimburse owners of requisitioned equipment or property at prices in effect just prior to an atomic attack, Wilkinson said.

Esopus Legion Meeting Tuesday

Port Ewen, July 9—The monthly meeting of the Town of Esopus Post No. 1298, American Legion, will be held Tuesday evening at the Post home on Legion Court in Port Ewen.

Highlight of the meeting will be a report on Boys' State, the annual conclave of young men from all over New York state held at Colgate University in June and sponsored by the American Legion. The report will be made by William Gaudette of Ulster Park, the young man who represented the Esopus Legion at Boys' State this year.

In addition to Mr. Gaudette's remarks, other features of business to come before the meeting will be the report on the fireworks sponsored by the Esopus Legion during the Fourth of July week at Aero Airport, and the announcing of the program for the year ahead.

An executive meeting is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock at the Legion Home in Port Ewen. All executive members are requested to attend.

Interviews For Government Work

Representatives of the United States Department of State from Washington, D. C., are in Kingston at the Governor Clinton Hotel, room 120, where they will interview typists, stenographers, radio, press and motion picture specialists for employment in government work. Mrs. Rosemary Davenport and Miss Ann Jablonski will interview applicants from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. and from 7 p. m. until 9 p. m. today and Tuesday.

Many of the positions are in the department's "Voice of America" program whose influence has been felt around the world wherever distorted Red propaganda rears its head.

Typists who can type 40 words a minute or stenographers who can take 80 words a minute dictation are eligible for positions starting at a salary of $2,874. A month of paid annual leave and 15 days of paid sick leave is allowed each year. Positions may be assigned in Washington or in one of the overseas posts.

Banking Case Before Appellate Division

Albany, N. Y., July 9 (AP)—New York State's fight to prevent national banks from using the word "savings" in their advertising is now before the Appellate Division of State Supreme Court.

Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein said yesterday he had filed an appeal from a lower court decision that held unconstitutional the state law banning the use of the word "savings" by such banks.

Under the law, a bank with checking accounts and other commercial business, in addition to savings accounts, is prohibited from describing itself in any way as a savings bank.

Justice Thomas J. Cuff of State Supreme Court ruled against the state May 31 at Mineola.

He denied Goldstein's request for a permanent injunction to restrain the Franklin National Bank of Franklin Square, L. I., from using the word "savings" in its advertising.

Franklin National Bank contends it is entitled to use the word in soliciting savings bank business.
